BARRY CHAPLAIN RECEIVES DEGREE

"Because of the cultural work of Reverend Father Cyril Burke of the Order of Saint Dominic, who is recognized for his outstanding accomplishments in the field of education to which he has dedicated a great part of his life, and because of his contribution to the educational relationship between the United States of America and the Dominican Republic, that he, the Reverend Father Cyril Burke, be named because of this present testimony to the Honorary Professor Chair of the faculty of Philosophy of the University of Santo Domingo Capital of the Dominican Republic the 20th day of February, 1949, 410 years from the foundation of the University of Santo Domingo."

These words are a translation from the Spanish of a document officially making the chaplain of Barry College an honorary Doctor of Philosophy.

In an Assembly held in Stella Matutina hall Tuesday morning, Mar. 1, Father Burke was welcomed back from Santo Domingo by faculty and students. Addressing the group, Father thanked them for their felicitations, but disclaimed his newly-acquired degree as a personal honor. He stated that he was only a spokesman and representative of the Adrian Dominican Sisters, who have done such outstanding work as educators in the Dominican Republic.

"I am happy to be the recipient of such an honor in order to carry on the Dominican tradition in Santo Domingo," Father Burke stated. The University was founded 410 years ago by the Order of Preachers and named in honor of St. Thomas Aquinas.

Fr. McGlynn Speaks On 'Fatima Facts'

The story of Our Lady of Fatima came alive for Barryites on Mar. 7 as the Rev. Thomas McGlynn, O.P., told of his recent visit to Fatima, Portugal.

His lecture, "Fatima and the World", was part of Barry's observance of St. Thomas Aquinas' feast day.

In the morning students in cap and gown attended the High Mass offered in Cor Jesu Chapel in honor of the great philosopher saint.

Father McGlynn, noted writer and sculptor, told of his conversation with Sister Lucy, one of the three children who had witnessed the vision of Our Lady in 1917.

There at Fatima our Blessed Mother appeared numerous times to the children Lucy, Francisco and Jacinta, and through them proclaimed several requests: the recitation of the Rosary, the return of men to a life of grace, repentance for sin, reparation for sinners, and reverence for the Immaculate Heart of Mary. The Blessed Virgin then promised that if these requests were fulfilled, she would convert Russia.

Father McGlynn was directed in the sculpturing of a statue of our Lady of Fatima by a description of the apparition as given by Lucy.

Father McGlynn's new book, "Visions of Fatima" is based on the information supplied by Lucy, who is now in a Carmelite cloister in Spain.

Journalism students pause between conferences at News Institute.

STUDENTS VISIT NEWS INSTITUTE

By ELSIE HANSEN, '52

Fourteen journalism students from Barry College attended The Miami Herald's third annual News Institute at the University of Miami on Mar. 4.

Hal Boyle, noted columnist was the principal speaker at the luncheon held in the new Student Club. He was introduced by the managing editor of The Miami Herald, Lee Hills.

A feature of the morning's program at the Beaumont Lecture Hall was a chalk talk by Dale Messick, creator of the comic strip, "Brenda Starr." She spoke about art and cartooning or "How I Did It."

Other personalities well-known in the journalistic field also contributed to the program. Arthur Griffith, chief editorial writer, was the moderator of a round table discussion. The panel was composed of students and two members of The Herald staff: Paula Clark, Sunday editor, and George Beebe, staff writer.

Lester R. Barnhill, promotion manager, welcomed the students to the institute and gave a general report about today's newspaper; staff writer, Lawrence Thompson, spoke on reporting; Timothy J. Sullivan summarized the new production methods developed on metropolitan newspapers during the past year; John T. Bills, WQAM news editor, explained radio-newspaper cooperation; and managing Editor Lee Hills, the opportunities and demands of reportorial personnel on today's newspaper.

More than 250 high school, college, and university students from throughout Florida were present at the News Institute.

Torch and Shield Sponsors Dances

While brilliant streamers of red, blue, green and white swirled about the dancers, red tinted lights cast a soft glow on the Confetti Hop. The dance, an informal one sponsored by the TORCH AND SHIELD, was held in the Rotunda, Feb. 25. A colorful juke box supplied the music, playing first today's most popular American favorites. Punch and cookies were served on the porch. The very informality of the dance created an atmosphere of sociability between the students and their guests that was outstandingly noticeable.

After this success, the staff of the TORCH AND SHIELD will hold another dance on Saint Patrick's Day, Mar. 17, in the lounge in Stella Matutina. Green will of course be the predominant color in decorations with shamrocks supplying the traditional Irish touch. The dance lasting from 8 to 12, will be held to raise funds to publish the annual.

During the evening the Queen of Barry College and the King of the University of Miami will be announced.

Following the coronation, refreshments will be served on the patio.

Faculty Presents New Honor Society

Lambda Sigma, the new campus honor society, was formally presented to the student body at Faculty Convocation Feb. 28, in the social hall. This society lists as its members those who have manifested leadership both academically and socially.

The new pledges are: seniors, Mary Jane Mills, Vivian Decker, Patricia Young, Betty Joan Saunders, Collette Currier, Emilia Arnoldson and Jacqueline Quinn; juniors, Virginia Johnson, Velma Bodee, Caroline Lewis, Molly Lorms, and Eva Marie Mitchell; sophomores, Rolande Gonthier, Angela Clark, Betty Kerby, Mary Ann Cannon, Stephanie Swinuch, Mary Alice Droze, Shirley Jean Wright, Louise Friedheim, and Nancy Cassin; freshmen, Patricia Heldman, Isabelle Williams, Shirley Dettling, Joan Cantrell, Evelyn Fidele, Dorothy Hoff, Margaret Conlon and Barbara Gavin.

This is the first time that Convocation has been held at the end of the first semester. The faculty hopes that this plan will encourage students to better themselves, that they may be named at the Convocation, June 1.

The entire student body was present, attired in caps and gowns. Sister Mary Dorothy, O.P., Dean, presented awards and recommendations.

Barryites Honor Mother Gerald

"Happy Feast Day" was the wish of every Barry College student and faculty member on March 13. This congratulation was meant for the Mother General of the Dominican Sisters of Adrian, Michigan, who is also president of Barry College. In honor of Mother's feast students attended Mass in academic cap and gown. A spiritual bouquet was presented to her on behalf of the Barry girls.

Sodality Promotes Two Main Projects

An interesting Vocation Week and a drive for correspondents to foreign students are two of the Sodality projects for the month of March.

People from different walks of life talked to the girls during the week of March 7-11. Sister Carmelia, O.P., represented the teaching profession and Mrs. E. King spoke on social work. These and other authorities in various fields tried in their splendid lectures to help the girls in their choice of a vocation.

All students of foreign languages and those interested in world affairs are being urged to join the correspondence club. This project is sponsored by the Student Relief Campaign in an effort to portray American life in its true light.

Honor Societies Name Five Members

Kappa Gamma Pi and Delta Epsilon Sigma, the two campus honor societies recently named new members and pledges. The new members of Kappa Gamma Pi are Vivian Decker and Mary Jane Mills and Caroline Lewis was pledged.

Delta Epsilon Sigma announced their new members as: Colette Currier, Betty Joan Saunders, and Patricia Young. Eva Mitchell and Velma Bodee were pledged.

These girls were chosen on the basis of cooperation, scholarship, leadership, dependability and other worthwhile qualities. The formal induction will occur in May.

The two societies have been working together and their current project is publicizing worthwhile movies. Their joint meeting will take place March 20. Mrs. Arthur True, Jr. will preside.

Three southern belles are these officers of the Deep South Club, Barry's newest campus group.

MIAMI NEEDS SOCIAL WORKERS

By JOANNE OLLMANN, '52

Mary Doherty Tafel, senior sociology major, is doing her field work at the Catholic Charities in downtown Miami. She is the only sociology major from her class, and is the first from Barry to be given this opportunity.

The set-up at the Catholic Charities in Miami is a little different from the bureaus in Chicago or New York. In the latter places there are large offices in buildings owned by the organization. The staff is large, and though there is never enough money to take care of all, it is at least almost sufficient. In Miami quite the opposite is true. The Catholic Charities has been in existence only since 1940. At first there was only one case worker in the entire agency. There are now four. The number of poor has increased by the thousands, and because of the lack of sufficient help, it is sometimes necessary for the office workers to do case work.

Another drawback for the agency is the tourists. They come here for the winter months and naturally have no feeling of "belongingness". Therefore, while the work of the agency is doubled, the incoming contributions remain the same.

The Catholic Charities receives most of its money from the Community Chest. The latter organization rents the buildings from the city and in turn the Catholic Charities rents from the Community Chest. This is practically the only help offered.

This one small agency is supposed to cover only Dade county, but due to the constant pleas of the needy people, it has had to extend its resources to West Palm Beach. It spends more money on relief than any other agency in the city.

There is only one temporary home for dependent children in Miami. This is conducted by the St. Joseph Sisters and has facilities for only thirty children. As can be seen, this makes hardly a dent in the thousands of homeless boys and girls. Although it is supposed to be only a temporary home, there are some children who have been there for two years because of lack of foster parents.

There's a great field for service right here close to Barry College. With the fine training that the college gives for social workers, there is no reason why some of our graduates cannot "fill the gaps" in the Catholic Charities bureau in Miami. Here's Catholic Action crying to be done!

Wakeup Little Lady Before It's Too Late!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Several things have come up in the past, and are still pending, which are a source of embarrassment to both the faculty and students.

Girls have signed up for different activities such as tennis, golf and horseback riding and have neglected to fulfill their promises. This is extremely inconsiderate and it causes a waste of money.

Another thing which has been occurring too frequently is breaking dates. This is definitely lack of common courtesy to the boy left waiting, and a difficult situation for the Sister on duty.

If an appointment is made with a doctor or dentist there is never an excuse for just not appearing. Naturally, at times, something unexpected occurs. A call in advance will keep you in good standing and also give the doctor a chance to make the necessary adjustments.

These are common points of courtesy, and because they have been abused so frequently of late both we and our college are "earning" a poor reputation.

Sincerely,
Joanne Ollman, '52.

March 1, 1949

Dear Editor:

What happened to "Kampus Kapers" last month? I think it a good idea to have either column, "Kampus Kapers" or "The Tatler," but I prefer "Kampus Kapers".

Also I would like to suggest a new feature. Why don't you have the college chaplain have a column? It would be nice to have him write in the ANGELICUS.

These are just a few suggestions and I know many more will be coming in from other sources. It is not that I feel that I want a radical change, but as you are asking for new ideas from the student body, and I know that you will be getting a collection, I send you these two with my compliments on a wonderful paper.

Sincerely yours,
Norma Nevaes, '49

Dear Editor:

Congratulations on news coverage in the ANGELICUS. The paper gets better each time.

Could I make a suggestion, however. Most college publications, I notice, have some sort of column devoted to questions put to students around campus by some interviewer. The interviewer gets opinions on everything, from fashions to politics. Usually the snapshots of those interviewed accompany the article. How about something on this order in a later edition?

Sincerely,
Eva Mitchell, '50

CONNIE CHECKS RESOLUTIONS

Dear Mother:

My desk calendar is beginning to look like a tic-tac-toe game since I've been marking off the days left till Easter Vavation. It's fun just thinking about coming home again.

Thanks for the memo about Lent in your last letter. So far your Connie has been an angel (well almost!) It hasn't seemed so hard to "rise and shine" for 6:15 Mass the first week of Lent, but lately, especially this morning, oh, did the prospect of giving up a snug bed seem rugged! Guess my resolutions must be getting a little weak at the seams.

Remember those little charts you showed Sis and me how to make? You know, the ones that keep a record of your Lenten masses, rosaries and "No thank you" to desserts? Well, I made one and tucked it under my desk top. Every day I've been checking off those resolutions that sort of slip a little. It's been a good nudge for my conscience.

You know, when my roommate first saw it she had quite a chuckle, but the other day I saw a little chart peeping from under her desk. Some of the other girls think it's a cute idea, too. Take a bow, Mom!

Your ever lovin'

CONNIE.

Senior—Colette Currier—

A mighty busy senior is Colette Currier, business manager of the TORCH and SHIELD. Like most seniors, she is greatly rushed these days, preparing for "comps", putting out the annual; and she also has her duties as Vice-Prefect of the Sodality to keep her on the go. Still, she finds time to design and make her own clothes. Before she came to Barry, Colette went to art school and the many things she wears now that are her own creations prove it was time far from wasted. Colette always achieves excellence in a scholastic way too. She is a constant Dean's List student, a member of the Barry College Honor Society, Lambda Sigma, and she was elected to Delta Epsilon Sigma, national honor society. She is far from pure bookworm, however; right now her interests run towards red convertibles. Colette, who is from Detroit, is an English major and intends to teach in her native city.

Junior—Molly Lorms—

An arrival at Barry this year, Molly "Clean-Her-Golf-Clubs-in-the-Sink" Lorms has gained popularity rapidly. A Columbus, Ohio girl, Molly is a sociology major and intends to teach the subject some day. Apparently the fact that she comes from Columbus, the See of the Ohio State University and Home of the Buckeyes, has influenced her, for she is an all around sportswoman with the accent on golf right now. 87 lowest score this year. Molly is also interested in dramatics and is particularly talented as a monologist. Miracles are up her alley, too. She got an A in Logic! In the distinguishing mark field, she has an odd suntan on her hand, left by an often worn golf glove. To give you an idea, she even practices putting in the Maris Stella kitchenette after 9:30.

One of the cutest girls at Barry is pert Gloria Gagnon. That red hair is deceiving; her temperament is calm and dignified as becomes a Fall River Mass. young lady. Red is the sophomore nominee for the queen at the St. Patrick's Dance. Her poise has made her a natural for the reception committee for most of the dances this year. A business major, Red thinks she might continue her schooling at Boston U. and then find her niche in the business world. Recently she was seen about campus with a tall blonde good looking man. That was Fran, who came all of 1600 miles just to see her. By the way, Red wants it to be definitely known that the song "Gloria" was NOT written for her.

Freshman—Joanne Ollman—

Petite Joanne Ollman hails from Rockford, Ill., and misses it very much. However she has found things to keep her busy here, such as selling plants at the Carnival and writing features and news stories for ANGELICUS. There is a controversy on about Joanne's height. She claims 5 feet, but it is said she doesn't quite make it. She wants to be a sociology major with her eye on social work in the future, but she's also considering a journalistic career. Joanne writes poetry, and while she has never had anything published, she is quite serious about it. And she's good too, her friends say. Right now she is "Loyal to you, Illinois!" Why? Joanne's greatest regret is that she is not "completely Irish."

SOPHS, SENIORS FACE 'COMPS'

Apr. 7, 8 and 9 are the dates set for the graduate record examination to be given the seniors and sophomores.

They will take two general tests covering vocabulary, general mathematics, biological sciences, arts, social studies, literature, physical science, and effectiveness of expression.

Seniors, in addition to the general test, will take an advanced test in their major field of study.

The graduate record examination is given to seniors to evaluate their knowledge as a graduation requirement and to classify and guide any who wish to enter graduate schools.

Sophomores take the examinations to guide them in their choice of future college courses.

The tests, which are scored by the Educational Testing Service, are analyzed according to type of institution attended, major department, level of educational experience, sex, age, and vocational goal. These scores are returned for the benefit of the college and students.

In preparation for these examinations, study classes are being conducted in the various branches of college work.

Upstage --- Downstage

The blustering winds whipping around Barry corners these early weeks of March carry with them the tale of dramatic productions in the offing and of recent shows that met with success.

February 24 saw another collaboration of Barry's Playhouse with the Gesu Drama Guild. The play, under the direction of Fred La France, Guild director, was a version of Joan of Arc based on George Bernard Shaw's script. It was produced at the request of the Unitarian House, Biscayne Blvd., Miami.

Beautifully staged and costumed with particular regard for historical authenticity, the story of the Maid of Orleans was performed in a modified ring theatre style, with the audience seated on three sides.

Groups Again Combine in Casting

As in "Song of Bernadette," the cast was supplied by both Barry and the Gesu Guild. Mary Kanaly, featured in "Bernadette," was starred as St. Joan. Sally Newton, freshman, and Joan O'Brian, sophomore, appeared as ladies in waiting.

Men of the cast were recruited from the Gesu ranks. The Duchess, Pepita Santana, was also a Gesu member.

A Barry showing of St. Joan is planned for April.

Many Moons Appeals to Youngsters

Three performances completed the production of "Many Moons," the last children's play of the Playhouse season. Feb. 18 the gayly costumed comedians from the Barry campus delighted an audience of a thousand little colored children at Booker T. Washington High School.

Their story of a little girl who wanted the moon was shown here on campus to the Miami Shores children the following afternoon, Feb. 19. On Mar. 4 the youngsters of Miami Beach saw the production at Miami Beach High School.

The final production of the Playhouse season, another Barry-Gesu collaboration, is still in the discussion stage. The poetic drama, "End or Beginning," by John Masefield, the poet laureate of England, has been definitely secured. Entirely in verse, it concerns the dramatic incidents surrounding Mary, Queen of Scots.

Comedy and Operetta Close Guild Season

A homey comedy and an operetta, the final productions of the season, are in rehearsal at the downtown headquarters of the Gesu Drama Guild, that Miami community theatre with which Barry has become so closely associated during the past year.

"Ah, Wilderness," Eugene O'Neill's touching comedy of American home life, is the final entry on the Guild's schedule of plays of this '48-'49 season. It will be given Mar. 23 and 24 at the Highland Park School Auditorium.

"H. M. S. Pinafore," scheduled for Apr. 7 and 9 at Edison High School, is the third in a series of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas produced by the Guild. "Pinafore" fulfills a plan to present a balance cycle of these operettas, as the "Mikado" was given in '47 and "Gondoliers" in '48.

Eight capable soloists and a chorus of thirty have been under the supervision of Bill Folwell, musical director, since early January.

University Offers Four Plays

The University of Miami's Ring and Box theatres have two more plays each before their seasons close.

Moliere's classic comedy, "The Miser" may be seen in the Ring May 3 to May 28. "The Winslow Boy," by Terence Radigan, which closed a two-year Broadway run just a season ago, will be showing Mar. 22 to Apr. 16.

The Box theatre, now showing Howard Richardson's "Dark of the Moon," will present William Saroyon's "The Time of Your Life" Apr. 19 to Apr. 30.

Next month's column will include a discussion of these two theatres and the University of Miami's Drama department.

Home Economists Look to Future

By CLAIRE ANN KLEIN, '51

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof."

An important phase of the Barry Home Economics department, namely, preparing a good meal, has been aptly demonstrated by the delicious lemon meringue pies that our girls have recently enjoyed. Several future homemakers are striving to whip up those tasty parkerhouse and sweet rolls—the technique of which was cleverly demonstrated last week by one of your colleagues.

Believe it or not, it takes more than good, solid food to make that dinner a masterpiece. Remember, those tapering yellow candles and prettily arranged roses are an important detail to any meal. (He may never eat those posies, but they'll help make the table fit for a king!)

Did someone say "your home is your palace"? Maybe so, but here at Barry your room is your palace. There was a time when many girls in the Interior Decoration class gave little or no thought to the color scheme and arrangement of their rooms. But now they know that trick of harmonizing colors and filling in bare spots makes the home a palace over which any queen would be proud to reign.

Have you been wondering about the miraculous appearance of a green and brown afghan in a certain Barryite's room? Not miraculous but handwoven by two clever members of the weaving class. Maybe not in a day or two, but the product is there for you and me to view.

Among other things, the future homemaker learns what's good and bad in fabrics and domestics along with sticking to a well planned budget.

Hot Dogs Buy Catholic Books

"When you buy a hotdog, you buy a book." These words were the theme of the Catholic Truth Committee's wiener roast held Feb. 24 on campus south of Stella Matutina.

The funds raised will be used, in observance of Catholic Press Month, to purchase a shelf of Catholic books and several magazines for the newly opened Brockway Memorial Library in Miami Shores.

Committee members who assisted at the wiener roast were: Velma Bodee, Mary Jo Carey, Eileen Costello, Carol Courtney, Mary Alice Droze, Florence and Loretta Galardi, Pat Genter, Evelyn Howard, Mary Kanaley, Carol Lewis, Angela McCarthy and Shirley Jean Wright.

Mardi Gras Spirit Reigns At Dance

By PAT BROOKS, '52

Decorated festively in true Mardi-Gras fashion, the Miami Shores Golf Club vibrated with the sweet music of Bill Dennis' orchestra and the dancing feet of many holiday-spirited couples on Tuesday night, Mar. 1, from 9:00 p.m. to 12:00. Looking around at those seated at tables and many who were dancing, your reporter noticed many a familiar face.

Jean Rathford, pretty in a multi-striped, taffeta dress, was escorted by Chet Chalman. Attired in a tan, wool jersey dress, Joan Coleman was seen with Danny Hayes. Our lovely Latin, Isabel Aguilera, and John Carmichael constituted another handsome couple. Jeanne Pernod and Paul Leischen, our "regulars", were there.

Pat Brooks, in a gray faille ballerina dress, was seen with Bob Skillen. Pat Aulson and Mary Lou Connelly were seen with Tom O'Grady and Matt McCarthy. Mary Ann Semler and Lee Ragatz of Hollywood made a good-looking twosome as did Jean Darling and Tommy Tompson.

Among the other Barryites who attended this affair were: Joan Almy, Betty LaCalle and Dorothy Marchner with their escorts.

SOPHS CELEBRATE MARCH CLASS DAY

Sophomores will don white and gold in celebration of Class Day, Mar. 22.

The traditional noon song fest around Penafort Pool will be followed by luncheon in Calaroga Hall. The dining room decorations will also carry out the theme of white and gold.

At 4 p. m. the sophs will present a skit in Stella Matutina Hall.

Sophomores will then go out to dinner as a class at Miami Beach.

Class day committees include: entertainment, Jeanne Pettingill, Isabel Aguilera, Sandra Mitchell, Mary Lou Connelly, Mary Jo Carey, Ernie Ricou, Betty Lou Kepler, and Virginia Mitchell.

Planning the luncheon are Iris Manning and Lois Anderson.

The decorations committee consists of Shirley Jean Wright, Mary Alice Droze, Nancy Cassin, and Rolande Gonthier.

Jackie Koop is in charge of publicity, while Cilia Vallejo, Donna Guilfoyle, Rosemary Livorsi and Mary Kay Marelli are in charge of composing the class songs.

DRESS SHOP LURES GIRLS

By MARY LOU CONNELLY, '51

Want to know a perfect place to spend your allowance? Your reporter found it in the Shores the other day in the Miami Shores Dress Shop with its very new bathing suits and its extra special cut and flare in dress design. The owner is one of the nicest things about the establishment. Her name is Mrs. Ruth Saums and she has had the shop since last August. Originally from Boston, Mass., Mrs. Saums at once found a warm spot with your reporter and we started chatting like two old New Englanders.

The buying part of the dress business appeals most to Mrs. Saums although she does like selling clothes and meeting the public. The fact that she was once a buyer for Crawford-College might account for

She prefers the south now but the winter sports do bring back a bit of nostalgia. Mrs. Saums finds things here more informal, less hectic than the north. "You make friends here so quickly," she laughed gaily.

Dressed in an attractive dark blue print, Mrs. Saums hardly looked like the mother of a Wellesley college girl. Then she added, "Oh my daughter left in her junior year and is now married and the mother of two baby girls." Goodness, grandmothers are getting more attractive every year!

"I've never been through Barry," she said "but have often admired the grounds and buildings."

For the flash picture, Mrs. Saums changed to a grey tweed skirt and tailored long sleeve navy blouse that complimented her medium brown hair, light blue eyes, charming manner and winning smile. The camera had an easy time capturing the picture.

Jo Ann "Optimistic" Conti has been unanimously elected the most confident girl on campus. It seems Jo Ann went out for water ballet and nearly drowned the first practice. But that didn't stop her and she has been seen at all the following practices without fail or fault. And improving too! . . . The latest celebrity to find her way to Barry is none other than Christine Dobbs. Due to uncontrollable circumstances Chris wore dark glasses for a few days some time ago. We knew her though! . . .

What sister living on the first floor, west wing, of Stella Matutina likes fishing? And big red ones at that! . . . We regret to inform you we have been forced to omit any news concerning "Bones" Barrett or "Merkie" Marelli. For further information please see these girls between 3 and 4 in Regina Pacis . . .

Junior Velma Bodee's special assignment in journalism is to make an exhaustive study of the Chicago Sun-Times—staff included, of course! . . . Certain seniors in a certain senior dorm have proved the proverb "you'll eat anything when you're hungry." Popcorn and garlic salt is their latest concoction! . . . Despite the fact that Miami is notorious for its reckless drivers, Cilia Vallejo and Isabel Aguilera have started taking driving lessons. Oh well, it was a nice car.

Sophomore Sandra Mitchell was seen sporting not one, but TWO orchids on St. Valentine's Day. Seems they even grow flowers at West Point . . . Does anybody believe the rumor that another Barry sophomore burns incense before the

MUSIC MAJORS PRESENT RECITALS

Irene Raywood will present her senior recital on the evening of Mar. 31, 1949. She will be assisted by Litha Blanchette, vocal soloist. Her program will consist of "Moonlight Sonata" by Beethoven, "Rhapsodie" by Brahms, three selections from Chopin, "Prelude in E minor," "Prelude in B minor," and "Waltz in E minor," two pieces by Cyril Scott, "Lento" and "Lotus Land," "May Night" by Polmgren. For her concluding number she will play the "Ritual Fire Dance" by OeFalla.

Litha will sing three songs, "Still as the Night" by Bohm, "Take Joy Home" and "With a Song in My Heart."

Joint Recital

Appearing in joint recital on Mar. 24 will be Loma Rafferty, vocalist, and Jeanne Pettingill, pianist.

Miss Rafferty has been a student of Sister Rose Therese, O.P., for two years, and has sung solo roles in the Christmas Oratorio.

Miss Pettingill has studied with Sister Denise, O.P., for four years, two at Barry and two while still in high school.

Miss Rafferty will sing eight selections: "Maids of Cadiz", Delibes; "Open Thy Blue Eyes", Massenet; "Agnus Dei", Bizet; "My Heart Ever Faithful", J. S. Bach; "The Star", Rogers; "Mother Dear", Polish folk song; "O Cessate", Scarlatti; and "Tu Lo Sai", Torelli.

She will be accompanied by Patricia Heldman.

Miss Pettingill will play: "Doctor Gradus and Permassus", Debussy; "Scherzo", Mendelssohn; "Rhapsody", Dignanni; "Prelude", Rachmaninoff; and "Little White Donkey", Bartlett.

picture of a W. P. "kaydet?" . . . Is Mary Stark keeping that special Valentine corsage on ice so it'll be fresh for Easter? . . . Sister Mary Ann is wondering!

Is someone trying to wangle an extra dinner permission? S. M. P. almost invariably finds some fruit or a doughnut on the west desk when she appears to dispense "Specials" in the morning. Who's the apple-polisher? . . . The mystery of the month. Did Barbara Gavin really have a date with Guy Madison? (Any clues as to the uncovering and proof of the above will be appreciated by the staff).

Seems Joanne Ollman and Maggie Castro crave chicken soup. And at such weird hours too! . . . The Case of the Ownerless Slipper . . . Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the mate of a lone slipper found in the S. M. east shower please contact college authorities . . . Where is Julio? Both the east and west wings of Stella Matutina were upset the other evening when a small delegation from the Spanish Club, namely Bertha and Elena Benevides, Felisa Coba and Elena Hernandez hid Julio. Julio, it turned out, is a picture which Bertha Laredo values very, very highly.

Outside of its being his first time on Barry Campus, we're certain his visit was the first time that Father John Kennedy was ever stalled on a busy Miami causeway. Peg Considine and Pat Murray were so concerned with their driving that they hadn't thought about filling the gas tank! . . . Every penny counts, even the ones in your moccasins—eh, Peg???

CLUB CORNER

Beta Kappa Kappa

Beta Kappa Kappa remembered Julius Caesar on the Ides of March in a skit portraying his sudden death.

It also observed the 200th anniversary of the birth of Johanna Goethe, the great German author.

German language students Joyce Browne, Joan Weed, and Pat Young presented papers on "Goethe the Man", "Goethe's Influence as a Lyrical poet", and "Goethe as Contrast-ed with Horace."

First Consul Mary Alice Droze announced plans for Latin Week, April 25-29.

Committee chairmen were selected: roman banquet, Mary Ellen DeDominicis; decorations, Joyce Browne; entertainment, Joan Weed; bulletin board displays, Pat Young; and library display, Mary Jo Carey.

Following the business meeting, an informal question and answer game was conducted by quiz-mistress Nancy Conine. Contestants volunteered to test their memory on important facts of mythology and modern literature as discussed at past meetings.

Science Club Meeting

First on the agenda for the meeting of the Albertus Magnus Science Club this month was a talk concerning Thomas Aquinas, Patron of Catholic Schools, given by Mary Ellen DeDominicis.

This was followed by a round table discussion on the topic of Socialized Medicine, under the chairmanship of Betty Ann Rice. Jeanne Jacob, Mary O'Malley, Marilyn O'Hara, Constance Joyce and Margaret Castrogiovanni were also on the board.

Plans were made for the girls to go to the Institutum Divi Thomae in Palm Beach, for a tour of the research laboratories, and visit the Cluett Botanical Gardens.

C. C. D.

Fifty-five children of St. Rose of Lima parish were confirmed Mar. 2 by His Excellency, the Most Reverent Thomas J. McDonough, Auxiliary Bishop of St. Augustine. The ceremony took place at St. Mary's Church.

In May a group of the younger children will make their First Holy Communion.

C. C. D. members who teach catechism to these and other children of St. Rose of Lima parish on Saturday mornings are: Veronica Barry, Mary Claire Condon, Rolande Gonther, Mary Irene Barrett, Claire Butterfield, Vivian Decker, Rosemary Gargano, Hilda Marin, Louise Friedheim, Mary Kay Marelli, Ernestine Ricou, Loma Rafferty, and Patricia Young.

Patricia Abernethy, Frances Guzman, Anne Mercier, and Trenalee Depperman teach at St. Michael the Archangel parish.

Spanish Club

Barry's Spanish Club of late has been teaching its North American members something of the country and customs of the Latin Americas. At the Feb. 22 meeting, Cuba was the country in the limelight. The history of our close neighbor was discussed by Miss Isabel Aguilera and Miss Silvia Soler. Miss Nora Urquiola gave interesting and informative facts of Cuba's geography.

At the Tuesday meeting Mar. 1, Puerto Rico was the second of our neighbors to the south that was brought into closer focus. The Misses Elena Hernandez and Blanquita Lanuza recounted the history while Miss Carmen Aponte and Miss Aileen Roig gave geographical data.

"Crucify Him! Crucify!" floating across the street from Sancta Cecilia reminds Barryites that the Tara Singers, under the direction of Sister Rose Therese, are rehearsing Sister Denise's Passion Oratorio. This Lenten performance, Apr. 3-4 in Cor Jesu Chapel, will mark the fifth annual presentation of the Oratorio.

This year a third appearance has been scheduled, on Mar. 29 in St. Anthony's Church, Fort Lauderdale. There the Oratorio will be given for the delegates to the Southeastern Deanery Meeting of the National Council of Catholic Women.

Virginia Johnson will sing the role of Christ. The other Oratorio characters include: Peter, John, Thomas, Judas, High Priest, Pilate, First and Second Soldiers, Servant Girl, Wicked Thief, and Good Thief. Names of students singing these roles will be announced later.

The Tara Singers are: Mary Irene Barrett, Claire Butterfield, Jean Rathford, Jean Darling, Angela Clark, Barbara Gavin, Paula Barry, Susan Germann, Haddadina Mer-

Margene Johnson, Isabelle Williams, Virginia Johnson, Mary Alice Droze, Norma Jean Van Scoyoc, Virginia Mitchell, Litha Blanchette, Mary Lou Connelly, and Dolores Mackey.

Alumnae Report

By EILEEN MEYERS

The stork has visited several former Barryites and we find the following new arrivals: Justine Grout has been blessed with twins, whom she has named Jack and Jill; Gloria Goike Goliano has a little girl. Baby boys have been born to the following: Meri Turrentine Lauten, on Feb. 1; Beverly Warmington Donahay; Constance Gillig Hall on Jan. 7 and Pat Schenewerk Fisk on Jan. 29. Seems the boy babies have the edge on the girls to date—at this rate Barry will have to become "co-ed"!

Mary Jumper had a grand trip last summer during which she visited Europe and saw all the places that she had studied about in various history and literature courses.

Congratulations to Joann Kelly and Muriel Welch who passed their registry exams—they are now full fledged registered technicians.

Mary Jane Ward Decker and her husband are calling Charlottesville, Virginia, their home while he is at the University of Virginia in Medical School.

Rosemary Naef Dexter and her husband Bill spent their honeymoon in Miami and paid a visit to Barry.

Alice Lyons Bohan, her husband and Mary Kathleen have moved and are now residing in Chicago near her mother and dad. They have their own home and are happy to be back in the Windy City.

Pat Parkinson is enjoying her work at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company where she is doing library work in the research department.

Rosemary Henretty is a laboratory technician at a hospital in Bradford, Pennsylvania.

Mary Lou Lomaistro's time is occupied by doing secretarial work for her dad, while Ana Arias is working as secretary to the vice-president of the Beauticians' Association in California.

A. A. News

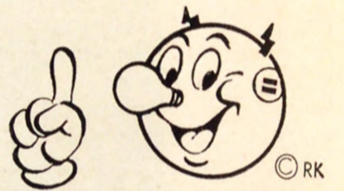

The Athletic Association had its second hayride of the year Saturday night Mar. 5, at 6:30 . mp. A hay-filled wagon came to school and brought the girls to Sunny Acres where members of the A. A. board had sizzling hot dogs and toasted buns waiting, plus cokes, apples, cookies and all the other ingredients that go to make a picnic supper complete.

Two members of the A. A. board in charge of food were Mary Lou Connelly and Betty Kerby.

The board extends its appreciation to all those who helped make this event a successful one.
