

I. Williams To Lead Student Body

Newly elected leader of the Student Body and president of the Student Council is Isabelle Williams, a music major from Tampa.

Isabelle has held the offices of freshman class secretary, president of the sophomore and junior classes, second vice-president of the Student Council, vice-prioress of the Dominican Tertiaries and secretary of the Santa Rosa Spanish Club.

Isabelle accompanied Betty Kerby, Student Body leader for the 1950-51 year, to a convention of Florida Student Government Association in Gainesville, May 3-5. She will represent Barry at a meeting of the National Students Association this summer.

Irish Color Seen In Feis of Tara

One of the most colorful musical programs of the year was presented by the Tara Singers, May 9. Called the Feis of Tara, the concert had an Irish flavor complete with bard.

The bard was a singer of ballads in the days of Tara and played an important role in all gatherings of the people. Barry's bard was Cilia Vallejo, named to the honor by her fellow Tara singers.

The concert had on its program selections from such works as "Madame Butterfly", "The Firefly", "The Bat" and "Brigadoon."

The formal opening of the Feis of Tara was the "Invocation of the Trinity" sung by the entire group and "God Be In My Head." The "Echo Song" featured a small chorus composed of Patricia Karch, Isabelle Williams, Rosemarie Hoag, Patricia Heldman, Teresa Weedon and Joan Peacock. Part I of the program was concluded with "Nocturne."

Loma Rafferty's solo, "One Fine Day," from "Madame Butterfly," composed Part II of the program.

Clarissa Cavalaris, soprano, sang "Love Is Like A Firefly" and "Gianina Mia" from "The Firefly." Novel lighting and costuming highlighted Clarissa's solos.

"The Laughing Song" from "The Bat" composed Part IV of the program and was sung by Patricia Requa with assistance by Janet McGowan.

Selections from the Broadway hit of a few years ago, "Brigadoon," were sung by Teresa Weedon. Teresa sang the title song and "From This Day On" with the Tara Singers. Her solo was "Waitin' For My Dearie."

Mary Lou Connelly sang "A Gypsy Maiden I" and "Carmena" with the Tara Singers, another song with a gypsy flavor. Accessories were used by the group to suggest a gypsy atmosphere.

The Tara Singers' concert switched from its Irish theme to an all-American finale with "The Battle Hymn of The Republic." Cilia Vallejo was soloist.

This concert by the Tara singers, under their director, Sister M. Rose Therese, O.P., was the conclusion of a series of performances given throughout the scholastic year.

Major Athletic Award To Be Presented

For the first time in the history of the Barry College Athletic Association, a cup will be presented to a girl who has earned 1,000 points in combined sports activities. The cup will be awarded with other sports citations at the Athletic banquet in Calaroga Hall on May 22. The winner of the 1,000 point honor will not be announced until the dinner.

Recognition will be given to the leaders of the water ballet groups: Beatrice Hagner, Patricia Patterson, Helen Scholz, Grace Clark and Patricia Aulson.

Archbishop Hurley To Officiate At Graduation of 34 Seniors

Rose and Candle, Serenade, Mark Senior Week

Leading activities of commencement week will be serenade night, rose and candle ceremony, a senior entertainment for their parents and faculty, faculty convocation and the Baccalaureate breakfast.

The entire student body will gather around Penafort Pool to sing last goodbyes to the seniors on May 28. Serenade night will be sponsored by the sophomore class.

In a setting of formals and academic gowns, the graduates-to-be will present the junior class with the title to the school at rose and candle ceremony, May 27. Isabelle Aguilera will give the welcome address, Cilia Vallejo will explain the meaning of the rose and Patricia Aulson, the symbolism of the candle. Seniors Betty Kerby, Louise Friedheim and Rolande Gonthier will exchange loyalties with juniors Isabelle Williams, Margaret Conlon and Patricia Heldman.

The morning of May 27, toast mistress Isabelle Williams will present the speakers at the Baccalaureate breakfast. Patricia Heldman will give the farewell to the seniors with senior Jeanne Pfister responding. The class will be read by a senior, Trinalde Depperman, and sophomore Matilde Ramos will prophesy the future of the 34 graduates. Bernice Gagnon will address the faculty, Virginia Mitchell will give a short message to the chaplain, Reverend Richard T. A. Murphy, and Mary Alice Droze will salute Monsignor William Barry.

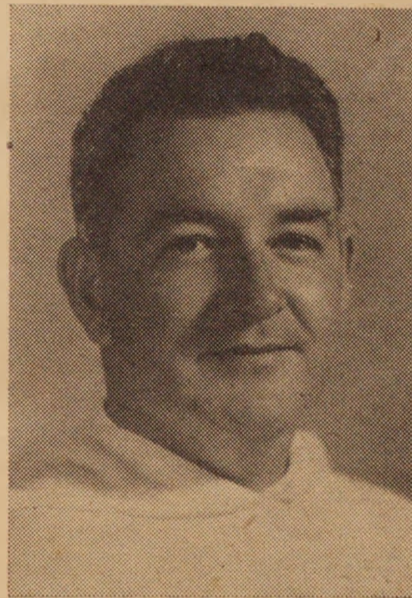

Climaxing commencement week will be graduation exercises in Cor Jesu Chapel on May 30.

R. Gaztambide New Queen of Campus

Another Latin American beauty will succeed Isabele Aguilera, Havana, as campus queen. She is Raquel Gaztambide of Santurce, Puerto Rico.

Raquel transferred to Barry in her junior year from St. Catherine's Junior College in Springfield, Kentucky. The new campus queen is a science major and is secretary of the Santa Rosa Spanish Club.

Raquel will receive her title and crown at the Coronation Ball in November. As campus queen, she will participate in the activities of the social life board and will be a member of the student council.

REV. CYRIL W. BURKE, O.P.

Rev. C. W. Burke To Give Graduation Address

The tenth annual graduation exercise will be held in Cor Jeus chapel on May 30 at 8:00 p.m. Thirty-four graduates, six of whom will be graduated with honors, will receive their diplomas from the Most Reverend Archbishop Joseph P. Hurley. Solemn benediction will follow the graduation exercises.

The Reverend Cyril W. Burke, O.P., former chaplain and professor at Barry and now at the Dominican House of Studies in Washington, D. C., will give the graduation address.

Graduating with honors will be Mary Angela Clark and Rolande Gonthier, summa cum laude; Ruth Marcus, magna cum laude; Mary Alice Droze, Shirley Jean Wright, Louise Friedheim, cum laude.

Degrees of Bachelor of Arts with a major in English will be conferred on Isabel Aguilera, Havana, Cuba; Mary Jo Carey, St. Petersburg; Mary Angela Clark, Miami; Mary Louise Patricia Connelly, St. Augustine; Eileen T. Costello, West Hartford, Connecticut; Trinalde Depperman, Miami; Mary Alice Droze, Jacksonville; Helen Maybelle Hines, New York, New York, and Evelyn Joyce Weller, Evansville, Indiana.

Receiving degrees of Bachelor of Science with a major in education will be Mrs. Winifred Long Amdor, Opa-Locka; Mrs. Marie Weaver Dent, Hollywood; Donna Mary Guilfoyle, Miami Beach; Mary Patricia O'Hara, Miami; Mrs. Wilton Pope Treadwell, Miami, and Mrs. Lucy Chapman Reynolds, Ojus.

Degrees of Bachelor of Arts with a major in Sociology will be conferred on Marilyn Byrnes, Miami Beach, and Mary Elizabeth Kerby, Akron, Ohio.

Receiving degrees of Bachelor of Science with a major in Home Economics will be Patricia Joan Aulson, Salem, Massachusetts; Mary Louise Friedheim, Belle Glade; Clare Ann Klein, Miami; Patricia Ann Patterson, Albany, New York; Jeanne Marie Pfister, Ft. Pierce, and Rose Marie Windbiel, Peoria, Illinois.

Degrees of Bachelor of Arts with a History major will be conferred on Ruth Joan Marcus, Grosse Pointe, Michigan, and Virginia Agnes Mitchell, Berea, Ohio.

Receiving degrees of Bachelor of Science with a Biology major will be Delores Fiorentino, Miami; Mary Frances Guzman, Miami, and Shirley Jean Wright, Miami Beach.

Degrees of Bachelor of Arts with a major in Art will be conferred on Bernice Lois Gagnon, Green Bay, Wisconsin, and Stephanie Suzanne Swiniuch, Miami.

Receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science with Chemistry major will be Rolande Gonthier, Amesbury, Massachusetts.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts with a major in Piano will be conferred on Patricia Ann Karch, Sidney, Ohio and with Voice major on Loma Catherine Rafferty, North Miami.

Receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts with a major in Spanish will be Cilia Maria Vallejo, Asheville, North Carolina.

Three members of the Class will be graduated at the conclusion of the summer session. Receiving the degree

Campus Leaders Elected For Fall

The top officers of the junior and senior classes for the school year 1951-52 have been filled. The remaining offices and the freshman and sophomore elections will be held in the fall.

Patricia Heldman, a music major from Miami, is the new senior class president. A music scholarship holder, she has held the class offices of treasurer (1949-50) and vice-president (1950-51).

Dorothy Hoff, an English major from New Rochelle, New York, is the senior class vice-president. Assistant editor of the 1951 edition of the Torch and Shield, she has been appointed editor of the 1952 yearbook.

Patricia Genter, a home economics and dietetics major from Bayside, Long Island, is the senior class secretary. She was recently elected to the office of vice-president of the Sodality.

Patricia Oak, a chemistry major from Bayonne, New Jersey, is the junior class president. She has held the class offices of treasurer (1949-50) and president (1951-52).

Betty Demirgian, a dietetics major from Miami, is the junior class vice-president. A scholarship holder, she filled the office of class secretary (1950-51).

Night In Venice Theme for Prom

The atmosphere of Venice, Italy, with its winding canals and romantic overtones will be the setting for the Junior-Senior prom, May 19. The theme of the dance is "A Night In Venice."

Spotlight for the evening will be on the campus queen, Isabel Aguilera and guests honored will be the graduating seniors.

The receiving line will be composed of the junior class officers, Isabelle Williams, president; Patricia Heldman, vice-president; Margurite Lapham, secretary-treasurer, and Margaret Conlon, social chairman; the Very Reverend Richard T. A. Murphy, O.P. and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Heldman.

In charge of decorations is Isabelle Williams. Bids were handled by Elena Hernandez, Dorothy Hoff and Anita Politano; refreshments, Raquel Gaztambide, Patricia Genter and Joanne Ollman.

Chaperones are Miss Patricia O'Hara, Mr. and Mrs. Heldman, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Leadwell, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Amdor, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. Dent, Jr.

Players To Stage Three Plays

The acting class will present three one-act plays on May 25. The plays are "The Romancers" by Edmund Rostand, "The Valiant" by Hall and Middlemass, and "Sacrifice in Brocade," a play of "an important day in the life of Marie Adelaide, young duchess of Luxemburg."

A scene from Maxwell Anderson's "Mary of Scotland" will feature Constance Senger in the title role and Cilia Vallejo as Queen Elizabeth.

"The Romancers" will be enacted on the patio. Players are Patricia Warner, Mary Jean Schenuit, Cilia Vallejo, Arlene Ambrose and Geraldine Jablonski. Shirley Hodge will direct.

Appearing in "The Valiant" are Roy Robarge, Arnold Cafiero and Gene Riley, from neighboring parishes, and Adrienne Hoffman and Jane Mullane of Barry. The play will be produced on a conventional stage.

Georgann Travnikar will take the leading role of Adelaide in "Sacrifice in Brocade." Other parts will be played by Isabel Aguilera, Ann Morley, Patricia Requa and Phyllis Costanzo. Joan Pypelink is directing.

We Thank You ... For Helping Us To Begin

A sculptor who desires to create the perfect work of art must be equipped not only with the talent but with the proper tools of his trade.

All of us are sculptors, molders of our lives, and in time, the lives of those entrusted to our care. We, like the artist, cannot do a good job without good equipment; nor can our art be perfected without study and guidance. For those of us who are graduating, the years of study draw to a close and the time for farewells has come. But this time the farewells must be made in the form of a tribute to those who have made the years possible.

To parents first, because they by example and a selflessness born of love have laid the foundations for the moulding of Christian lives; to our faculty who with generosity have shared with us the faith, ideals and knowledge that Christ, the Divine Teacher, wanted His own to "Go and teach all nations;" and to our fellow students, the indispensable underclassmen, without whose admiration our accomplishments would have lost much of their significance.

The ideal of Christian education is to develop the "whole man;" to equip him spiritually, physically and socially for life here and for the achievement of an ultimate goal.

In fulfillment of this ideal, we have been taught to distinguish truth from error; to see, within limited capacities, God in relation to all created being; to know man in his two-fold nature; to equip ourselves for careers in the community and in the home; and to realize our social potentialities in a world where no man can stand alone.

All these lessons and skills are our tools. Until recently, we have passively accepted them, but now we must begin putting them to positive action.

"... beginnings, particularly beginnings of divine things are hard. It is not angels, but the Master Himself Who brings comfort to the hearts of those courageous enough to begin." This, then, is the significance of our commencement.

Light In A Darkened World

Purity, of all the virtues, reminds us most of Mary.

Mary could not have been the Mother of God had her soul not been a reflection of His, and had it not been as spotless as the lily symbolically blossoming from her spouse's staff.

To compare Our Lady's soul to a lily perhaps is to do her injustice, however, for the whiteness of a lily could not begin to suggest the resplendent beauty that was in Mary. So it was partly through this virtue that she stands in God's Presence today. And it is in imitation of Our Lovely Lady's cleanliness that we have been promised the sight of God.

What greater state is there, than that in which we see Him Who is all to us?

This purity which we speak of is not obtained in a short while with a minimum of striving. It takes a lifetime and our reward comes to us only after many temptations have been overcome and many occasions of sin avoided.

Each temptation to impurity overcome is like a link in a long chain of flowers which will soon be ready for our Mother. The flowers represent bad movies avoided, off-color jokes untold or not listened to, suggestive books left off our list and bad companions forgotten.

"Cleanliness is next to godliness," we're told. That must be true, for Mary is next to God and she is all clean. So too will we take our place in the heavenly court if we are striving now to be like its all-fair Queen.

Organizations Does Your Education Show, Or Are You A Hoarder?

MISSION COUNCIL

The Mission Council has staged several successful projects during the past year. Included in their undertakings were: penny day, a television raffle, a trip to Fort Pierce to the colored mission there, collection of cancelled stamps, volunteer dining-room duty, a swiss-dance at the Isle de Capri Hotel, Christmas card sales, and stationery sales.

According to Angela Clark, treasurer, the Council sent $100 to Archbishop Hurley who turned it over to the Colored Catechetical School in New Smyrna Beach; $25 to the Reverend Patrick Walsh, O.P., in Columbia, South Carolina; $75 to St. Augustine Seminary for colored young men in Bay St. Louis, Missouri; and $50 to the Catholic Scholarships for Negroes Association.

The Council has sent $25 to the Reverend Bernard Tonnar of St. Francis Mission, Miami; $25 to the Maryknoll Sisters of Blessed Sacrament in Pennsylvania; $25 to the Pine Ridge Colored Hospital in West Palm Beach, conducted by the Sisters of St. Francis; $50 to a missionary in New Guinea; and $15 to the Reverend Stephen Hogya of Walls, Mississippi.

The Sisters of St. Joseph's colored missions throughout Florida received $45; $25 was sent to the Reverend Richard Vahey, O.P., of the Dominican Foreign Missions; $10 to the Reverend Brendan Pyle of Georgia; $10 to the Blessed Martin de Porres Mission in Columbia, South Carolina; $25 to the Passionist Fathers of Birmingham, Alabama; $15 to the Reverend Norbert Georges, O.P., of the Blessed Martin Guild, New York; $25 to the Queen of Peace Mission, Lakeland, Georgia; $15 to the Reverend R. W. Hofstee, O.P., for a leper colony in the Philippines.

The Sisters of the Holy Names received $45 for their colored mission in Florida and $500 was sent to Fort Pierce Colored Mission School for dishes; desks; and $50 to Blessed Martin Mission in West Palm Beach.

TERTIARIES

The Very Reverend Richard T. A. Murphy, O.P., sponsor of the Tertiaries, has been explaining the Little Office of Our Lady in weekly meetings with the group.

Tertiaries Dorothy Hoff and Virginia Mitchell were professed April 5.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science club sponsored a movie "Brewster's Millions" on May 16 and the annual club banquet was held the following night. The group's most recent project was a field trip to the Theatre of the Sea on Key Largo May 3.

FLORIDA CLUB

Florida club members are planning a party to acquaint incoming ocal students with fellow students and college traditions. This will be held before school re-opens in the fall. The club has recently adopted dues.

PRESS CLUB

Press club members who attended the recent Miami Herald News Institute at the University of Miami were: Phyllis Costanzo, Joan Peacock, Constance Baldwin, Joan Prati, Teresa Weedon, and Barbara Kuzmick.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish club offices for 1951-52 have been filled. They are: Elena Hernandez, president, and Maria Lloveras, vice-president.

The last social event of the year was a dinner held May 2 at the Minerva Restaurant in Miami.

B. K. K.

The main club event of Beta Kappa Kappa was the Roman banquet held during Latin week. Teresa Weedon presented an oration on the Roman banquet able. The most recent meeting featured reports on French poets, artists, and music by Patricia Heldman.

It goes without saying that education is not something confined to classrooms and organized schooling. It goes on constantly throughout life under all possible circumstances. It is good education whenever the influences that arouse the personality are beneficent; it is bad when these influences ally themselves with the downward pull that is being exerted constantly by our lower nature.

Always it is largely the fruit of our own doing. If we cleave to error and do evil, we become evil; if we do the truth in charity we grow up to Him Who is the Head, the Christ.

We educate ourselves as American citizens by actually living and working as citizens in our local communities. The very fact that there is a trend toward centralization of power in the national government calls for greater civil activity of a neighborhood character.

The virtues that are involved in citizenship cannot be developed by the mere casting of a ballot. They are the flowering of actual personal effort for the common good.

The Catholic citizen has a very special obligation to enter actively into community activities. Our Savior says, "I am come that they may have life and have it more abundantly." He has things to do for the American people, and He has to do them through us.

What the world needs, we possess. We have something to give, and we are derelict to our duty in the degree that we separate ourselves from other people and hoard up the graces that are in us.

Pebbles and Palms

Florida, the land of warmth and sunshine—but what happened those last two weeks before the water ballet? It seems as if the girls have to crack the ice on the pool for a couple of days every year. . . . Nancy Schmitz and Mary Lou Clark had trouble remembering which was the boy and which was the girl in the aqua routine.

Anyone who missed the senior boat cruise missed a great time. Barryites danced to lively music and when tired they sat on the upper deck and admired the Miami and Miami Beach skylines.

Cupid is really working fast on our senior class. Bea Gagnon is now Gil Renuart's sweetheart of Sigma Chi. Marilyn Byrnes called her fellow seniors at midnight one night to say that she was engaged to Jack Healey. And, of course, there are the old hands at the engagement business: Louise Friedheim, Rosemarie Windbiel, Pat Karch, Trinalee Depperman, Mary Lou Connelly and Stephanie Swiniuch.

The Spanish Club should be complimented on their recent dance. Decorations were lavish with the bull and bull fighter on the lower stage and the fans and mantillas on the walls.

Following Loma Rafferty's voice recital, Rosa Mysticians entertained her with a birthday party. Gifts included a small gold cross, costume jewelry and, of course, the all-time favorite, candy.

Never say that the Navy isn't one of the most cooperative branches of service going! Just note the sailor suits from Opa-Locka used in Freshman skit. Tell us, girls, anyone ask when the next dance at Barry would be?

Just to relax a little, Jean Pfister is inviting groups of seniors up to her home in Fort Pierce for the weekends remaining before graduation.

Anyone planning to be around the week of June 3-10? Jo June Knight, freshman, has been elected to represent Barry in the annual Poinciana Festival and will be a candidate for the selection of queen on June 10.

After four years seniors have now earned the privilege of cutting a whole day of classes and with no repercussions or deduction of honor points. To celebrate the gala skip day, the class chartered a fishing boat for Monday, May 7 and spent the day relaxing out on the Gulf and reeling in the "big ones that got away."

This summer will be filled with Barry weddings. Louise Friedheim will be married in August and Isabelle Williams will be at the organ with Loma Rafferty singing. May 23 is the date of Rita Udry's marriage in Little Flower Church, Coral Gables. Isabelle Williams will be maid of honor, Lucille Renuart, a bridesmaid. Clarissa Cavalaris and Loma Rafferty will sing. Ohio will be the 'marriage state' for Pat Karch, whose wedding music will be by Virginia Mitchell. Bee Gagnon will have Betty Kerby as one of her bridesmaids.

Illinois Club activities won't stop with the closing of school. With Mary Lou Hogan as president, the group is giving a series of parties (a special party-dance on August 12), in Chicago. Out-of-town girls will be housed at the home of Chi natives. Barryites who plan to be in on all of this are Jean Gannon, Marilyn Cunningham, Grace and Mary Lou Clark, Pat Scholz, "Torchy" Conlon, Jane Mullane, Joanne Ollman, Jane Bidwill, Bootsie Hagner, Dorothy Gilling, Gretta Gascoyne, Mimi Scanlon, Cilia Vallejo, Pat Mies, Norma and Liz Laboe, Janet McGowan, Marcia Wirges, Pat Requa, Pat Warner, Pat Long and Mary Jean She-nuit.

Betty Frank, a member of last year's frosh class, will have a host of Barry girls at her wedding on August 11. Attending will be Jean Gannon, Grace and Mary Lou Clark, Pat Scholz, Jane Mullane, Joanne Ollman, Jane Bidwill, Bootsie Hagner, Mimi Scanlon, Cilia Vallejo, Janet McGowan, Marcia Wirges, Nancy Schmitz and Margaret Schabacher.

Thimble Theater Presents The Graduates

Isabel Aguilera, A.B.
An English major from Havana, Cuba, Isabel spent the four years of her college career at Barry. Plans for the future are rather indefinite for our Campus Queen, but she hopes to get into foreign relations work and make good use of the ability to speak both Spanish and English fluently.

Winifred Amdor, B.S.
Busy homemaker, teacher and student, Mrs. Amdor is always on the go, but is never too rushed to contribute teaching experience to fledgling student-teachers. With her major in education, Mrs. Amdor hopes to continue her career in the classroom here in Miami.

Patricia Aulson, B.S.
Home economics is the forte of this senior who hopes to combine her cooking and sewing skills with education and teach these subjects in her home town, Salem, Mass. Pat is prioress of the Dominican Tertiaries on campus.

Marilyn Byrnes, A.B.
Marilyn's time has been divided between Barry where she has majored in sociology and St. Patrick's school on the Beach where she teaches physical education. Plans for the future are all centered on her forthcoming marriage to Jack Healy of Ft. Lauderdale.

Mary Jo Carey, A.B.
An English major and education minor, Mary Jo hopes to combine these assets and teach near her home in St. Petersburg.

Mary Angela Clark, A.B.
Honor graduate, business manager of the TORCH AND SHIELD and vice president of the senior class, Mary Angela has combined the qualities of a good student and all-around participant. She holds a secretarial certificate and is planning to continue her career in the business world.

Mary Lou Connelly, A.B.
Mary Lou's interests are divided between music and English but homemaking will take top honors after December when Mary Lou will marry Matthew McCarthy of Chicago. She has expressed the wish that some of St. Augustine's warm breezes could be shifted to the windy city.

Eileen Costello, A.B.
Barry's own Irish colleen has majored in, of all things, English. A former WAVE, Eileen is the senior's best contributor to campus humor. Latest famous quote, "Ronnie may be graduating summa, but I'll be there as Companion to the Summa."

Marie Weaver Dent, B.S.
Marie has done an exceptional job of doing two things equally well; taking care of class assignments and her home in Hollywood. Her two small sons, according to Marie, have given her some good basic training for work in primary education.

Mary Alice Droze, A.B.
Mary Alice is responsible for the 1951 edition of the Torch and Shield, which seniors, prejudiced though they may be, say is the best yet. A cum laude graduate, Mary Alice is looking forward to September and the beginning of her career in a little red schoolhouse in Jacksonville.

Trinalee Depperman, A.B.
Poet laureate of the senior class, Trinalee has been known to dash off a few lines whenever and wherever the occasion demands. Her major is, of course, English, but she is minoring in education with a view to teaching junior high school.

Dolores Fiorentino, B.S.
What could be more fascinating than biology? (to a science major, that is). At least Dolores finds it so and hopes to start work for her master's degree as soon as possible. The class of '51 may boast of a second Madame Curie yet.

Louise Friedheim, B.S.
This senior from Belle Glade has proven herself the capable student and leader by her management of the Sodality of Our Lady and scholastic achievements which enable her to graduate with honors. Her major in home economics will be given a practical test after her marriage to Jack Burns this summer.

Bernice Gagnon, A.B.
Future Barry students who admire the murals in the science reading room will have Bee to thank for at least two of them. An art major, Bee transferred to Barry from St. Mary's of Notre Dame. She is a native of Green Bay, Wisconsin, but will make Miami her home after her marriage to Gil Renuart.

Rolande Gonthier, B.S.
Graduating summa cum laude, Ronnie hopes to continue her work in chemistry by getting her master's degree. Her leadership guided the senior class through its last perilous year of comps and the trials and joys of graduation.

Donna Guilfoyle, B.S.
Busy education major and Mission Club chairman, always on the go planning this or that, Donna is in the midst of whatever her class is doing. Since enthusiasm and ambition contribute to the making of a good teacher, the future looks fine for Donna.

Sodality Prefect Crowns Mary 'Queen of May'

On May 1 the Barry Sodalists paid tribute to the Blessed Virgin with the annual May crowning. The court included the officers, Louise Friedheim, Mary Alice Droze, Bernice Gagnon and Joanne Ollman, and committee officers Teresa Weedon, Shirley Jean Wright, Memorie Porter, Loma Rafferty and Clarissa Cavalaris.

The court wore pastel formals and carried nosegays of flowers. The student body wore white dresses.

Forming a procession, the group went around the campus singing hymns to Our Lady. The procession terminated in Cor Jesu Chapel where prefect Louise Friedheim crowned the statue of Our Lady.

During the past month the Sodalists were fortunate in seeing the movie entitled "The Eternal Gift," a production explaining the importance of the Mass. The movie was sent to the Sodality by the Rev. Patrick Walsh, O.P., who is with a Mobile Mass Unit.

The Catholic Truth committee entertained April 11, with a card party given in Stella Matutina social hall. The funds raised will be used to continue the publication of Mary Notes and to send gift subscriptions of Catholic publications to the University of Miami library and the Brockway Memorial library in Miami Shores.

The Rev. Richard T. A. Murphy, O.P., recently gave a talk on the "Angelic Warfare," encouraging the students to fight for purity.

M. Ramos, P. Sandre Give Joint Recital

Two sophomores, Mathilde Ramos and Patricia Sandre, were presented in a joint piano and violin recital May 2.

Matilde is a student of Sister Mary Denise, O.P., and Patricia studies under Merle Carter Frost.

Matilde, who is a pianist, played "Granada" by Albeniz; "Sonata" by Grieg; and "Danzas Espanolas" by Granados.

Patricia played the following selections on the violin: "Concerto No. 8, Opus 9" by Rode; "Liebeslied" and "Schon Rosmarin" by Kreisler; and "Midnight Bells" by Heugger-Kreisler.

S.R.O. for Senior Voice Recitalist

The music department presented Loma Rafferty, soprano, to a packed house in her senior recital, April 25. The recital was given in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a degree of bachelor of arts with a major in music.

Loma is a student of Sister M. Rose Therese, O.P. In the audience were representatives of the Rotary Club of Miami who aid in sponsoring the singer's scholarship.

For her recital, Loma sang the following selections: "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair" by Hayden; "Il Faut Partir" and "Chacun le Sait" from "The Daughter of the Regiment" by Donizetta; "Solvejg's Song" by Grieg; "Poupee Valsante" by Poldini and La Forge.

Also on her program were "What Shall He Wear?" by Rafter; "Hallelujah!" by Handel; "One Fine Day" from "Madame Butterfly" by Puccini; "Homing" by Del Riego; "The Last Song" by Rodgers; "A Memory" by Ganz; "Summer Serenade" from "Sweethearts" and "Romany Life" from "The Gypsy Fortune Teller" by Herbert.

Loma was accompanied by Mrs. Louise Wilkins.

B.C.'ers Triumph At State-Wide Sports Day

The delegation to the annual All State Sports Day at Lakeland, April 20, proudly returned home with first place in tennis taken by Yolande Roy, first place in bowling taken by Pat Mies, and third place in the swimming and diving meet taken by Mary Jean Schenuit.

Although they met defeat at the hands of Weber College in the first sport of the day, volleyball, the Barry girls went on to participate in every contest at the meet. These included badminton, golf, archery, tennis, table tennis, softball, bowling and swimming.

Despite the fact that sports predominated, an ample amount of social activity was provided by Florida Southern College, the hostess college, with a carnival Friday night and box lunch Saturday noon. These gave the sportswomen an opportunity to become acquainted with the representatives of Rollins, Weber, and Florida Southern Colleges, St. Petersburg Junior College, Florida State and the Universities of Miami, Florida, Tampa and Stetson, which participated in the state-wide Sports Day.

The trip home combined a sight-seeing tour with stop overs at Bok Tower and Cypress Gardens.

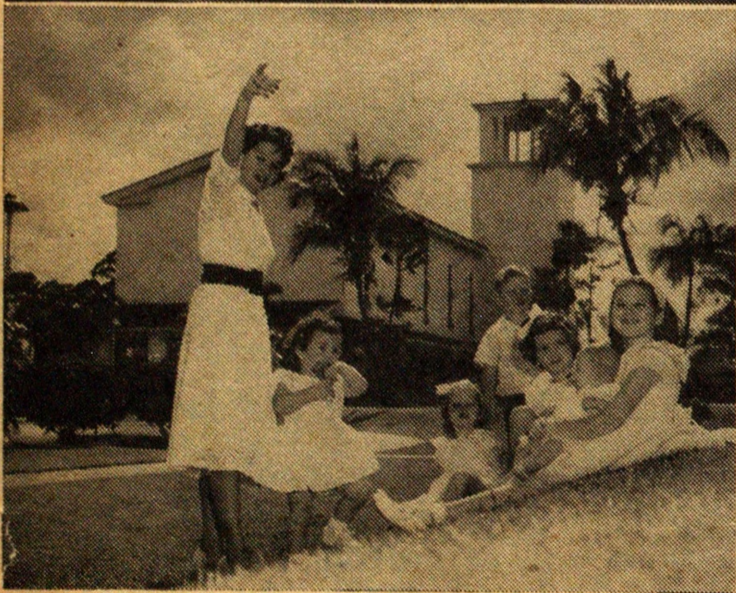

Dr. W. H. Walker Stresses Need of Pan-Am Unity

Dr. W. H. Walker, LL.D., was the featured speaker at the Pan-American celebration, April 14. Stressing the need for international relationship as a stronghold against totalitarianism, Dr. Walker made clear the importance of the proposed Inter-American Cultural and Trade Center in Miami.

Dr. Walker, president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, is chairman of the steering committee for the center. He was introduced by Mr. Lucian L. Renuart, past president of Optimists' International, who acted as chairman of the program.

Preceding the convocation in Stella Matutina lounge, the Tara Singers presented two English folksongs: "My Johnny Was a Shoemaker," arranged by Deems Taylor, and "Oh Dear, What Can the Matter Be," with arrangement by Wayne Howorth.

The day was opened with High Mass celebrated by the Right Reverend Monsignor William Barry in Cor Jesu Chapel. The Mass followed an academic procession with the Latin-American students carrying the 21 flags of the Pan-American Republics.

Working in the bacteriology lab are: Raquel Gatzambide, foreground; Pat Genter, and Frances Guzman.

The Most Reverend Archbishop Joseph P. Hurley made an official visit to Barry in February to address the student body on the Holy Year.

Seeing another world through the lens of the microscope are science students Patricia Oak, Shirley Jean Wright and Memorie Porter.

Looking over the campus on Baby Day are alumna Laura Bentz McCaughan and her six children.

Alumna Pat Koenig Pope, with her children Bobby and Lorraine, pay a visit to the projection room and learn a little about geography.

Music Department To Conduct Summer Kindergarden

Have you a little piano prodigy in your home? Sister Mary Denise, O.P., will conduct a music kindergarden for pre-school children ages 4-6, June 25-August 1.

This school will feature a music course designed to discover and bring out musical talent in very young children. The course will cover six weeks, five days a week, Monday through Friday, Saturday being reserved for private piano lessons for those who desire them. Assisting Sister Denise will be Isabelle Williams, senior music major.

The idea of a music kindergarden was worked out and tested during the past year by Sister Mary Denise and the piano methods class. It was so successful that in just a few weeks the children were able to give an interesting piano recital of small pieces as well as demonstrations of rhythmical activity and singing games.

A classroom will be outfitted with two spinet pianos, victrola, small tables and chairs and other classroom equipment designed for children.

Classes will begin at 9 a. m. and will consist of short periods of music appreciation, singing, rhythmical games, theory for little children, piano, and rhythm band rehearsals. A recess and supervised play period will take place at 10:15. Dismissal will be at 11 a. m.

Also at 11:00 a. m. a class for children, ages 7-10, will be held. Children who have not had music lessons and those who have already begun lessons are welcome in this class. They will have the same course of study but in a more accelerated plan, according to talent and development.

Enrollment in these classes will be limited.

Honor Societies Induct Seniors

Eight seniors were received into honor societies Sunday, April 8.

Sister M. Dorothy, O.P., dean, presided at the induction of Angela Clark, Rolande Gonthier and Ruth Marcus into Kappa Gamma Pi honor society.

Sister M. Agnes Cecile, assisted by Mrs. W. J. Duby (Betty Jo Saunders, '49), officiated at the induction of Mary Alice Droze, Louise F. Friedheim, Betty Kerby and Shirley Jean Wright into the Beta Zeta Chapter of Delta Epsilon Sigma, national Catholic honor society.

Mrs. Marie Weaver Dent and all the above mentioned seniors were received into Lambda Sigma, campus honor society.

Mrs. A. J. True, Jr., chairman of the induction ceremonies, addressed the honor students and reminded

Waas Family Donates Bishop's Ring To Barry

The late Most Rev. Bishop Patrick Barry's ring was presented to Barry College on April 23 by Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Waas, 1816 Avondale Circle, Jacksonville.

The ring, an amethyst surrounded by twelve diamonds set in yellow engraved gold, was designed by Mrs. Waas and given to Bishop Barry on the occasion of his consecration.

After the Bishop's death the ring was returned to the Waas family who have now given it to Barry College of which Bishop Barry was founder.

The faculty of Barry hopes to obtain other relics of the late Bishop's, such as his mitre and the satin slippers which he used when pontificating at Solemn High Mass. A Bishop Barry memorial case for the library is planned in which these relics will be displayed.

Music Head Gives Benefit Recital

Sister Mary Denise, O.P., pianist-composer, and head of the music department at Barry College, was assisted by three artist-pupils, Isabelle Williams, Patricia Karch and Patricia Heldman, in an April concert here.

The concert was a benefit affair for the purchase of a concert grand piano for the music department.

Sister played Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue"; "Ave Maria" by Schubert; and on the organ, her own arrangement of "Improvisation on an Irish Tune."

"Concerto in A Minor, Allegro Moderato" by Grieg was played by Sister Denise and Isabelle Williams. Sister accompanied Patricia Karch in "Etude Opus 10, No. 3" by Chopin, and with Patricia Heldman she played "Clair de Lune" by Debussy, at the organ.

"Die Fiorelle" by Schubert; "Silver Cascades" by Niemann and "Etude Opus 25, No. 11" were played by Isabelle Williams.

The program was concluded with a satire on American music, "All American Suite" by Chambers. This composition was played by Sister Denise and Isabelle Williams.

Graduates . . .

of Bachelor of Science with major in Education will be Mrs. Katie Burton Ledwell, Miami, and Mrs. Gladys Valley, Miami. The degree of Bachelor of Arts with major in Sociology will be conferred on Annette Huckans, Sanford, North Carolina.

them of the responsibilities accompanying the honors conferred upon them. She also discussed the many opportunities for service in civic functions open to each girl in her respective home town.

The contrast between costumes of the 17th and 20th centuries are shown here by Anita Politano and Mary Emma Grady, who will model in the home economics costume style show, May 20.

Fashion Through The Ages Theme Of Style Show

"Costumes through the ages" is the theme of a fashion show being sponsored by the Home Economics department May 20. The show will follow a garden party to honor graduates and their parents.

Under the direction of Sister M. Eulalia, O.P., the fashions shown will be modeled by members of the student body with a student narrator.

Modern dresses of original design will be modeled by their creators, Jeanne Pfister, Patricia Patterson, Patricia Aulson and Elena Hernandez, members of the pattern design class.

The show will illustrate costumes from the earliest times in Egypt to the present day dress. Clothing exemplifying the modern design will be worn by Mary Emma Grady, Louisa Bonnelly, Marilyn Bebout, Patricia Darling, Louise Brittingham, Margaret Schabacher and Carmen Goland, who made their own dresses.

Featured fashions will be those of Egypt, Rome, the Middle Ages, the Gay Nineties and the present. Approximately thirty numbers will be shown with a finale composed of all the fashions in the show.

The first semester history of costume class planned the details of the show.

First Open House Concludes Home and Family Life Week

An open house on Sunday, April 29, provided a fitting conclusion to Home and Family Life week which was observed at Barry April 22-29.

The open house was the first to be held since the college opened in 1940 and was the answer to many requests by residents of Miami to view features which have been added since. Foremost among the new additions are the science wing, the library, opened last fall and Stella Matutina residence hall, which welcomed resident students for the first time in September, 1946.

Students conducted guests on tours of campus and explained the Home and Family Life week exhibits in the various departments.

Members of the Barry College Auxiliary, with Mrs. John M. Koenig, president, assisted in receiving guests who arrived from early in the morning until late in the afternoon.

The sharing of the program of studies and activities at Barry was an aim of Home and Family Life week that the open house realized. Other goals were to emphasize the importance of training for the home as an intrinsic part of all curricula offered at Barry, and to afford an opportunity for the various departments to demonstrate how each contributes to this major objective.

Home and Family Life week was opened with "Baby Day" on Sunday, April 22. Many of the alumnae of Barry returned to campus with their husbands and children. Officers of the Alumnae Association and the faculty formed a receiving line to welcome visitors.

During the week all departments and campus organizations cooperated in meeting the objectives of the observance with exhibits, class emphasis on home and family life, and programs of the clubs and other groups.

The foods class, under the direction of Betty Demirgian and Clara Center, displayed the food requirements for the family. This exhibit employed the nutritional yardstick on the seven basic food groups.

The interior decoration class exhibited floor plans and methods of furnishing the home.

The table service and foods class under the direction of Grace Clark, Margaret Schabacher and Nancy Schmitz were in charge of tea at the open house.

An exhibit emphasizing the importance of plants and plant products to the home and family was prepared by the biology class.

The sophomore Christian morality class prepared a panel discussion: "Moral Rearmament Begins in the Home."

At the general Sodality meeting, the three committees prepared skits on the moral rearmament movement. The Catholic Truth committee, headed by Teresa Weedon, prepared a skit on "The Christophers in the Home." Matilda Ramos and Georgianne Travnikar took part.

Under the direction of Loma Rafferty, chairman, Our Lady's committee presented a skit on "Mass Everyday During May." Girls in the skit were Teresita Rivera, Ada Casares, Jo June Knight, Monica Wall and Marilyn Bebout. Mary Lou Hogan and Rosemarie Hoag made posters on Mary in the home.

"Extreme Unction" was the skit given by the Eucharistic committee. Marianne Harris is chairman. Participating in the skit were Geraldine Jablonski, Mary Emma Grady, Shirley Hodge and Yolande Roy. This committee prepared a panel discussion on the sacraments in their relationship to home life. Isabelle Williams was chairman. On the panel were Louise Friedheim, Jane Mullane, Patricia Scholz and Marcia Meehan. The Eucharistic committee also provided a display of materials for the enrichment of liturgical life in the home.

The library exhibit, prepared by Eileen Meyers, featured Mind the Baby by Mary Perkins, children's books, choice recipe books, and a selection of reading for the family library.

Mystery Explained By Instigator

The mystery that has gripped the campus over the meaning of the expression "to go like two-forty" has finally been solved. It was generally dimly understood that the phrase meant "to go fast," and this is correct. The phrase comes from the track, and was coined (if anything can truthfully be said to be coined in such places) from the sulky races, in which the fastest time for a mile was exactly "two minutes and forty seconds."

The Very Reverend Richard T. A. Murphy, O.P.

Rockets and Moons Motifs for Water Ballet

"Music in the Night" was the theme of the seventh annual water ballet held at Penafort Pool on April 26. The music theme was carried out both in the music and stage settings of rockets and moons.

"When Day Is Done" was performed by Joanne Fitzgerald, Joan Gennett, Louise Friedheim, Norma La Boe, Marcia Wirges, Barbara Nicewanger, Rose Marie Marco, and was led by Beatrice Hagner.

Patricia Patterson was leader for "Dancing in the Dark," assisted by Marie Dudley, Nancy Schmitz, Betty Kerby, Cilia Vallejo, Mary Lou Clark, Loretta Witkins, Janet Albuquerque, Norma Martinez, and Gloria Bezanilla.

"Star Dust" was executed by leader Helen Scholz, Constance Senger, Joan Rambour, Patricia Warner, Janet McGowan, and Ruth Finlen.

"The Night Raiders" featured a bevy of cowboys led by Bernice Gagnon and was complemented by a red-clad Indian, Mary Lou Hogan.

Grace Clark led Shirley Hodge, Patricia Mies, Jane Mullane, Carol Bick, and Patricia Digman in "Silver Moon."

"Ballet High" featured the clowns in a "diving" exhibition.

Patricia Aulson led Yolande Roy, Mary Jean Schenuit, Marcia Meehan, Adelyn Steir and Jane Bidwill in "Daybreak Serenade."

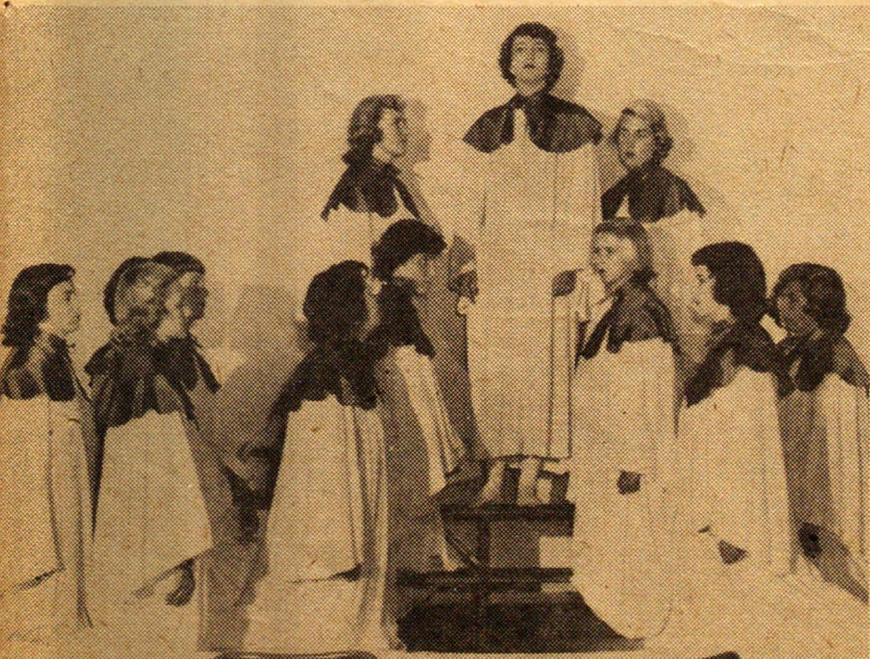

Concluding the music sequences was "Night and Day," sung by Loma Rafferty and Kathleen Mullen with the entire cast participating.

Complementing the music sequences was a diving exhibition by Rosemarie Windbiel and Mary Jean Schenuit.

Mary Lou and Grace Clark performed a rhythmical duet.

Margaret Conlon was mistress of ceremonies, Dora Martinez had charge of tickets and programs, Patricia Patterson, Joanne Ollman, and Virginia Mitchell handled publicity, Arlene Ambrose designed the posters, and Patricia Digman was the director for the stage settings.

The ballet was co-ordinated by Miss Margaret Husson, athletic director.

Home Ec Majors Try Theories in Practice House

For a month the home economics majors "played house" under real conditions. Patricia Aulson, Jeanne Pfister, Louise Friedheim, and Rosemarie Windbiel lived in the practice house where they planned and prepared all meals and assumed all the responsibilities of hostesses.

The practice house had been artistically redecorated before the future home-makers moved in. The living room was decorated with attractive tapestry furniture and a forest green fringe rug making it perfect for entertaining or studying. The back of the long living room featured a section of bamboo furniture which made the room colorful and informal.

The dining room furnishings were planned by the girls who have all had a course in interior decorating. The maple dining room furniture was accented by a white plush rug and draperies which had a chartreuse background and dark brown and forest green leaf pattern.

Amid such beautiful surroundings the girls felt particularly disposed to perform tasks which included acting as hostesses, keeping house, cooking and assisting with the cooking.

Thimble Theater

Mary Frances Guzman, B.S.

Mary Francis' pupils will certainly have a fair share of science in their curriculum since that field of study holds a fascination for this senior. Calm and methodical, she approaches every undertaking with the assurance that it will be a success.

Helen Hines, A.B.

A newcomer in her senior year, Helen has fitted right into the pattern of her class. English is her major and although the future is uncertain, she hopes to make use of her study of the classics in the choice of a career.

Patricia Karch, A.B.

Pat's outlook is a bright one with the prospects of teaching her major, music, and her June wedding to Dan Stricker of Sidney, Ohio. Always quiet but never retiring, she meets every situation with propriety.

Betty Kerby, A.B.

Capable student body leader and teacher to be, Betty has contributed untiringly to campus activities. Caution and the desire to excel are noticed not only in the famous golf game but in scholastic achievement as well. Her popularity can be attributed to a genuine friendliness that is irresistible.

Clare Ann Klein, B.S.

Small but capable, especially in the field of home economics, her career will center around this work. Clare has contributed to all class

Baby Day Guests

Sister Mary Jane, O.P., shows off the beauties of the college to some of the children who were the honored guests on Baby Day.

Each of the girls took over each of the duties for a week at a time. The kitchen, with its modern conveniences, made the duties a pleasure.

Once each week the girls entertained at dinner, which was always a drossy affair, and to climax the four weeks of practice housekeeping, the home economics students were hostesses at an open house for the faculty and students.

activities with a willingness that made her presence valuable.

Ruth Marcus, A.B.

Is there anyone who does not know that Ruth is a history major? Just ask the freshmen. This energetic and enthusiastic senior plans to go on for her Master's degree and from her past scholastic achievements, one can be sure that Ruth will be outstanding in whatever she undertakes.

Virginia Mitchell, A.B.

Virginia is known, and rightly so, as the songbird of the senior class. Always personable, Ginny will be remembered for her cooperation and willingness to give freely of her talents.

Mary Patricia O'Hara, B.S.

Pat O'Hara is the ray of sunshine that penetrates all senior activities and classes. An exceptional student, but what is more important, an exceptional person, Pat contributes freely of talent and experience whenever the occasion arises.

Patricia Patterson, B.S.

Poised, cool, and the perfect exponent of her major, home economics, Pat's home will reflect her careful planning and common sense. She is always willing to lend assistance whenever needed.

Jean Pfister, B.S.

Jean is the senior with enough common sense to supply the entire class. This enviable quality lends itself to success in scholastic as well as social endeavor. She hopes to build a career on the firm foundation of a home economics major.

Loma Rafferty, A.B.

Loma, gifted in so many ways, with a lovely singing voice and the ability to make music live for her listeners, has been an incentive to her classmates. She plans to teach and next year will be working with pre-school children in the field of music.

Stephanie Swiniuch, A.B.

Art is Stephanie's major and is carried over into all her activities.

Freshmen Present All-American Skit

"A Patriotic Review" was the theme of the skit presented by the Class of '54 on freshman class day, April 17. Red, white and blue were featured from the opening number of the program to the finale.

Master of ceremonies was Uncle Sam, portrayed by Mary Emma Grady who announced the program. A military drill featuring the "Spirit of '76," presented by Marie Dudley, Janet McGowan and Jane Bidwill, opened the skit.

The Gettysburg address of Abraham Lincoln followed, given by Yolande Roy, with freshmen in white robes providing a background of musical accompaniment.

A nautical tap-dance done by a group in sailor suits was led by Pat Digman.

"The Boston Tea Party" was interpreted by Barbara Nicewanger, Margie Von Allmen and Ingrid Jarval.

Appropriate costumes of the Revolutionary era were worn during the minuet.

All the freshmen joined in the finale in which Arlene Ambrose portrayed the Statue of Liberty and Kathleen Mullen sang "God Bless America."

Following the class song, written by Katherine Hodson, '54, the freshmen entertained with a party.

Her work may be noted in the murals which will be in the science reading room after graduation. Stephanie hopes to teach art in the elementary schools and her enthusiasm and pleasing manner insure her success.

Wilton Treadwell, B.S.

Student, teacher, and homemaker, Mrs. Treadwell manages all three remarkably well. In spite of her busy schedule, Mrs. Treadwell finds time actively to participate in her class' activities. Her smile and friendly manner will be remembered.

Cilia Vallejo, A.B.

An interesting combination of Latin Americanism and southern charm make this senior one of the most personable young ladies on campus. Cilia is always in the midst of things and always coming out on top.

Joyce Weller, A.B.
Between running around in her convertible and dreaming up new cliches, Joyce works hard at her English major. She is rightly renowned as the girl who can clean up her room in the shortest length of time possible.

Rose Marie Windbiel, B.S.

Rose is the girl with the big eyes, welcome laugh and cheerful disposition. She is indispensable in any class situation. Her classmates find a sensible interior despite sometimes uncontrollable bursts of humor.

Shirley Jean Wright, B.S.

"Doc" is not all seriousness. In fact, she has a very wholesome sense of humor. A whiz at bridge, capable decorator, Shirley has the ability to do any job and do it well.

Alumnae to Induct '51 Graduates At May Meeting

The induction of seniors into the alumnae association will be the main business of the May 22 meeting. The election of officers will also be held.

Wedding bells are very much in evidence in this month's news. Catherine Ficks, '48, married Robert Faith on April 11 in Phoenix, Arizona. Julia Ahlman and Palmer Rose were married April 7 at St. Patrick's Church, Miami Beach.

Flavia Florez, ex '50, was married to Walter L. Preston, May 12, in Sacred Heart Church, Tampa. Lya Garcia, '52, was married to Joseph A. Lascola on April 7. Patricia Fashinger was married to Thomas Turk in Cleveland on May 5.

Rita Udry will be married to Thomas Moss on May 23, at the Church of the Little Flower, Coral Gables. News comes to us of Loretta Galardi's engagement to Robert Tamburi of Pittsburgh.

From Chicago comes news of the arrival of a daughter, Marcia, for Patricia Morris Pryor, and another baby for Kitty McGoldrick Jones. Virginia Johnson, '50, was blessed with a baby girl on April 30. Lt. Worley is serving in Korea.

Veronica Barry is home from the hospital after three and one-half months, but expects to be in a cast until August. Ronnie is grateful for the letters she has received and would appreciate more. She is employed by the American Mutual Insurance Company in the stenographic department.

Pat O'Keefe Raus' husband has been called back into the service.

Lillian Renuart Haskin and Angela Lowell are both living in Alaska.

Recent visitors to the Barry campus were Patricia Fashinger Turk, Eleanor Neary Haub, Colleen Breslin Nutt, Josefina Caballero with her husband and son, Gerry Mudd McLaren, Collette Currier Walsh, Vivian O'Neill, Claire Butterfield, Molly Lorms, Nancy Hanna, Alice Depenbrock, Joyce Taylor, Jan Dexter Gaiser and Eumabel Martinez.

Nancy Hanna, '50, entered the postulate of the Dominican sisters at Adrian in February.

Music Week Marked By Daily Programs

National Music Week was observed May 6-May 13 with the students having many opportunities to hear and therefore better appreciate good music.

A missa cantata, sung by the Cor Jesu choir, concluded Music Week on Sunday, May 13. The High Mass featured original compositions by Patricia Karch and Isabelle Williams, both students of Sister Mary Denise, O.P. The musical settings for the Ordinary of the Mass were composed by Patricia and Isabelle wrote music for "Panis Angelicus" which was sung at the Offertory.

To open Music Week, the piano-methods class, taught by Isabelle Williams, Patricia Karch, Patricia Heldman and Eva Marie Mitchell, presented their pupils in recital on May 6. The recital demonstrated what kindergarten pupils, four to six years of age, could accomplish in a six weeks course. The recital was given in Stella Matutina social hall.

A program was presented Tuesday, May 8, by the students of Sister M. Rose Therese's music appreciation class who prepared a discussion on program music, illustrated by Kathrine Hodson at the piano.
