BARRY COLLEGE, MIAMI, FLORIDA, NOVEMBER 15, 1952

Nominated to Collegiate WHO'S WHO are seniors Dorothy Newkerk, Patricia Oak, and Virginia Waters. Also nominated is Betty Demirgian (not nictured).

Faculty Nominates Four Seniors To 1952-53 College Who's Who Honored in the 1952 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges are four seniors: Betty Demirgian, Dorothy Newkerk, Patricia Oak, and Virginia Waters.

The faculty nominated these students on the basis of outstanding leadership, scholarship, participation in extra-curricular activities, citizenship, service, and promise of future usefulness.

Betty Demirgian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Demirgian, Miami, is vice-president of the senior class.

A dietetics major and a four-year scholarship holder. Betty previously held the offices of secretary of the sophomore class, 1950-51; vice president of the junior class, 1951-52; secretary of the Home Economics club, 1951-52; vice president of the Florida club, 1951-52, and president of the Athletic Association, 1951-52.

Betty is president of the Florida club, a member of Lambda Sigma campus honor society, and is pledged to Delta Epsilon Sigma, national Catholic honor society.

Dorothy Newkerk is the wife of I. Norton Newkerk, Jr., teacher of chemistry and mathematics at Miami Jackson high school.

An English major, she has headed the Dean's list for the last four semesters in her class. Dorothy was editor of the Angelicus last year, president of the Press club, day student representative, and a member of the Student Council. She is a member of Lambda Sigma campus honor society and is pledged to Delta Epsilon Sigma, national Catholic honor society.

Patricia Oak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oak of Bayonne, New Jersey, is the president of the student body.

Majoring in chemistry, Patricia has held either a class or student body office for four years. She was treasurer of the freshman class, 1949-50; president of the sophomore class, 1950-51, and president of the junior class, 1951-52.

Patricia is a member of Lambda Sigma campus honor society and is pledged to Delta Epsilon Sigma, national Catholic honor society.

Virginia Waters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Waters of Nashville, Tennessee, is treasurer of the senior class. An English major, she is a veteran of World War II, having served in the Women's Army Corps. Virginia is an advanced journalism student, a staff writer on the Angelicus and a former member of the college board of Mademoiselle magazine.

Queen Elisa Begins Reign at Ball Tonight

Knights in shining armor will guard the throne of Elisa Cartaña tonight, when all her subjects will gather to witness her coronation.

Elisa, of Havana, Cuba, will be crowned queen by Dr. Nicholas Tierney.

Medieval atmosphere will pervade the ballroom, with a touch of modernity added by palms and fresh garden flowers. Elisa's prince will be Alphonse N. Pauksta, of Miami, her fiance.

The maids who will share the queen's glory and attend her are Patricia Oak, Sheila Brown, Patricia Sandre, and Beatrice Washbish. Maria Lloveras will carry the crown.

The royal gown will be silk shantung, with a billowing skirt and rhinestone-studded bodice. Rhinestone-encrusted lace will cover the queen's shoulders.

They Liked Ike, Too!

As Barry college goes, so goes the nation. Oh, well, it sounds good anyway. Not even a combination of George Gallup, Thomas Trot and Eddie Cantor could have made a more accurate prediction than did our campus poll.

Election results show that Eisenhower captured 83.2 per cent of the nation's electoral votes. In the poll sponsored by the Angelicus October 9, the General received 79.1 per cent of the votes cast.

Mother of Alumnae Returns to College

Do people forget what they have learned in college after a number of years?

Mrs. Aspassia Mitchell, with a Bachelor of Letters degree from Licee college, Cairo, Egypt, is trying to convince herself that she hasn't forgotten, even though she believes she has.

When Mrs. Mitchell registered for college last September, she became a freshman for the second time in her life. Her daughters, Mrs. Aris Maheras (Eva Mitchell, '50), and Mrs. Philip Barbos (Sandra Mitchell, ex '51), and her 10-year-old son, George, can truthfully say, "Mother is a freshman."

Daughter Sandra laughingly issued an ultimatum that she won't sign her mother's report card unless Mrs. Mitchell makes the Dean's list.

There's another reason why Mrs. Mitchell is returning to college. With her daughters married, and her young son in school, Mrs. Mitchell was lonesome and bored. She feels that she won't have time to be bored in school.

Faculty To Attend NCEA, Southern Asso. Meetings

Sister Mary Edmund, O.P., vice president, and Sister M. Dorothy, O.P., dean, will attend the annual meeting of the Southern Regional Unit of the National Catholic Educational Association in Memphis, November 29.

They will also be present for the meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools November 30 through December 4.

College Honors Founders In Traditional Ceremony

Players to Bow In Theatre Fair

Two comedies, "Thanks Awfully" by Jean Lee Latham, and "Girls Must Talk" by Paul T. Gantt, will be presented by the Playhouse in a pre-Thanksgiving Theater Fair. So that the day students may invite their parents to the performance, the plays will be enacted in the evening.

The Fair will take place November 19th.

Emma Grady and Shirley Hodge will direct "Thanks Awfully." The leading roles have been assigned to Marie Landis and Barbara Kaul, and the supporting cast will include Rosemary Brennan, Joan Connery, Rosemary Jordan, Lois Matia, Colleen Meade, Barbara Millman, Grace Maury, Kay Pritchard, Patricia O'-Connor, Mary Lou Tierney, Marcia Walters and Frances Rost.

The second comedy will be under the direction of Francyne Simard and Caroline Childs. Elizabeth Sellars, Joyce Snowden, Mary Ann Schmitz and Carla Sangmeister will compose the cast of this portion of the Playhouse program.

Louise Dorn will create the makeup for the players.

Bishop Barry Eulogized At Anniversary Mass

The annual memorial Mass for Bishop Patrick Barry was celebrated in St. Augustine on October 30.

The Reverend Cyril Burke, O.P., Sister Mary Edmund, O.P., and Sister Mary Alice, O.P., represented the faculty of Barry college.

Nancy Schmitz, senior, and Mary Emma Grady, junior, were also present.

The eulogy on Bishop Barry was given by the Right Reverend Monsignor John J. Mullins, V.F., pastor, St. Paul's Parish, St. Petersburg.

While in St. Augustine the sisters and students visited the mausoleum where Bishop Barry is interred.

Two of Four Founders To Be Present

Barry students will observe the thirteenth annual Founders' Day on November 17 with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William Barry present to celebrate the High Mass.

The ceremonies honor the four founders of the college: Bishop Patrick Barry, for whom the college is named; Mother Mary Gerald, O.P., president; Msgr. William Barry and Mr. John G. Thompson.

Two of the founders will be present at the traditional formal breakfast, Msgr. Barry and Mr. John G. Thompson

Mother Mary Gerald will be unable to attend.

Also present at the speaker's table will be Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Edward T. Kelley, Mrs. Mary Lautner, president of the Barry College Ladies Auxiliary; and Miss Eileen Meyers, president of the Barry College Alumnae Association.

Academically gowned students will enter the chapel to the processional music of the "Founders' Day Hymn" by Sister Mary Paul, O.P., and Sister Mary Denise, O.P., in memory of the late Most Rev. Bishop Patrick Barry.

The offertory music for the mass will be "Laudate Dominum" by Roff, and the recessional, "Patroness of America."

Patricia Oak will preside as chairman and mistress of ceremonies at the program following mass. The focal point of discussion at the breakfast will be the escutcheons associated with Barry college and its founders.

Student speakers include Mary Margaret Reiss who will speak on "The Dominican Escutcheon." The subject of "The Escutcheon of Bishop Barry" will be discussed by Jean Gannon. Betty Demirgian will conclude this part of the program with an address on "The Barry College Escutcheon."

Adding a musical touch to the program, the Tara Singers will present "Thanks Be To God," "Songs My Mother Taught Me," and "Stouthearted Men."

The string quartet will conclude the musical program with "Casa Blanca" by Morton Gould.

Campus Queen Elisa Cantaña who will preside tonight with her court: Sheila Brown, Patricia Oak, Maria Lloveras, Beatrice Washbish and Patricia Sandre.

Old Man Time Is Marching On; Why Not Keep In Step With Him?

TIME waits for no man—it goes on and on. It is going to keep on going too, so this is the time to get out your schedule and budget your time. "We can find time for what we want to do," is a wise saying that fits well here.

There are many spiritual and cultural activities that should be on your list.

Saint Thomas said, "Beginnings are difficult." And most certainly they are, but we must begin somewhere, so why not at the beginning of the day? Mass and Communion are good for a spiritual start.

"My day is more orderly when I go to Mass," according to one student.

As for the cultural side of your program, there are a variety of things available according to individual tastes: concerts, plays, sightseeing, and sports. However, before you decide on any special interests, ask yourself, "What are the things that should come from my college days?"

Beginning college is a new adventure, but just because you have already been in college for a while doesn't mean you have ended an adventure. You have merely gotten started on your way. There are many fields of interest which are going to demand some of your time, so choose wisely.

Now that you have a start, take your schedule and fill in the rest of the blanks. Remember, time waits for no man, or college girl either.

Wonder what would happen if different magazines were to attempt writing up the same story. Take something like "The Three Bears," for instance . . .

MODERN SCREEN

One of the most exciting stories to be brought to the screen, Metro-Goldwyn-Schmertz's latest picture "Mr. Grizzly Meets the Blonde" has promises of becoming the Oscar-snatcher of the year. Starring Edward G. Robinson and Gloria Swanson in the title roles, it presents an unbelievably different type of detective story.

The plot revolves around the adventures of Brenda Moon, girl reporter, who is known as "Goldie." Suspense heightens as she finds herself in the midst of a family of bears. Mrs. Grizzly is portrayed by Dale Evans and Larry Olivier takes the part of little Bruno. Don't miss this spine-tingling thrill-

SCIENCE DIGEST

Extraordinary habits in the animal world have been discovered by Miss Goldellen Lockhart, well-known specialist on the euctaros americanis of the family Ursidae. Miss Lockhart has been studying a family of bears who have been living in an abandoned cottage in the woods.

She has found that they not only use dishes for their food, sit in chairs, and sleep in beds, but they also have the power of speech, very uncommon in animals.

READERS DIGEST (Condensed from Quick)

Les Trois Ours, a new novel by Robert Northey, is the story of a blonde's adventures with three bears who have escaped from a nearby zoo.

BETTER HOMES AND GARDENS

In our recent study of unusual American homes, one we think most unique is a home inhabited by three bears. The furniture was all handmade by Father Bear, who cleverly patterned it after the size of himself, his wife, and little Baby Bear.

This furniture includes a specialsized bed, chair, and porridge bowl for each of the Bears. In front of the cozy hearth is a fine people-skin rug, a souvenir of Father Bear's latest hunting trip. Good luck to the Bears in their new home!

TIME

A woman spy and a family of trained bears made headlines this week. The FBI has disclosed that notorious Miss I. M. Surreptitious, alias "Goldilocks," has been captured. In intercepting code messages dispatched to other members of the spy ring, the authorities were able to trace her to an apparently abandoned house in the woods. There they took her into custody after a battle with three bears whom Miss Surreptitious had found living in the house and had trained to carry out her orders.

The new tone poem, The Three Bears, by Robert Southey in collaboration with Dimitri Shostakovitch, is unexcelled for exquisiteness. It tells in music the story of a family of bears and their adventures in the forest with a golden-haired child.

The father bear is depicted by a contra bassoon, the mother bear by a Jew's harp, and the baby bear by a ukelele. The child is symbolized by a snare drum. It is one of the most remarkable of recent contributions to modern music, and it shows true perception.

Perhaps it would be best to stop here. This is becoming unbearable.

Don't Ring Dem Bells

November 4, 1952

To the Editor:

In order to make campus life more agreeable, I suggest that the bells stop ringing after the last class Friday afternoon and start ringing again on Monday morning at six o'clock.

Bells have always been an intolerable nuisance, especially when you are trying to catch up on some sleep during the weekend. Also, the life here would be more homelike, as one would have not to depend on bells for everything.

I am sure that 99% of the students own watches and there are enough clocks around campus for the ones that don't. Therefore, I do not think it would be very much of a problem to attend church and meals on time. If this could be accomplished, school would be just "heaven."

Sincerely yours, SILVIA NUNEZ

The Intelligentsia

Student: Please, what are all the books in the library used for? Editor: It is the common opinion that most of the books induce the God of Sleep.

Student: What does the word "old-timer" mean?

Editor: The student who remembers her freshman days.

Student: I noticed there were zillions of little bugs around the college a couple of weeks ago. Someone (probably a Rebel) told me they were mosquitoes. What are mosquitoes? P.S. I'm a Yankee.

Editor: Well, Yankee, these mosquitoes which invaded the campus were really the secret Ram Jets that the Marines at Opa-Locka are testing. They are equipped with 50 millimeter guns.

This month Thimble Theater honors a girl from each class: Patricia Moran, sophomore; Lee Ann Brocker, freshman; Dorothy Newkerk, senior; and Isabel Dempsey, junior.

Thimble Theatre

By MARCIA WALTERS

THAT cute little girl seen on campus last week who answers to the name of Cathie is not a new freshman. Instead, she is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Newkerk, senior. Mrs. Newkerk, better known as Dott, came to Barry two years ago to complete a college education interrupted by the sacred institution of marriage. Mr. Newkerk is a professor of mathematics and science in Miami.

At Barry, Dott is an English major, with minors in biology and German. After graduation she plans to do further work for her master's degree in English, and after that, to become a college professor.

Dott is a member of the Cecilian club, Choric Cameos, was editor of the ANGELICUS last year, and is a member of Lambda Sigma campus here received.

She is pledged to Delta Epsilon Sigma, National Honor Society.

Born in Port Huron, Michigan, Dott has a past as colorful as her hair. She has lived in 47 of the 48 states and Mexico. She was graduated from St. Joseph's Academy in Adrian, Michigan.

Dorothy enjoys creative writing, and she is now working on a novel, begun this summer.

N OUR various trips through the social hall, one is bound—at one time or other—to meet Margaret Moran at her favorite pastime, practicing scales. Better known to us all as Pat, this soprano's tastes include all ranges of music from classical to popular with the exception of be bop.

Pat, a sophomore from Greenfield, Massachusetts, is majoring in education and minoring in biology, history, and Spanish. She plans to teach the primary grades after graduation.

In extra-curricular activities, Pat is a member of the Sodality, Cecilian club, and the Tara Singers.

Pat was graduated from Greenfield high school in her home town. Summers, in addition to singing solos at Holy Trinity church in Greenfield, Pat also teaches catechism to the children attending public schools.

Besides singing and teaching, Pat likes to ride and swim.

THE MOST hoarse voice in the junior class belongs to Isabel "Terry" Dempsey the morning after a University of Miami game. An avid football fan, five foot-two, eyes of blue, Terry can always be relied upon for a generous response whether in the stands or on the campus of Barry.

A transfer from St. Elizabeth's college, Convent Station, New Jersey, Terry is majoring in dietetics and minoring in chemistry and English. With dietetics under her belt, she plans to use this information in a hospital after graduation.

A member of the Sodality, Terry is secretary of the Eucharistic committee, and is also secretary of the junior class. In addition, both the Home Economics club and Tara Singers number Terry as a member.

In her home town of New Rochelle, New York, Terry was graduated from Ursuline Academy.

Terry is one of the very few girls at Barry who doesn't object to the persistant rains. In addition to wearing her bright red raincoat, Terry enjoys swimming, knitting, and telephone duty.

WHETHER presiding over the class, criticizing the latest play, or sitting in on a hand of cards, Lee Ann Brocker is very much a part of the freshman class. Her duties as pro tem chairman, however, do not keep Lee Ann from her first love—writing. With a literary career in mind, Lee Ann is majoring in English and minoring in journalism.

On campus, Lee Ann is secretary-treasurer of the Press club and a member of the Choric Cameos and the Playhouse.

A graduate of Naperville high school, Naperville, Illinois, Lee Ann became a member of the National Honor Society in her junior year. Her achievements extended outside the classroom in the duty of assistant organist at Sts. Peter and Paul church in Naperville.

Again, with her future in mind, Lee Ann is writing a series of short stories about the Arabian desert.

Florida Club Awaits Silver Springs Trek

Planning for their approaching visit to Silver Springs is the prime concern of all Florida club members.

The beauty of the springs was vividly impressed on the members at the club's last meeting when Sister M. Ann Charles, O.P., showed colored slides of this tropical paradise. Facts about Silver Springs were presented in a talk by Elaine Franks.

Mary Agnes Hanzo was elected treasurer during the business meeting.

Cecilian Club officers were elected at a meeting held October 21. Those elected were: Joanne Knoch, president; Norma Lopez, secretary; Pat Sandre, treasurer; Marguerite Earnes, librarian; Jane Newton, publicity chairman.

Any resemblance to children is purely coincidental when Education 143 meets at 4:00 on Mondays and Thursdays. Those peals of laughter from the vicinity of the tennis courts belong to Barryites, public school teachers, and nuns from the local parochial schools who are taking "Teaching Physical Education in the Elementary School." Anyone for Dodge Ball?

The reputation of the Choric Cameos is spreading far and near. Two merry Barrys were stopped on a downtown street by two ladies who commented on the program presented by the Cameos. Orchids!

Maris Stella can possibly be called the most progressive dormitory on campus since the advent of its Christmas tree! A bit early perhaps, but strains of "Deck the Hall with Boughs of Holly" can be heard from Oasis No. 107.

On the subject of Christmas . . . Have you ordered your Christmas cards from the Mission Council yet? They were designed by Sister M. Joannes, and are lovely.

Could it be ironic or something that the very car in which the sisters were riding home from the Parrot Jungle on the Science club field trip had a flat tire? Anyhoo, they transferred to another vehicle (car, that is) leaving the gals, who soon were rescued by a southern gentleman with a car jack.

The French now spray the Commies at political demonstrations with a penetrating blue dye which is impossible to wash off, thus barring them from any position in the government. Maybe we should take such steps to identify the gals who smoke during "off hours" on the Torch Porch?

Don't let that penetrating light coming from certain individuals on campus blind you! It's only the glow of their engagement rings. Some of the lucky Barryites who are planning "to trek up the aisle" to paraphrase a bit, are: Sylvia Moore, Marianne Harris, Kathleen Malone, and Elisa Cartana.

Nothing bourgeois about freshman between-meal snacks-they seem to be doing all right with caviar, no less, anchovies, and various and sundry other delicacies. Are you in charge of hors d'oeuvres, Helen?

Brand new records are flowing into the Miami area as they never have before. Formerly, Miami had to be content to receive the recorded music two or three weeks behind the rest of the country.

Record shops and radio stations explained this by saying that advance record copies must be mailed and that big companies merely wait to send several records down at once. This practice had not gone unnoticed by music lovers, who protested long and loudly.

One of these top new records is "Trying," a swinging yet sad little number which has Ella Fitzgerald doing the biggest selling version, with the Hilltoppers running a very close second.

"You Belong To Me" is still selling, with the sales tug-of-war going on between Jo Stafford and Patti Page. The Mills Brothers are making a strong commercial come-back.

Those classical lovers who like the difficult-piece-well-done will be very pleased with the new long playing record of Dvorak's "Piano Concerto, Op. 33." Done by F. Wuehrer and the Vienna Symphony Orchestra, it features R. Moralt as the piano solo-

Cosmos to Initiate College Service File

The Cosmos are starting a filing system for the information of all the college activities. The file will record the names of all services to the college, a description, and price.

For example, if a club is looking for an orchestra for a dance, this file may be consulted for the name of the orchestra, place of contact, number of players and instruments, and cost.

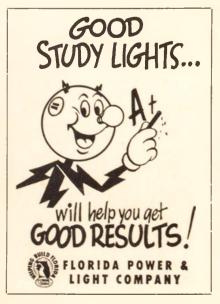

Since this is such a worth-while plan, any information a campus organization has on any service used will be greatly appreciated.

The club is also planning a bike hike and weiner roast to be held November 22 at Haulover Beach, according to Winifred Kine, president.
