

K. Burton Talks On Catholics In History

Katherine Burton, well-known Catholic biographer, will lecture at Barry College in the near future.

Mrs. Burton has not yet announced her topic but is expected to discuss early American history. It is on this subject, so familiar to her, that she is most stimulating.

Barry students will probably hear her emphasize the fact that this is, in its beginning, a Catholic country. The Catholic missions have as honorable a history as the New England meeting house, according to Mrs. Burton, whose aim is to arouse in Catholics more pride in their part in the national history.

This important writer was born and educated in Cleveland. A convert to the faith, she has contributed much to Catholic literature. Of her book two were Catholic Book of the Month selections and five have been Spiritual Book choices.

Mrs. Burton, women's columnist for the Sign, was Associate Editor of McCalls Magazine and Redbook for some years.

A few of her works: According to the Pattern, Celestial Homespun, His Dear Persuasion, Sorrow Built a Bridge, and Paradise Planters, can be found in the Barry College library. Examination of these books is suggested for a fuller appreciation of the lecture.

Student Council Formally Installed

Formal installation of the Student Council officers and members took place in Stella Matutina October 25.

Rosemarie Wilson, Student Council secretary, spoke on the history of the Student Council on campus. Doris Gleason, vice-chairman on the Council, explained the significance of the names of the various campus buildings and La Verne Murphy, Chairman, gave a pledge of loyalty to the student body on behalf of the council members.

The students were represented by Shirley Rees who pledged her support of the group and the Rev. Cyril Burke, speaking for the faculty, gave the promise of cooperation.

Pledge of office was taken by La Verne Murphy, Doris Gleason, Patricia Organ, Rosemarie Wilson, Lily Militello, Margaret Dunsmore, Jean Travnikar, Barbara Thompson, Therese Walton, Lucia Vallejo, Barbara Streckfus, Marianne Moesta, Anne Criado, and Rachael Warner.

Jean Travnikar Crowned Queen of the Campus

One of the biggest events on the Barry calendar took place Saturday night, October 26, when Jean Travnikar was crowned "Campus Queen." This is one of the highest honors bestowed on a student. The holder of the title represents outstanding achievements both socially and academically. The Campus Queen is elected on her qualifications of character, personality, activity and scholarship.

Doris Gleason, Lily Militello, George Cain Gussow, and Rachael Warner as members of the court, surrounded the Queen as she smilingly accepted the reign of the campus while several hundred students and guests stood by watching the colorful ceremony.

La Verne Murphy acted as tip-

Dean To Give Paper At NCWC Meeting

Sister M. Dorothy, O.P., will give a paper on "The Role of the Home in the Mental Development of Children" when the National Council of Catholic Women deanery meets in Coral Gables, November 12.

Rosemarie Wilson will represent the college as chairman of the committee on "Shrines in the Home."

Residence Halls Elect Chairmen

House Committees were elected in the various campus dormitories Wednesday night, October 2. In the Senior hall, Rosa Mystica, Barbara Streckfus received the office of chairman, and Margaret Monckton is vice-chairman. Shirley Rees, and Laurita Arango complete the house committee.

Marianne Moesta is chairman of Maris Stella and Claire McCullough is vice-chairman. Kathryn Koch and Geraldine Condon will serve on the committee. In Regina Pacis West, Anne Criado is chairman with Marjorie Loeffler and Mary Ellen DeDominicis as the other committee members.

In Stella Matutina the chairman are: Yvonne Hecke, Marilyn Convery, Rose Shubert, Audrey McCarthy, and Joan Coleman.

The chairmen of all the buildings, who compose the House Council, met Sunday morning, October 6, to elect a chairman, vice-chairman and secretary. These girls represent the House Council on the Student Council.

Barbara Streckfus was elected to the office of House Council chairman, and Marianne Moesta is vice-chairman. Anne Criado was elected secretary.

K. McGoldrick Leads Santa Rosa Club

New officers of the Santa Rosa Spanish club were elected last week. The results make Kitty McGoldrick the new president, Mary Dwyer, vice-president; and Lucille Vallejo, secretary-treasurer.

This organization presented a Columbus day program recently with Mr. Walter W. Walters, co-ordinator of Inter-American affairs, guest speaker.

Campus Queen

JEAN TRAVNIKAR

ress of ceremonies and introduced Carl Hoffman, Miami lawyer, the speaker of the evening

Following the program was a formal dance, with music provided by the University of Miami orchestra.

Sodality officers Claire McCullough, treasurer; Patricia Kelly, secretary; Rosemarie Wilson, vice-prefect; and La Verne Murphy, prefect, pause for a chat.

Sodality Completes Elections; Leaders Outline Activities

The first general meeting of Our Lady's Sodality resulted in the election of Patricia Kelly as secretary, and Claire McCullough as treasurer. La Verne Murphy was elected prefect, and Rose Marie Wilson, vice-prefect at the last meeting in May.

Ann Criado, who was present at the Summer School of Catholic Action in New York, and Rose Marie Wilson who represented Barry at the SSCA in Chicago, spoke on the various conferences they attended.

The Sodality committees met for the first time October 2, to hold elections and make plans for various activities for the year.

The officers of Our Lady's committee are Catherine Dreka, chairman, and Lucia Vallejo, vice-chairman. The first project of this committee is a Living Rosary sometime near the end of October.

The Catholic Truth committee elected Kitty McGoldrick as chairman and Marjorie Loeffler, as secretary. The members of this group are planning a hot dog sale, and a raffle for membership in the Catholic Book Club.

Jean Travnikar has been elected chairman of the Social Life committee for the fourth consecutive year. Jody Wisenberger is secretary of the group.

Phyllis Gray, Mary Ellen DeDominicis, and Adelia McInarney were elected chairmen, secretary, and treasurer respectively for the Mission committee.

The Eucharistic committee chose Carleen Pope, chairman, with Barbara Hannon, secretary.

Elaine Miller will head the Publicity committee which publicizes the activities of the various groups.

J. Athy, R. Warner Edit Torch and Shield

Announcement has been made of the appointment of Janet Athy and Rachael Warner as co-editors of the 1947 edition of the Torch and Shield, college yearbook.

They will be assisted by Rosemarie Wilson, business manager; Elaine Miller, advertising manager; and Eileen Meyers, associate editor.

The art editors will be Gwendolyn Volckening, and Janith Schaefer and the picture editors are Barbara Streckfus and Joan Weisenberger.

Assistant business managers are Phyllis Gray and Barbara McHugh and the advertising staff members are Joanne Kelly, Carlene Pope, Doris Gleason, Shirley Rees, Eleanor Soulliere, Colleen Gillon, Anna Kolias, and Corrine Herschling.

Tap 4 Seniors For Honors In Who's Who

Constant maintenance during their college career of scholastic ability, character, and participation in extra curricular activities proved worthwhile to four Barry seniors—for it was by reason of those achievements that they were tapped for inclusion in the new 1947 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Named by faculty vote, Doris Gleason, Lily Militello, Jean Travnikar, and Rose Marie Wilson are all high-ranking honor students. Each has served at one time on the student council.

For two years, Rose Marie, a biology major, lent her bookkeeping abilities to the year-book in the role of business manager, and headed the music club, the Tara Singers, as a junior. She was class secretary and vice-president during her sophomore and junior years. Her post-graduate plans include further degrees in clinical pathology.

Doris, an English major, is president of the senior class. She is on the "Angelicus" staff and works with the outside publicity committee. In the past she served as secretary of the Sodality for two years, and was vice-chairman of the house-council.

An up and coming scientist, Lily has carried a major in chemistry and minors in biology, mathematics, and German to keep her busy. At one time or another she has been class vice-president, prioress of the Dominican tertiaries, vice-president of the Albertus Magnus science club, secretary of a house committee, and chairman of Our Lady's committee. She plans to specialize in cancer research after graduation.

Jean will be Campus Queen of '47. She was Barry's first prom queen last year. An English major, she is completing minors in Latin, history, and philosophy. She is sub-prioress of the Dominican club and the "Angelicus" also consume her free time.

All four girls were pledged for National Catholic Honor Societies last May; Lily to Delta Epsilon Sigma, the others to Kappa Gamma Pi.

Formal presentation of certificates recognizing the inclusion of these four in the 1947 Who's Who was made by the Rev. Cyril W. Burke at an assembly October 25.

Four Graduates Enter Postulate

Four graduates of Barry are now postulants at the Dominican novitiate at Adrian. Three of these girls are former chairmen of the Teacher's club. They are Dollyanna Webster, '45, Lorraine Miller, '45, and Mary Russell, '46. Elizabeth Condon, '46, is the fourth member of this group.

Dollyanna was also an officer of her class the year she graduated and a member of Delta Epsilon Sigma, campus honor society.

Lorraine is a past Angelicus and Torch and Shield staff member.

Formal Dance Initiates New Social Ball

Mid palms and fresh flowers students tripped the light fantastic at the first formal dance of the year, October 26, in the new Stella Matutina social hall. The Social Life committee, under the direction of Jean Travnikar, was in charge of arrangements.

Committee heads include: Geraldine Mudd, refreshments; Margaret Dunsmore, program chairman; Jane Dexter, reception committee; and Rita Shryock, working through the art department, who headed the decoration committee.

A novel twist was the John Paul Jones and cut in "cap dance" which was responsible for the variety of partners.

Men from the University of Miami attended and music was provided by the University orchestra.

No wonder Lily Militello, Doris Gleason, Jean Travnikar and Rosemarie Wilson are so happy. They claim the distinction of membership in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Legion of Decency; AdvicetoBookworms

Indecency is like a disease that spreads itself in an ever widening circle. This indecency is first being contracted by the public from unclean novels. Novels which, because of their lewdness, become in the course of events best sellers. We cannot dispute the fact that best sellers are tremendously talked about—and through these discussions the circle of indecency is again increased.

No, they are not read, put aside, and forgotten. Wide-awake Hollywood sees the appeal of such books and grabs them. Immediately they go through the motions of cleaning and disinfecting these disease-ridden stories, so that they can convert them into "nice" motion pictures. A blackened book can hardly be made into a "nice" motion picture! Yet, the public, including Christians and Catholics, clamor for these pictures. The results are evident. Through the production of these motion pictures the circle of pollution is made larger, and many souls die from the disease.

Oh, yes, authors and producers are smart—they know obscenity will boost ticket sales. Why can't Catholics be just a little wiser than the authors and producers of such books? How? We must rigidly abide by our Legion of Decency, and promise to stay away from movies and avoid reading books which are morally corrupt. We can show them that the greater part of their public is much more amused by good, clean entertainment.

We are ethically obliged to read the Legion of Decency whenever we have the opportunity. No one of us is excused! Do we have any Barry girls who are the type to say, "I avoid reading the Legion of Decency for fear of finding a picture I wish to see on the objectionable list?"

Better Mousetrap Built; Soph's Trap Frosh "Rats"

Notice! There is no cause for alarm! Barry College has NOT been invaded by Mars, nor have the sisters of Lena the Hyena come up from Lower Slobbovia! You can once again unbolt your doors and let your children out to play for these creatures in surrealistic outfits are nothing more than the freshmen!

As is the custom at Barry, Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 14 and 15, were considered "rat" week. On these two days the sophomore "superior sisters" give the freshmen the disrespect that is their due.

This year the outfits consisted of: a blouse inside out and buttoned crookedly; a dirndl skirt upside down and inside out (which, by the way, resulted in many a raising of the eyebrow by the faculty when some of the "rats" attempted to sit down); pumps with a sock and papa's loudest garter on one foot; a hobo stick containing candy—of which the freshmen ate more than their "superior sisters"; and the finishing touch was a dunce cap placed on a head of wild pigtailed and straggly hair.

The freshmen were subject to whatever a sophomore wished them to do. If you're dying for a touch of Nelson Eddy, Dolores Volckening can supply you. If you've never heard "I've been workin' on the railroad" in 128 different tempos at once, the freshmen showed their talent as a whole at 8:00 a.m. both Monday and Tuesday. If you'd like to hear the first 20 lines of "The Canterbury Tales" you'd better ask a sophomore—the freshmen couldn't tell you!

Tuesday night was the climax when "rat court" was held. For here the freshmen paid for any misbehaviors.

It's over now and the "rats" are back to their lipstick, loafers, and comfortable living. It was all in fun and everyone proved to be a good sport. The freshmen, no longer green, resume their studies with kindest affection in their hearts for the sophomores who so sweetly condescended to "break them in."

Kampus Kapers

... Before we go any further, does anyone know of a certain freshman, who has been on the search for so long both inside and out of Stella Matutina, has found "Chloe" yet?

... If a definite decline in pep and ambition in the girls has been noticed, it can be attributed to those strenuous phys ed classes—like nothing Barry has seen yet!

... In spite of this, though, some people are still worrying about an addition of pounds in some form or other before Christmas. Marianne Moesta is afraid her dog will be so fat when she gets home that he won't be able to get off the floor to greet her, while Barbara Thompson is afraid she won't be able to stoop over to say hello to her dog!

... A distinguishing mark for the freshman (now that initiation is over, that is) is their tans—time was when we were young and gay and had little to do but lie in the sun.

... Attention, Eileen Meyers! For a perfect (and somewhat confusing) description of your white tennis dress, see any member of the 9:05 Logic class—or Father Burke!

... Columbus wasn't the only one who discovered something on October 12! On that day, 1946, residents of Stella Matutina "discovered" hot water for the first time since they passed through the portals—just think, no more trips to the bath house in the middle of the night to take a hot shower.

Freshman Reverie

Silence reigned—the great, still, moments while a thankful humanity praised the All-powerful Majesty pierced every inch of the exquisite abode of the Most High—and then it began. Softly at first, ever so sweetly, the exquisite combination of organ tones and young voices blended in triumphal adoration. It seemed then, through the sublime service taking place at the altar and the awe-inspiring music that was its perfect co-ordinator—that every person present could actually feel for himself the presence of the Supreme Being who is God.

Such was my opinion as I, a freshman, attended the magnificent Mass of the Holy Ghost and the Forty Hours devotion services. Music has been known to lift man to a higher level of reason—it is this fact that has brought about the extensive use of music in one Church.

Barry Collegians are a shining example

... What Atlas is to the males, Howard Johnson is to the Barry female—but we're still waiting for that brandied coffee.

... Freshman definition of Sister Agnes Cecile—"the one who always says 'God bless you, dear!'"

... When Father Burke went up to Detroit for Dody Motschall's wedding, a small Barry reunion took place. Among those he saw were Shirley Wagner, Mary Ann Brennan, and newlyweds Florence and Stan Patton. From there he went to Adrian where he saw Mother Gerald, Sister Gonzaga, and some of the ex-Barry students who are now postulants.

... Our hats go off to the freshman who contributed a check for five dollars to Sister Marie for the Missions because "I knew I'd only spend it right away if I cashed it!"

If the mailman has looked overburdened with letters and you're still wondering why no mail is in your box it could be that Miss Matutina has been receiving much correspondence of late. Poor Stella was swamped with the RSVP's to her dance invitation.

We think the interpretation of the United Nations Organization by Father Burke's political science class was as good a pictorial representation as could be made. Next time you get confused just think of those white, green and red streamers and you can't go wrong on which sub-committees work with which committee.

Thimble Theatre

VIRGINIA and MARTHA WASHINGTON bring a touch of tradition to the Barry campus this year, as direct descendants of George Washington.

Living in historic Morristown, N. J., where Washington stayed, their family tree blooms large and famously out of the revolutionary period.

Gracious and unassuming, "Ginny" and "Mart" are studying business at Barry.

BROWN and bright-eyed ZAIDA ZAMORA holds three intermediate swimming titles in her native Cuba.

Learning to swim when she was five, Zaida took to the water almost immediately, and before long was winning her way into Havana Country Club meets.

Speaking mostly Spanish, Zaida admits that she loves dancing, and her favorite dish is "cheeken."

THE mermaid in miniature, DOROTHY COLLINS started swimming in her native Des Moines, Iowa, at the age of five.

Winning first place in Iowa Country Club meets from the time she was five until a few years ago, Dot placed second in the Junior National free style race in Minneapolis last year.

She holds diving, breast stroke, back stroke, relay racing, and numerous other awards, all of which destines her for a big future in the aquatic world.

BEARING a striking resemblance to the late Jean Harlow, Chicago's talented JANE SULLIVAN comes to the Barry campus this year to distinguish herself as a definite personality.

An excellent pianist, and star tap-dancer for Chicago's annual South Shore Follies, we suspect that Jane has a secret yen to move in on a Messrs. Lee and Shubert musical comedy one of these days.

RUTH BRAUN, who is currently causing a sensation at Barry with her renditions of "Chloe" and "Siboney," explains that all her life she's been causing sensations.

Living under the somewhat unique arrangement of wintering in New York and summering in Florida, Ruth has grown up with parents who have wholeheartedly encouraged dramatic self-expression.

Petite, quick-witted, and vivacious, she plans to study dramatic arts at Fordham University next summer.

AQUABELLE PAT GRAY started swimming and diving when she was five.

Originally from Massachusetts, now of Hollywood, Florida, Pat won her first medal at the age of six, went right on winning them until 1941 when she calmly settled back and retired.

Blonde, freckled, and typically the outdoor girl, she has a passion for ice cream and hot dogs.

ALTHOUGH NEW TO BARRY, Ann Marie MacVeay will soon hold a definite place among the freshman personalities.

High school educated in Havana with the Mothers of the Sacred Heart, Anne Marie speaks Spanish and French fluently. Though she now lives in Coral Gables with her parents, she admits that her heart is in Cuba.

Possessing a lovely singing voice, Anne's Spanish ditties self-accompanied with a guitar never fail to delight Stella Matutina residents nightly.

Upper Classmen Elect Officers

The Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes met Friday, October 4, at the assembly period to elect the secretaries, treasurers, and social chairmen for the year. Presidents and vice-presidents of the classes were elected last May.

The Senior president is Doris Gleason, and Lily Militello is vice-president. Elected Friday were Phyllis Gray, secretary; Shirley Rees, treasurer; and Janet Athy, social chairman. The Seniors planned a beach party for Saturday, October 12, as their first social activity. Each member of the class invited her "little sister" to be a guest at the picnic.

Patricia Organ is president of the Junior class and Barbara Thompson is vice-president. The newly-elected Junior officers are Mary Lou Petersen, secretary, Barbara Lane, treasurer, and Jane Dexter, social chairman. The Juniors selected a class picnic at the beach for Saturday, October 12, as their first activity.

In the Sophomore class, Therese Walton is president, and Lucia Vallejo fills the office of vice-president. The other class officers are Joan Kuntz, secretary; Marilyn Rees, treasurer; and Jeanne Munger, social chairman.

Five Departments Add New Faculty

Due to the increase in the number of students at Barry, there have been several additions to the faculty this year.

Sister Marie Grace, vice-president of the college and instructor in mathematics, was formerly at Siena Heights college in Adrian, Michigan, where she was also a member of the mathematics department.

From St. Ambrose high school in Detroit, where she was principal for six years, comes Sister Mary Ann as registrar and instructor in education. Sister Grace Alexis, treasurer of the college and instructor in secretarial science, spent the last six years as principal of Holy Name school in Detroit.

To the speech department comes Sister Mary Trinita, who formerly taught dramatics at Siena Heights college. Miss Margaret Husson, instructor in physical education from Rochester, New York, last taught at the Summit School in Cleveland, Ohio.

Already the old students miss the three members of the faculty who have been transferred this year. Sister M. Gonzaga, formerly vice-president, is now in Adrian, Michigan.

Sister M. de Lellis, who had been Dean at Barry since its opening, is principal at Mount St. Mary's Academy in St. Charles, Illinois. Aquinas High in Chicago claimed Sister Francis Clare who was treasurer of the college and instructor in secretarial science.

Freshmen Take First Place In Intramural Swimming Meet

The "sports year" at Barry has opened and as in former years, no time has been wasted in initiating the pool. Any night after school will find it—and the space thereabouts—well-filled with swimming enthusiasts and sun-worshippers.

The first intramural swimming meet of the year was held Wednesday, October 16, at Penafort Pool. The winners of the respective contests were: Audrey McCarthy, free style crawl; Dorothy Collins, backstroke; Janet McDevitt, breast stroke; Janith Shaefer, endurance; Jane Dexter, form; and Anita Hackett, sidestroke. The sophomores took first place in the free style relay while the freshmen placed second. The balloon relay was won by the freshmen with the sophomores in second place. The frosh again came out on top in the diving contest with 67 points, and the seniors came in second with 50 points.

Miss Margaret Husson, Barry's new physical education instructor, reports that intramural volleyball practice has begun. Each class has been assigned a night for practice so all those who are interested and will be at practice every week are urged to join a team. Games between the classes began with a victory for the juniors at the junior-senior game October 8.

The tennis courts are another of the places that are seldom emptied—either by the prospective members of the tennis team or the gals who are trying to lose weight the hard way. The tennis team for the year is expected to form and elect its officers sometime in November.

The Tatler

Bugs Bunny would say, "Another day, another carrot," and he's got the right slant on things as this, the first copy of the Angelicus goes to press this year. 'Cause here it's time to mention briefly the social doings at Barry and there's a correction left over from last year. Ready?

Just found out from Marj Ann Ripton that when Pat O'Keefe pulled the dog out of the pool last year she assisted with the posterior and never received any credit. Do hope this makes up for it, Rip.

Now that that's taken care of it seems fitting to mention Mary Jane Matthews' engagement to Alex Beach of Long Island and the stunning square cut diamond that goes with it.

Already the parties have begun. For instance, Big 'n' little sisters who dined at the Columbus are Janny Frawley, Chilly Gray, Martha and Virginia Washington, Janet Athy, Kitty McGolderick, Terry Walton and Carlee Pope.

At Red Coach Inn another party was given for Carol Sheffer. The diners were: Margene Johnson, Rose Schubert, Helen McKee, Mary Lou Schoolneester and Marilyn Tadrowski.

Helping Colleen Gillen have a most exciting birthday dinner at Park Ave. were Dee Gleason, Connie Herschling, Mrs. Herschling, Jean Travnikar, Mary Lou Petersen, Eleanor Soulliere and Pat Organ.

If you were at the Juniors' or Seniors' beach parties you probably watched the water skiers avidly. Did you know it could have been Joyce Nolan and Ann Lea Lautner? It wasn't but that's supposed to be a tricky way of informing you that they do go every Saturday.

The explanation offered by Jo Laven and Gerry Mudd for the vermilion faces was that Carmen Senghaas took them fishing in the Everglades. Sounds like a pretty good way to get a tan but let's not overdo it.

Jane Dexter and Bobbie Lane had a fine time at Rollins Homecoming weekend and the same goes for Penny Thomas and Rita Keough, only they went to the University of Florida's.

Anne Criado, got the kind of surprise Barry girls dream about a couple of weeks ago. Her mother came down for a short visit. But if this can't be arranged Marilyn Rees has another excellent gloomchaser that drops in whenever his subchaser docks in Miami. (Get it?)

Back on campus after a summer wedding is Georgia Cain Gussow. She and her husband, Phil, are living on the Beach. Father Menster, Opa Locka chaplain, was guest of honor at a little get together in Rosa Mystica last week. Cup cakes, ice cream and his terrific guitar made a complete evening of mirth and merriment for all who attended.

"Our hearts were young and gay" a week ago Friday for sure when, attired in kiddy costumes, we met on Penafort Patio to relive our youth.

Jean Pastor didn't catch any fish in the pool but she brought her rod just in case they were biting and Peggy Rousseau spent all of her time playing the studious lad.

The picture of Barry as it might have appeared 50 years ago had it been in existence was vividly portrayed by Rosie Naef, Dot Wood, Janny Frawley, Gerry Condon, Marianne Moesta, Cathy Duane and Bernadine Sersen.

The sensation of the evening was the arrival of "baby" Mary Ann Ripton being pushed in on a dining room cart by her duenna, Barbara Thompson.

And with all the snooping that's been done this is as much as could be discovered. It sure would help matters immensely if you'd make your business our business, otherwise there'll be tattle tales about YOU!

Mme. Trivette, Harpsichordist, To Give Concert

The fine harpsichord music which long ago was enjoyed only in the palaces of kings and emperors will be brought to Barry Nov. 6 through the art of Madame Landelle Trivette.

A thoroughly accomplished musician, Mme. Trivette has been acclaimed at recitals all over the states for her rendition of 17th and 18th century music on her Playel harpsichord. The quaint and lovely melodies drawn from this unusual instrument require delicate handling in which she has proved herself an artist.

Her program will consist of compositions from the 16th to 18th centuries. Included in the first part will be "Ave Maria," by Arcadelt (1514); "Recerada," by Ortiz (1524); "Gavotte," and "Tambourin," by Rameau (1683).

The second section of the program will begin with two selections from Handel's works. "Air and Variations in E Major," and "Adagio and Allegro." Also in this part will be "Prelude in G," and "Prelude in F," by J. S. Bach and C. P. E. Bach respectively.

The recital will be concluded with four compositions by Mozart. "Air and Variations in F Minor," "Rondo from Sonata in F Major," "Allegro from Sonata in C Major," and "Turkish Rondo from Sonata."

Madame Trivette will do her recital in costume appropriate to the time when this music and her instrument were in fashion in France.

Athletic Association Asks Participation In Sport Activities

The Athletic Association had charge of the general assembly held in Stella Matutina, Wednesday, October 9. Margaret Dunsmore, president, encouraged the members of each class to participate in all sports.

A short skit was given in which girls representing different sports paraded before the assembly. Janith Schaefer represented softball; Grace Schaefer, volley ball; Gwen Volckening, basketball; Meri Turrentine, riding; Joan Kuntz, swimming; Barbara Hannon, archery; and Laurita Arango, golf, with Barbara Streckfus acting as caddy.

Following the program, Miss Margaret Husson, new physical education instructor, was introduced. Miss Husson addressed the group and asked for student cooperation in all athletic activities of the year.

Students elected to office in the Athletic Association were: Joan Weed, secretary; Janet McDevitt, treasurer.

Dean, Registrar Attend Institute

Sister M. Dorothy, O.P., and Sister Mary Ann, O.P., have just returned from a trip to Mobile where they attended the Teacher's Institute for Catholic Teachers in the Southend of Mobile. Sister M. Jerome, O.P. of Siena Heights College, Adrian, spoke on "Economics and Literature of the Southland." Rt. Rev. Leo Byrnes, Superintendent of Schools in the Mobile diocese, was chairman of the Institute.

Sister M. Dorothy and Sister Mary Ann are superintendents of the two new grammar schools just opened in Florida, Sacred Heart School in Pensacola and St. Mary's School in Fort Walton.

Student Council Holds Meeting

The Student Council held its first meeting, Monday, October 7, with Laverne Murphy, Sodality prefect, presiding as chairman.

Laverne introduced the officers and members of the Council. Doris Gleason, as president of the Senior class, will serve as first vice-chairman, and Patricia Organ, Junior class president, is second vice-chairman. Rose Marie Wilson, Sodality vice-prefect, will act as secretary of the Council.

Miss Lucia Vallejo was appointed editor of the Council Bulletin, monthly publication of the Council. Sister M. Dorothy, O.P., spoke to the members commending their spirit and expressing her best wishes for a successful year.

'How Green Was Our Campus'

The 1950 graduating class will be the largest in the history of Barry if this year's enrollment of freshmen, numbering 128, is an indication. These girls come from 25 different states, which is also a new record.

Jeannine Balbi comes all the way from France; this is the first time her country has been represented at Barry. From Cuba comes Zaida Zamora and Georgine Rodriguez.

In the United States the members of this class come from all parts. Florida has the largest count with 49 girls. Illinois runs second with 20 girls.

Other states represented are: New York, seven; Georgia, Alabama, New Jersey, Kentucky, each four; Michigan, Indiana, Massachusetts, Washington, D. C., and Ohio, three; Iowa, Tennessee, South Carolina Missouri and Maryland, two; and one each from Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina, California, West Virginia, Rhode Island, and Maine.

Inter-Americanism Columbus Day Assembly Theme

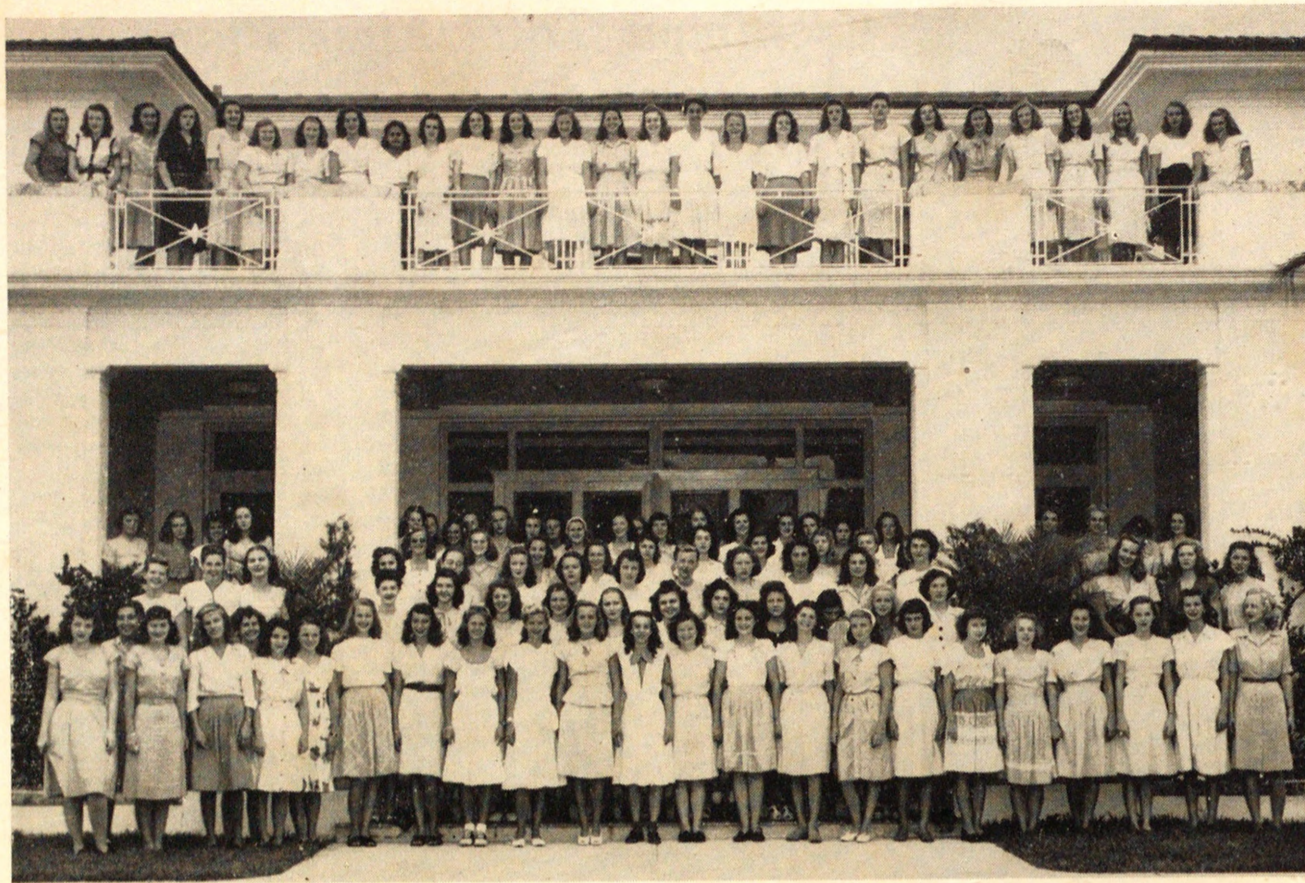

"Inter-Americanism" was the subject of a talk given by Walter Walters, guest speaker at the Columbus Day program, October 11. Mr. Walters, coordinator of Inter-American Affairs in Miami, stressed what "the United States" is doing in Latin America from an educational point of view.

He discussed primarily the necessity of inter-education as a peace-preserver and stated that the best ambassadors of good will are those South Americans educated in the United States. The governments of both Americas have appropriated money for the exchange of teachers and students and provided for the translation of books, said Mr. Walters.

Mary Lou Lomaistro gave a paper entitled "Columbus, the Man." "Columbus and Santa Domingo" was the title of a paper by Mary Dwyer.

The Cuban National Anthem and "Mi Bohio" were sung by Margot Colon, Alma Ramirez, Lucia Vallejo, Ella Pintado, Zaida Zamora, Gisela Posado, Nilda Colorado, Margarita Monrouzeau, Norma Lynch, and Georgiana Rodriguez, accompanied on the piano by Paula Sais.

Dressed in colorful costume and large sombrero, Zaida Zamora performed the Mexican Hat Dance. The program closed with the singing of "America Immortal" by members of the Spanish club.

Stella Matutina forms the background for the largest freshman class in school history.

Alumnae News

We live in a swift age, in fact, so swift that it's hard to realize that another summer has slipped by and we're just catching up on the doings of all who are now absent from these "hallowed" halls. Speaking of halls, that's just where we saw Bea Sevier Oglesby the other day. She was carrying her daughter, Corrine, past several crowded classrooms and needless to say the chemistry lab had a profound effect on her. Ruth Waters Barbick (who, by the way, is living at 1060 N. W. 65th st.) brought Lord Barry along to look the situation over. Lord Barry, her puppy, that is.

Colleen Breslin is boasting of her Beth and Susan, and in between time, she is teaching in Toledo two evenings a week. Joann Fehrenbacher is doing well in her job as lab technician in Joliet. Sister Mary Irene (Joan Diesling), is now teaching grade school at St. Patrick's in Joliet.

By now, Betty Condon, Lorraine Miller, Dollyanna Webster and Mary Russell are learning to love Adrian much the same as Sister M. Irene did when she first entered the Dominican Order in 1945.

There is much dietetics talent in St. Louis now that Pat Downey is at St. Mary's Hospital and Gerry Kunz at Fermin Desloge Hospital.

It would be a journalistic triumph could we here relate the events that occurred during Pat O'Keefe's and Anne Park's trip to Mexico. They loved every minute of it—bull fights, music, movies, etc., although they say they couldn't understand a word that was spoken in Spanish.

Eula Ellis sends word that she enjoys her job as stewardess for Eastern Air Lines immensely. Jody Weisenberger was in Alice Lehman's bridal party August 31 in Cincinnati. Alice married Albert Gilday and is now residing in Cincinnati. Margarite Bransfield is doing social work in Chicago.

Virginia Breit's engagement was disclosed at a tea in her Evanston home. She will be married to Walter Stephen Cisco November 12. Florence (Jinx) McCarthy will be married to Daniel Francis Curly, Jr., Saturday, October 26, in Chicago.

Audrey Hull, who is teaching speech at Miami High, and Fran Collier, who is on her way back to Washington to resume work with the FBI, were back to help those of us who are comparatively new at the system, of welcoming Barry freshmen. How many years does that make it now?

And in the Miami vicinity, Pat Kelly has been promoted to the position of private secretary to the president of the bank in which she works, Betty McBride is working for Catholic Charities, and Helen Perez is working for National Air Lines. Helen's sister, Mary Jean, is also working in Miami. Mary Jane Ward is doing substitute teaching in West Palm Beach. Her sister, Jackie, has recently become engaged. Wedding bells rang out at St. Peter and Paul's on October 5th for Peggy McGhan and Eugene Sullivan. Best wishes always, Peggy!

Florence Hodde married Stanley Patton September 7 at St. Martin's Church in Detroit. Shirley Rees was in the bridal party and upon inquiry, she told us that Florence was only "three minutes late" for the wedding. Many Detroiters attended the lovely wedding, and happy as we are for her, we will miss Florence's voice in this year's Oratorio.

Detroiters Justine Olson and Barbara Stickney are attending the University of Michigan this year, studying Dental Hygiene. Marilyn Bursick is now the secretary to Mr. Thomas Boyd, Ford Auto Sales Dealer in Grosse Pointe. Dorothy Motschall was married October 12, to Justine Grout's brother, Gerard. Although the announcement is a bit delayed, we have just heard that Justine was married to Robert McWilliams in June.

From Chicago comes news of the approaching marriage of Katherine Gallagher to Robert Doyle. They will be married on November 23. Justine Olson will be a bridesmaid.

And that covers the "ex-student" situation to date. Back again next month with more of the most important happenings of our alumnae.

Mme. Trivette to Give Master Course in Keyboard Music

Much interest is being centered around the harpsichord in the music hall to be played in a costume recital Nov. 6 by the nationally known musician, Mme. Landalle Trivette.

Mme. Trivette, who writes many of her own compositions, will appear on the first program with the Barry Little Symphony December 2, and will teach a master course in keyboard music from October 29, to November 16.

Mme. Trivette's harpsichord is an authentic Pleyel of rosewood inlaid with sandalwood. It is eight feet in length with two manuals and six pedals, which give great variety of dynamics and timbre. The principle of its action is that of strings plucked by a most ingeniously arranged plectrum or finger of leather. The result is a rarely beautiful shimmering quality of tone.

This rare instrument first delighted the nobility of the French court 200 years ago and was acquired by Louis Richard at the Society of Ancient Instruments in Paris. During the first world war the Richards' chateau was turned into a refugee hospital for the wounded and the family was so shaken by the war that they returned to America with the harpsichord. Shortly afterward Mr. Richard became ill and sold the beautiful treasure to Mme. Trivette, who had been his favorite pupil at Ann Arbor, Michigan. The duplicate belonged to George Washington and is now in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

Mme. Trivette was born into a musically and artistically talented family in Cincinnati, Ohio. Her mother won recognition for her murals and wood-carvings at the Chicago World's Fair and the Atlanta Exposition.

Musical training in the Trivette family began at an early age. Because of her unusual talent Madame Trivette was the only child pupil of Albino Corno, head of the Cincinnati College of Music.

The harpsichordist was later married to the late Julius Leon Parke, pro-

Doris Hart Forest Hills Runner-Up

American newspaper readers have been following the activities of Doris Hart, Pauline Betz, Louise Brough, Pat Todd and Margaret Osborne, with a great deal of interest since May 8, 1946. On this day they boarded the clipper for London, England, in order to represent the United States in the Wightman Cup Matches at Wimbledon.

Doris spent six weeks at the Dorchester Hotel in London and on May 14, 15 and 16 the matches were played. The United States team took all seven matches, Doris and Pauline winning the women's doubles. They later played doubles in the English Championships and got as far as the quarter finals.

Doris says she enjoyed the stay in England, especially the presentation to Queen Mary (and the four curtsies involved), dinner with the American Ambassador, and meeting Prime Minister Atlee and his wife.

From England, Doris flew to Dublin and during the Irish Championships reached the singles finals. She and Louise Brough topped all participants in doubles and mixed doubles. In Ireland she met the President of that country.

Arriving in Paris, she stayed at the famous Lancaster Hotel. During the French Championships, she and Pauline Betz lost in the doubles finals. She visited the Versailles Palace, Eifel Tower, the Arch de Triomphe and other French landmarks.

Upon returning to the United States, Doris played in the National Doubles in Boston where she and Pauline Betz lost in the semi-finals to Mary Arnold and Pat Todd. Two weeks later Doris upset the tennis world by beating top seeded players and landing in the finals of the Forest Hills National Singles Tournament. She lost to Pauline Betz only after an 11-9 and 6-3 set. This was one of the most exciting matches of the season because of the power, form and experience of both players. The outcome should place Doris as one of the nation's top-ranking tennis stars for this coming year.

fessor of architecture and cello at the University of Michigan. At the death of her husband, Mrs. Parke, who plays under the professional name of Landalle Trivette, went to Detroit to settle and rear her three children.

In Detroit she was one of the founders of the Detroit Institute of Musical Art, and the Detroit Symphony. Since that time she has given performances in leading colleges, museums, and institutes of this country. Press notices have acclaimed her astonishing technique and understanding of the distinctive beauty of the old music reminiscent of yesteryears.

During many of her concerts, Mme. Trivette wears the same costume that one of her ancestors wore at the Inaugural ball of George Washington.

Owner of many rare antiques, a prized possession is a viola de gamba which belonged to her husband and came from the family of Mozart 200 years ago. When asked if she would sell her harpsichord, Mme. Trivette says it is worth thousands but she would not take a million for it.
