

Graduate School To Open in June 1954

New Program Result Of Summer Survey

The administration of the college made official last Tuesday the news that a graduate school will be inaugurated in June of this year.

Although the college is still only 13 years old, repeated requests have been made over the years for graduate study. To face the problem accurately, the administration made a survey last summer to determine the number of people now taking post graduate work on the campus who would be interested in pursuing graduate studies here. The results were more indicative of a need for such offerings than the faculty had realized.

Since the summer a faculty committee has been studying the ramifications of such a program and their findings and recommendations were presented to the Administrative Board of the college at the annual meeting, Sunday, February 14, with Mother Mary Gerald, O.P., president of the college, presiding.

The survey conducted last summer asked students why they preferred taking advanced studies at Barry, and the most prominent reasons given were: (1) convenience of location; (2) quality of instruction given; (3) personal interest of the instructors; and (4) peaceful and inviting atmosphere of the campus. The teaching sisters who numbered about 40 per cent of the summer-school attendance added that they felt a need to study under Catholic direction and that the living conditions on the campus were exceptionally convenient.

Varied Courses Offered

The first graduate work will be offered at the summer session of 1954 and will include courses dealing with elementary and secondary curriculum, school administration, school supervision, methods of teaching English, mathematics, and social studies in the high school, and a course in methodology of educational research required for all students planning to take either a Master's of Arts or Master of Science degree with education as a major.

Graduate work in history and English will also be offered particularly for those students desiring to minor in those fields while majoring in education. As the need arises, these and other major fields of graduate study will be developed.

Library Science Approved

At the annual board meeting, the addition of courses in library science also was approved. These courses will be offered in the summer session and will continue to be given each semester. The intention is not to train professional librarians to the attainment of a library science degree, but to offer a well developed program of courses fulfilling the requirements for state certifications.

Further Needs Studied

Since the scope of a graduate school is so extensive, the administration is currently studying faculty additions, budgeting, and library expansion in anticipation of needs in the additional fields.

Students Cited for Achievements At Semi-Annual Convocation

"God and yourself are the primary agents working harmoniously for your achievements," said the Reverend Louis M. O'Leary, O.P., as he opened the semi-annual Faculty Convocation held February 19.

During the ceremonies, students were cited for outstanding scholarship, cooperation, and leadership potentialities and achievements.

Father O'Leary, O.P., presented seniors Georgann Travnikar, Mary Emma Grady, Shirley Hodge, Isabel Dempsey, Catherine Wodtke, Janet McGowan, and Sonja Simberg to Sister Mary Edmund, O.P., vice-president of the college, who awarded them certificates of membership in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Elected to the Delta Epsilon Sigma, national scholastic honor society, are: Sonja Simberg, Shirley Hodge, Janet McGowan, and Catherine Wodtke.

Fledged to Kappa Gamma Pi, national honor and activity society of Catholic Women's colleges, are seniors Mary Emma Grady, Isabel Dempsey, and Georgann Travnikar.

Having held membership in Lambda Sigma, campus honor society these senior are pledged to life membership: Mary Emma Grady, Marta Gonzalez, Georgann Travnikar, Isabel Dempsey, Sonja Simberg, Shirley Hodge, Catherine Wodtke, Janet McGowan, Esther Lopez, and Mary Eisinger.

Pledged to Lambda Sigma last semester and meriting certificates of continued membership are Donna Lynskey and Joyce Snowden; certificates of continued membership were awarded to Margaret Coste, Mary Kurz, Winifred Kine, Shirley Davis, Penelope Estabrook, Cecile Roussell, and Clarice Moyle.

New pledges this semester to the campus honor society include: Olga Parks, Jane Surface, Mary Lou Harding, Georganna Doyle, Elizabeth Gowland, Mary Rose Riordan, and Gabriella Padelt.

Physical Education Major New Curriculum Addition

Starting in September, students may choose physical education as a major. Addition of the new major to the current fields of study being offered was made at the February 14 meeting of the college officers of administration.

The need for offering such a major has been studied thoroughly by the college faculty committee on curriculum for the past five years. Realizing the dire need for women physical education teachers, the administration felt it timely for the opening of such a program.

Miss Margaret Husson, campus physical education instructor for the past eight years, has been studying Florida certification requirements for the field. Presently, she is attending the meeting of the Southern Association of Physical Education teachers in New Orleans.

Students enrolled as freshmen are eligible to enter the new field of study which requires a total of

Senior Takes Scholastic Honors; Leads Dean's List Four Semesters

Mrs. Sonja Simberg, a senior, placed highest on the Dean's List this semester with a 3.0 average. This marks the fourth consecutive semester that Mrs. Simberg has held this top honor.

The education director of the Florida State Board of Nurse Registration and Nursing Education, GENEVA M. CORDER, will be on campus March 1-2. Her stay at Barry is part of her week-long plan to visit nurse-training institutions in the area.

The agenda for Mrs. Corder's visit will include a tour of the campus, a conference with the curriculum board to study the nursing curriculum, and a tour of clinical facilities at St. Francis hospital.

Sister Helen Margaret, O.P., director of the nursing school, plans to present Mrs. Corder to the students enrolled in the nursing school.

The list is announced each semester and contains names of students obtaining an average of 2.0 or higher. It is confined to one particular semester and is not based on the student's over-all average.

Carmen Martinez leads the junior class with her 2.74 average while Elaine Franks placed first in the sophomore class with a 2.78 average and freshman Peggy Ralph topped her class with a 2.94.

Seniors on the Dean's list are: Sonja Simberg, 3.00; Mary Eisinger, 2.74; Georgann Travnikar, 2.73; Esther Lopez, 2.71; Patricia Mies, 2.69; Barbara Kuzmick, 2.64; Ruth Pugh, 2.63; Shirley Hodge, 2.62; Mary Emma Grady, 2.60; Isabel Dempsey, 2.56; Loretta McClellan, 2.54; Patricia Huml, 2.50; Elizabeth Ashton, 2.38; Mary Agnes Hanzo, 2.35; Janet McGowan, 2.24; Suzanne Winterer, 2.18; Winona Henneby,

Playhouse Presents Off-Campus Play For Lenten Season

The Playhouse will move into Dade County Auditorium, April 11, to present its first off-campus production, "Pilate's Daughter". Members of the group and students interested in drama are currently studying scripts in preparation for the coming try-outs. Sister Grace Alma, O.P., head of the drama department, will direct the play.

One of the many facets of the legends pertaining to the court of Pontius Pilate is that which concerns the Roman women of the period. Tradition has it that Pilate's wife, his daughter, and the ladies of that palace in Jerusalem, were deeply and tangibly affected by the Passion of Christ. Pilate's daughter, influenced by a rose, did much to help the rising sect of Christianity.

The drama has been a perennial favorite in the United States for several seasons and should please Miami lovers of good drama. Proceeds from the production will go toward the erection of the Little Theatre section of the new Fine Arts building.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP IN LAMBDA SIGMA, campus honor society, has been awarded to nine seniors who, by virtue of their outstanding scholarship and extra-curricular activities, have merited the honor. In the usual order are: Janet McGowan, Marta Gonzalez, Mary Eisinger, Esther Lopez, Georgann Travnikar, Isabel Dempsey, Mary Emma Grady, Shirley Hodge and Catherine Wodtke. The awards were made at the semi-annual Faculty Convocation on February 19.

Penelope Estabrook Performs in Concert For Piano and Organ

For the first in its spring recital series, the music department presents Miss Penelope Estabrook, sophomore music major, in a piano and organ recital on March 11.

Assisted at the piano by Mary Palda and Shirley Davis, Miss Estabrook's concert will include several favorites: Schubert's "Concerto in A Minor," "Dance of the Orange Tarts" and "Russian Dance" by Tschaikowsky, and "LeCygne" by Camille Saint Saens.

In Part II of the program Miss Estabrook will play "Blue Danube" by Strauss, "La Comparsita" by Rodriguez, "My Heart Ever Faithful" by Bach, Chopin's "Polonaise in A Flat," Mendelssohn's "Rondo Capriccioso," Schubert's "Impromptu Op. 90," and Addinsell's "Warsaw Concerto."

Other spring recitals scheduled are those of Marguerite Barnes on March 21, Ruth Mahoney on March 28, and Carmen Camejo on April 8.

Follow Christ During Lent

Spring is a time of fecundity, of new life and vigor. All nature reminds us of this. The word LENT originally meant nothing more than SPRING SEASON and at this time of the year our Holy Mother the Church reminds us to renew our spiritual life which is vastly more important than our natural life.

She likewise tells us the means for obtaining this spiritual fruitfulness and strength, namely, mortification. For most people the word mortification connotes a certain amount of repugnance. However, it may be something good for us, just as bitter medicine which a sick person takes with a certain amount of repugnance is good for him.

We call ourselves Christians, meaning we are Christlike. Let us consider the Exemplar and the reproductions. Christ's entire life, from the Incarnation to the Resurrection, was a mission of love. His life is the greatest story of love and sacrifice known to man. We on the other hand lead, for the most part, lives of love, but it is selflove; sacrifice is unknown to many of us.

We call ourselves Christlike but we are immersed in the worldly spirit of selflove and selfindulgence. To be Christlike is very simple and smart: do what He distinctly tells us to do; and mortify ourselves with regard to the things He forbids us to do. Keep the Ten Commandments. If we do this, much of the natural tension will be eliminated from our daily lives. Our consciences will be at rest. Our daily duties will seem less burdensome, because they are performed lovingly and generously. Therefrom we shall enjoy a sense of security and accomplishment.

If we follow Christ's injunctions during Lent and continue the practice throughout our lives, we shall soon come to a realization that the word Lent loses its repugnance and really means Love Eliminates Natural Tension.

Make Every Month C.P.M.

"The Catholic who lacks a taste for his Catholic periodicals betrays a sad defect in his Catholic upbringing." This statement was made by Bishop Thomas K. Gorman, Coadjutor of the Dallas-Fort Worth area and episcopal chairman of the Press Department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, officially opening Catholic Press Month (February).

This year's observance is concerned with the two facets that (1) YOU need Catholic reading material for the good of your spirit, and (2) the Catholic Press needs YOUR support for existence.

Every other one of you is probably thinking, "But I get enough Catholic doctrine by going to Mass, Benediction, attending religion class and Sodality meetings. Certainly, those are all part of being a good Catholic, but not all.

In the Barry college library are such periodicals as: The Catholic World, The Catholic Digest, Catholic Action, and Dominicana. You'll find also The Florida Catholic and other newspapers. However, when I polled 17 girls last week, not one had read a recent article in the Catholic World. You are not being fair to yourself as intellectual, cultured, Catholic women!

It is true we have many wonderful magazines on the market—more than ever before. But can you honestly expect to get the full picture of Catholic affairs from secular publications?

That is the exact purpose of the Catholic Press—that Catholics everywhere should be vitally interested in what is going on in their world.

It's up to you as disciples of Christ to support the writings of your faith. Don't let them stagnate and grow dusty on the shelves. The next time you have a spare minute in the library, pick up a Catholic periodical and see what it has to say about current events.

You'll no doubt find that the Catholic Press is doing its job—Are you doing yours?

She Does Now---Do You?

Once upon a time there was a little girl who never knew when there was an assembly, never was on time for a class or club meeting, didn't know when classes were shortened, and missed out completely on getting her picture made for the yearbook.

This little girl wandered about in a complete daze for one semester until one day someone threw some light in her darkened world—DO YOU READ THE BULLETIN BOARD?

St. Augustine Shrine Draws Barry Pilgrims

For weeks students have sung the hymn to Our Lady of La Leche composed by Sister M. Denise, O.P., former professor of music at the college. And on March 7, the feast of St. Thomas Aquinas, a band of Marian pilgrims will travel from Barry college to St. Augustine and there pay homage to Our Lady at her first shrine in the United States.

Prior to the pilgrimage, the Sodality is sponsoring an essay contest on "What the Marian Year Means to Me, a College Woman." The winner will be awarded an all-expense-paid trip to the shrine.

This Florida Shrine of Our Lady, designated as a Marian Year shrine by Archbishop Joseph P. Hurley of St. Augustine, was founded 150 years before the Declaration of Independence was signed. Long neglected by historians, long overlooked by millions of tourists to the Sunshine State, the shrine at the ancient Mission of Nombre de Dios is rapidly becoming known, not only by Catholics but by all Americans interested in the historical beginnings of their country.

Visiting the shrine, where the picture of Our Blessed Lady nursing the Infant Jesus is venerated should renew a real devotion to the Virgin Mary, ever the Patroness of Christian Motherhood, the Queen of Family Life.

Here Catholics may gain the plenary indulgence which the Holy Father has granted during the Marian Year. Already the diocesan papers have carried articles noting pilgrimages to the shrine by groups from the Archdioceses of Brooklyn and Detroit.

Students Congregate As President Leaves

Students lined the mall February 16 to wave good-bye to Mother Mary Gerald, O.P., president of the college, who left for the Motherhouse in Adrian, Michigan.

Before her departure, Mother addressed the students, challenging them to listen to the invitation of Almighty God, who perchance might be calling them into the arena of religious life.

During her stay Mother Gerald presided at the February 14 meeting of the Administrative Board when plans for new graduate school were completed.

Thimble Theatre

By KATHLEEN HACKETT

THEY'RE all globetrotters, in a sense, these students who have lived in places from Korea to Yugoslavia and from Canada to Colombia. As a secretary to the Foreign Operations Administration, Mary Rose Riordan went first to Korea in 1949, where she remained until war broke out and she had to be evacuated.

In 1950, Mary Rose went to Japan, and in 1951 to Turkey where she met Barry graduate Eileen Costello '50, who told her of the college. Later Mary Rose heard of the new nursing program and decided to work for her R.N. and a degree here.

She was born in New York City and went to school in Mount Vernon, New York. She lived in Miami a year before she joined the Foreign Operations and her travels have taken her to Egypt, India, the Phillipines, Ireland, Scotland, England, France, the Holy Land, and Italy.

When asked why she has traveled about the world yet hasn't seen all of the United States, she replied, "The more you travel around the world, the more you learn to appreciate the United States."

To be a doctor is the ambition of Lucia Gomez, a sophomore. Born in Cali, Colombia, she has spent most of her life in Bogota. Her first trip to North America was a visit to the Empire City; she later lived in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

This is "Lucy's" second year at B.C., and she holds membership in the Sodality, Science club, and the Athletic Association. Watching bullfights in her native Colombia ranks high in her love of sports, but at Barry she has taken lessons in tennis and horseback riding.

During the summer Lucy works in a charity hospital and takes French lessons. In addition to her interests in sports, she also enjoys stamp collecting and classical music.

"When I finish my four years at Barry," says Lucy, "I intend to go to either Johns Hopkins or St. Louis university medical school."

"Actually, I was an American citizen, but I had to wait five years after the war before the Communists would let me come to the United States to claim my inheritance," said Hilda Roguly who was born in Yugoslavia.

She will have been in this country three years on March 17 and is in her third year at Barry. She received her earlier education in Italy and Yugoslavia. When World War II started, she went to Italy. Among the languages she speaks are Italian, Serbo-Croatian, German, Russian, and English.

On campus Hilda is a member of the Florida club, Beta Kappa Kappa, and Sodality. Among her hobbies is a stamp collection, which includes stamps from all the European countries.

GIRLS OF THE MONTH ARE: Mary Rose Riordan, Lucia Gomez, Hilda Roguly, and Winona Hennebry.

Barry's prima ballerina, Winona Hennebry, is also a vagabond, having been all over the United States and parts of Canada. She plans a trip to Europe next summer.

A senior, Winona is starting her second year at Barry; she previously attended St. Mary's of Notre Dame, Indiana, and Rosary college of River Forest, Illinois. Last year she was president of the Illinois club and a member of the Athletic Association. At present she holds membership in both those organizations, the Sodality, and the Sociology club.

Winona enjoys all sports as well as ballet. She jokingly tells anyone, "To be a true artist of the dance, I recommend big feet. You don't fall so often." The chant that goes up after many programs of "We want Winona" comes from Barryites that truly appreciate the ballet.

Winona is majoring in sociology, which she practices at the local Red Cross. Her minors include history and philosophy.

The faculty and students extend assurance of their prayers and deepest sympathy to Elizabeth Frost on the death of her father, and to Patricia Reilly and Joann Rerucha on the death of their grandmother.

NEWSLINGS FROM FEBRUARY

The Student Council will present an open meeting to the student body on Wednesday, March 3. The purpose of the meeting will be to let the students see how the council works and the agenda will include regular business.

The Sociology club, headed by Sonja Simberg, recently sponsored two field trips. The group first visited the James Scott Community Agency where needy colored children are instructed in handicrafts and games under the auspices of the Red Cross. The next trip entailed a tour of the Opa-Locka Marine Base.

No need to cram for those general comprehensives with the series of educational movies the Albertus Magnus Science Club is showing. A card may be purchased for $1.25 for the entire series while admission to each picture without a card is 35 cents. Up to this time, the group has shown a scientific movie and sponsored a talk on art.

The class of 1955 made their presence known on campus February 23 when they celebrated their class day. Novelty was the word, from the silver streak worn in each class member's hair to the unusual skit which featured the gay nineties and the roaring twenties. Highlight of the skit was the old-fashioned minstrel show which featured Caroline Childs as the interlocutor.

"The latest project of the Home Economics club is the making of clothing for needy colored children next month," announced Donna Lynskey, president. The catering service of the group is branching out into big business; their latest included providing refreshments for the Valentine Card Party.

Movies aren't the only place where the three-dimensional craze has hit! Art 39, a class in ceramics and metalcraft, entails materials of that type. Sister M. Jeannine, O.P., who conducts the class, reports, "It is good training because of the visual aspect."

Newcomers Augment Merry Barry Ranks

The commencement of second semester classes has caused a crescendo in the student enrollment and additions to the roll call, of many classes. Faculty and student body both extend a great big welcome to the newcomers.

Many of them are commuters from the Greater Miami area. Joan Colletti, freshman music major is a transfer from Adelphi college. Grace Halsema, a junior and graduate nurse, is entering the supplementary program school.

As a transfer from the University of Florida, Rebecca "Penny" Carr, a second-semester freshman, lives on campus during the week and spends week-ends at her Fort Lauderdale home.

Transfer students from the University of Miami are Sally Lou Falbo and Norma Jeannette Keith, both freshmen and secretarial science majors. Mrs. Mabel Whorton transferred from UF and is working for her Bachelor of Science degree.

Other local students include: Althea Lawlor who attended New Haven college and is a freshman; Alyce Reid, a freshman from Miami; Helen Bryson, a sophomore; and Jean Dawson, a junior from Fort Lauderdale who was at Barry for two years.

Working toward their degrees in education are Mrs. Carrie Heaton, a Hialeah junior, and Mrs. Betty Moffit, a senior from Miami Springs.

From the Buckeye State are Patricia Boylan, a sophomore whose home is Elyria, Ohio, and freshman Joan Saffron, of Youngstown.

Pauline Fisher has returned to join the senior class and to finish her English major along with Constance Senger, a senior art major. Shirley Marion Langere of Staten Island, New York, is working for her degree in education and is a transfer from Wagner college.

Marilee Stepan, who spent the first part of her freshman year at Marymount in Tarrytown, New York, hails from Lake Forest, Illinois, and is planning to major in sociology.

Interning Teachers End Practice Period

The administration sponsored a reunion last Tuesday night when eight intern teachers and their supervisors met for dinner in Calaroga Hall. Home Economics students made the preparations and were in charge of the serving.

After the dinner, the interns, their supervising teachers, and principals were conducted on a tour of the campus by Sister M. Dorothy, O.P., dean and head of the education department.

Mary Eisinger, Suzanne Winterer, Mary Gibson, Julianne Podesta, and Constance Baldwin completed their internship teaching at Miami Shores Elementary school where Mr. William Lang is principal. Their directing teachers were: Mrs. Mary Caster, Mrs. Kate Ledwell, Mrs. Virginia Melville, Mrs. Leona Doaks, Mrs. Helen Donnell, and Mrs. Thelma Welch.

At Miami Edison high school, Joan Rambour, Loretta McClellan, and Rosemary Geyer interned under Mrs. Grace Frain, Miss Leslie Wintzel, Mrs. Del Barrett, Mrs. Fay Lee, Mrs. Edith Jacobs, and Mr. Donald Burroughs. The principal of Miami Edison is Mr. Robert Wilson.

Having completed their nine weeks of practical experience in the teaching field, the future teachers are now filling out applications in anticipation of teaching positions. Sister Dorothy reports that many of the internees have already secured positions for next September.

Chats with Angelicus Editor

Jimmy Stewart, Personable, Sincere

By CONNEE BALDWIN

You don't have to talk to Jimmy Stewart for five minutes to realize that he doesn't act like a movie star! That sincere, wholesome quality seems to shine through no matter what role he is cost in.

This same quality certainly glows in "The Glenn Miller Story." It was a direct consequence of this role that the tall, greying star received the greatest thrill of his career.

"We opened the movie in Clarinda, Iowa, Glenn's hometown, and his mother was on hand for the preview. That was a big thrill for me—to be there with her and to see how the picture was accepted."

Although their paths almost crossed in England when both were in service, Jimmy and Miller never met.

Throughout the interview, Mr. Stewart sat perched on a table with Yukl, however, plays the actual musical "role" on the movie sound track.

The picture is in many ways a Helen Miller production as she chose Stewart to play her husband, approved the script, picked June Allyson for her counterpart, and loaned Jimmy a pair of Miller's glasses and his trombone.

When asked the ticklish question concerning who is his favorite leading lady, the star hesitated before answering, "June Allyson." He attributes this to her warmth, sincerity and proficiency as a comedienne. Looking back a few years he also named Margaret Sullivan, Jean Arthur, and Marlene Dietrich.

Jimmy Stewart's next picture is "Rear Window," a mystery written by Alfred Hitchcock. It will co-star Grace Kelly.

I have never been much on mysteries, but if this one stars the personable Mr. Stewart—I'll be there!

hands clasping his knees. His long, gangly frame was attired in a brown double breasted suit, white shirt (with button down collar) green striped tie, and brown loafers.

Regarding his biographical depiction of Miller's life, he stated, "Biographies are very difficult things to do. In this case I was assisted by Mrs. Miller who was on the set to give technical advice, and I looked at two of Glenn's old movies. I tried, however, not to mimic him too much."

Jimmy worked long and hard to prepare for his role. With Joe Yukl, noted trombonist, he mastered a professional touch with the trombone and memorized, note for note, more than a dozen Miller arrangements.

Spanish Club Slates Piñata Theme Dance

A "baile de piñata" will be sponsored by the Santa Rosa Spanish club Saturday night in the social hall from 8:00 to 12:00 p.m.

The last dance before the season of Lent, it will be based on the theme of the pinata, a Spanish American custom. Pinata is a balloon suspended from the ceiling full of candies.

Peggy Keith is president of the club and general chairman of the dance.

Raquel Rivera is heading the decoration committee for the affair while Marta Gonzalez is chairman of the refreshment committee.

Other committees are: bids, Carmen Martinez; publicity, Noemi Campos; and clean-up, Dora Martinez.

Sister M. Dorothy, O.P., left for Atlanta on February 25 to attend a special meeting of the Committee on Standards and Reports of the Higher Commission of the Southern Association of Colleges and Universities.

STUDENTS GET THE LATEST on modern music methods from Lionel Nowak as he conducts a seminar for voice, piano and music appreciation students. In the usual order are: P. Dougherty, D. Delaney, M. Price, C. Camejo, J. Coletti and M. Palda. Mr. Nowak appeared here in a recent concert.

Affable, Energetic Physical Education Instructor Active in Promoting School Spirit

By REGINA BUZOLITS

Physical Education might be a must for freshmen and sophomores but the "star athletes" of Miss Margaret Husson's classes aren't so sure they mind. Good humored and always ready with a joke, Miss Husson can tease anyone, even on a cloudy, cold, morning, into the campus pool for an invigorating swim.

Nor is it lack of energy that prompts her to conduct most of her gym classes from the sidelines, for Miss Husson is enthusiastic and valuable in other campus activities aside from her capacity as physical education instructor.

The Student Welfare Board and the Scholarship and Honor Committees claim Miss Husson's assistance when away from the athletic field, with time enough left somehow to allow her the advisory position in the Athletic Association and the Cosmos club.

"Peggy" came to Barry eight years ago after her 1943 graduation from the Sargent college of Physical Education, an affiliate of Boston university. Later she returned to the same school for graduate work toward a master's degree in recreation.

Perhaps one of the reasons she always looks happy at her work is because she hails Florida as an ideal place to live. The cheerful physical education teacher whose home is

MISS MARGARET HUSSON

Rochester, New York, invariably smiles when asked what prompted her to leave.

"Tropical climate agrees with me," is her usual answer, to which she adds, "You work better when you like where you work." In June, though, Miss Husson heads north to the Adirondack mountains where she assists the director in operating the Jeanne d'Arc Summer Camp, working as program co-ordinator and trainer of the camp's staff.

Though B.C. occupies her interests in the main, Miss Husson maintains a plethora of hobbies to keep her busy outside of school.

Friends who suggest some week-end activity are very likely to find her strongly inclined towards an all-day camping trip, or, equally as energetic, a session on the golf links.

But should you think all her energy is dispelled in the "wide open spaces," Miss Husson enjoys a stay-at-home evening as well, and frequently entertains in her own apartment near the campus. She modestly confesses she likes her own cooking, and, for an evening out, dancing is her first choice.

Those who know Peggy Husson appreciate the fact that besides her competence as Barry's physical education director, perhaps a greater asset is her genuine interest in and friendliness toward every student of the college. She has the whole-hearted regard of every girl on campus and the deep esteem of the faculty.

Pro Golf Enthusiast Heads New Program

Ross Sabel, Westview Country club professional golfer, is the newest member of the faculty. Mr. Sabel, a great teen-age golf promoter, and credited with several local television shows, is instructing three classes weekly in golf. The course offers two college credits in physical education.

Three separate classes are given throughout the week and it is expected that each student spend an additional hour on the practice green.

Also, Judy Britt, Gabriella Padelt, Joanne Long, Charlene Jurgenson, Betty Keeley, Rita Hubertz, Mary Ellen McKeeman, Mary Rose Riordan, Mary Ann Nott, Marianne Stadler, and Jackie Brisbin.

30 hours in theory and practice in physical education. Subject matter will be built around science and social studies along with the fundamentals of teaching the different sports.

Sister M. Dorothy, O.P., dean, says, "I recommend that a physical education minor be taken by students preparing to teach in the elementary schools to equip these women to direct more effectively the playground activities and to teach the physical training needed by the elementary child."

She continued, "We recognize the field of physical education to be one in which a teacher can exert great influence on the character of boys and girls. Teachers in this field should be well grounded in Christian principles of living and learning."

Interns Put on Fashion Shows; Cover Reporting Assignments

Have you seen a couple of girls frantically thumbing through the library's latest copy of Vogue, and another trudging across campus with notebook and pencil in hand?

If you have, then it's a good guess you've been watching Emma Grady and Donna Lynskey, Burdine fashion interns, and Ruth Pugh, Miami Herald intern, in action.

Emma and Donna, who put in four hours at Burdine's every week besides a conference with Sister M. Eulalia, O.P., are getting experience in their chosen field by such varied activities as helping set up fashion shows and writing descriptions of the dresses in fashion shows. Special assignments have sent Emma to the Surf Club where she helped get models ready for a Burdine's conducted fashion show held there. And Donna's first was to Burdine's on the Beach to assist in a showing of the latest bathing suits.

The girls help lay out ads, select accessories models will wear, and, according to Emma, "Do most anything there is to be done in the department. It is real experience."

Reporting special features for the Miami Herald's women's page, Ruth Pugh has gone into Seminole country for interviews with the Indians and into a sixth-grade classroom to record a children's debate on the merits of TV for the elementary school child. Her most recent assignment was reporting Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's speech at the Di Lido Hotel.

Besides doing features and occasional rewriting, Ruth regularly writes wedding, engagement, and club stories. During the time when there is nothing pressing to do, she gets an opportunity to observe the Herald's make-up and proof-reading procedures.

The college is incorporating opportunities for on-the-job training in fashion co-ordination and newspaper interning into its program for home economics and journalism students.
