

Bishop to Confer Degrees on 119

by Bernadette Foley

Twenty-sixth Annual Commencement Exercises will be held at Barry on May 30, in the auditorium at 8 p.m. Degrees will be conferred upon the graduates of the Class of 1966 by His Excellency, Bishop Coleman F. Carroll.

Dr. Edward R. Annis, who will give the graduation address, is at present Council Emissary for the World Medical Association, Past President of the World Medical Association (1963-1964), and Past President of the American Medical Association (1963-1964). Dr. Annis was educated at the University of Detroit, where he earned his Bachelor of Science degree, and at the Marquette University School of Medicine where he obtained his M.D.

Baccalaureate

The Baccalaureate Mass at 11 a.m. on May 29, will be offered in the auditorium. Academic hoods will be presented to the graduates just before Mass which will be followed by a Brunch in the Thompson Hall Dining Room for the seniors and their parents.

Rose and Candle

At the Rose and Candle ceremony Sunday evening, Carol McKirchy will speak to the body on the Symbolism of the Rose, Wendy Halambek will present the Candle Symbolism, and Peggy O'Grady will address a Tribute to the Parents. Student Council presidents, Social Board chairmen, and Senior Class presidents will exchange loyalties at this time.

After the Rose and Candle Ceremony, the juniors will give a reception for the seniors on the North and South porches of the auditorium. Later, seniors Marilyn Bogetich, Marie Jacobson, Meg Jungers and Mary Turner will present the Senior Drama Recital.

Government Approves $648,372

Barry Gains Grant To Aid Development

MSGR. WILLIAM BARRY MEMORIAL LIBRARY

Architects' drawing of proposed structure

On Founder's Day, 1965, Barry's ten million dollar development program was announced. The ten-year program has been divided into three phases, the first of which, the Msgr. William Barry Phase, is already under way.

Phase I includes plans for a two million dollar library facility capable of housing 300,000 volumes, a Graduate School building with classroom, laboratory, and office space, a new dormitory complementing Regina Mundi and Regina Caeli, a School of Social Work building, and a science building which will be an addition to the present library building. The old library building will be converted into science, language, and nursing facilities. Phase I also includes a $750,000 Scholarship Endowment and six new tennis courts to be erected in St. Dominic's Field, opposite Thompson Hall.

The total cost of Phase I is five million dollars. This amount will be realized through government grants, private donations, and the Living Endowment Fund of the Alumnae Association.

Sr. Dorothy, Barry's President, recently announced the approval of a federal grant of $648,372, for which the college had applied in October of 1965, under Title I of the Health, Education, and Welfare Facility of 1963.

"The approval of this grant is not to be accepted lightly," Sister commented in an interview. "It is a tremendous sum. The matching of one million and a half dollars is also a gigantic task. However, our government is at last realizing what other nations have recognized, namely, that this is a responsibility outside of schools themselves for the education of young people. With all citizens paying taxes, all young people should share in the opportunities offered through government support, scholarships, and facilities."

Barry's Development Office projections indicate the need for at least 3,068 private donations, varying in amounts from less than $100 to one million dollars, in order to realize the objectives of the Msgr. Barry Phase. This Phase will run until June, 1969.

In coordination with the Msgr. Barry Phase is the Senior-Alumnae Program of the Living Endowment Fund, initiated with the Class of 1965. This year, $6,850 has been pledged by 89 members of the Class of 1966 to be paid over a three-year period ending in June, 1969. This amount represents the total of individual contributions pledged by the seniors and does not include the traditional senior class gift to the college.

Phase II of the ten-year Development Program will be designed to meet the needs of projected increased student enrollment, faculty salary endowment, and funds for research. The third phase will again be a building program with plans including an art center.

Misuraca, Moore Share Angelicus Editorship

Adrienne

by Giustina Misuraca

Adrienne Moore, a sophomore English major from Fort Pierce, Florida hopes to attend a graduate school of journalism to further prepare herself for the exacting standards of news reporting after college.

Adrienne worked on the Angelicus last year as a reporter and this year as News Editor and Assistant Editor. She is also active in Alpha Theta.

As a member of the Angelicus staff, Adrienne is well aware of the "sometimes un-timeliness" of some editions.

"The staff would like the paper to be a more timely publication," said Adrienne, "and this may necessitate more editions of the paper exceeding the traditional nine. I feel that this is necessary and through the co-operation of the students and faculty, the Angelicus can be a more vital organ of our campus and the surrounding area."

Giustina

by Adrienne Moore

Giustina Misuraca, a home economics major from Detroit, Michigan, believes that in this coming year the students can plan on reading "a more alive paper."

It's the students' paper and they should enjoy it," says Gus, a nickname which she acquired here at Barry. But in order to reach this goal the students must contribute their time and talents. "This means all the students," says Gus, "not just the Angelicus reporters."

Gus has been active in Angelicus for two years, serving as the business manager last year and in the rotating position of News Editor and Assistant Editor this year. She is also a member of the Home Economics Club, Alpha Theta and the counselors program.

After graduation, Gus would like to work in the Women's Section of a newspaper, preferably her hometown paper, the Detroit Free Press.

Lambda Sigma Commends

Last year Lambda Sigma, the campus honor society, initiated the program Lambda Sigma Commends to award recognition to students exhibiting excellence in an activity on or off campus. In this program, a Lambda Sigma member may nominate for commendation any Barry student who has shown exceptional performance in some activity. The society votes on those nominated at its final meeting at the close of the spring semester.

it was so highly successful. They worked under the direction of Sr. Marie Siena.

MARGARITA

OFELITA

Lambda Sigma commends Margarita de la Llera for outstanding scholastic achievement. Margarita, a senior bio-chemistry major, has been offered three graduate assistantships, one each from the University of Miami, Fordham University, and Marquette University. Known for her exceptional work in undergraduate studies, Margarita hopes to perform as well at Marquette whose offer consists of a four-year fellowship, leading to a doctorate, with no duties attached. Margarita has studied under Sr. Marie Joannes.

Lambda Sigma commends Ofelita Schutte for her participation in the Inter-Faith Seminar at the Episcopal Center in the University of Miami. Members of the Inter-Faith Seminar engage in informal discussions on personal, philosophical, and religious questions. These student sessions are attended by a Catholic priest, a Lutheran minister, and an Episcopal priest. Ofelita, a senior English major and recipient of a graduate scholarship at the University of Miami, acts as leader and guide in the discussions.

MARY LIZ

BARBARA

Lambda Sigma has voted to commend the following four students for outstanding achievement:

Lambda Sigma commends Mary Elizabeth Ballou and Barbara Norconk for their successful co-chairmanship of the Women's Conference. Mary Liz, a senior elementary education major, and Barbara, a junior also in elementary education, organized money raising projects to raise funds for their project. They invited noted women leaders from various parts of the country to address the Conference. Although the organization of the Women's Conference was begun last year, it was through the efforts of Mary Liz and Barbara in carrying out the work that

Dooling Presides At Last SC Meeting

CARDONE TAKES OFFICE

The final meeting of the 1965-66 Student Council was held Monday, May 16, at 6 p.m., in the game room of Thompson Hall. This date and time also marked the first meeting of the 1966-67 Council.

Outgoing President Nancy Dooling presided over the first half of the meeting in which members voted to spend $300 of SC funds to help pay for the installation of intercom systems in the dorms. The systems will be used by the person on desk duty to notify residents of the arrival of visitors or dates. Another $200 was voted to the building fund.

The voting was preceded by some debate on the equity of spending SC funds for a facility which will benefit primarily resident students since the funds are derived from the whole student body, both day and dorm. It was decided, however, that the money for the building fund would benefit all students.

The amendment proposed at the last meeting regarding the requirement that future candidates for SC president must have one year

From this side of graduation

I have been dredging the teacup of my creativity, trying to think of something memorable to say. If I come up with something, you'll be the first to know. Till then, I've plunged elbow-deep into my grab bag, and tried to come up with something for everybody.

To the Administration: Keep open those shiny new lines of communication established by letting student leaders attend administration meetings. If I could make one little sally at suggestion, it would be: It's not just students who attend college, but persons.

To the Faculty: Do you ever wonder why a student has enrolled in your class?

To the Student Council: Read the pledge, and do it. Remember that there is a difference between tradition and syndrome. COMMUNICATE with everybody; if they don't have anything to say, give them something to think about. Take your positions seriously, but not yourselves.

To the Students: Are you educating yourselves? Are you being taught? Are you allowing yourselves to be trained? I don't have any sage bits of infallible advice to pass on; in fact, I could use some myself. But, cheer up, from this side of graduation, the four years sure look differently.

To My Classmates: "Look out world, here we come," and all that. Seriously, keep in touch (that's what the Alumnae Newsletter is for).

To the New Co-Editors, Adrienne and Giustina: See if you can talk somebody into letting you install a phone in the press room for business calls. Continue the campaign to secure an honor point for Angelicus staffers who really work and learn from it. Explore Angelicus' financial possibilities which might provide the means to expand its journalistic potential.

The rest is kind of personal . . .

To God: Only a very little child asks more of its parent, when it has already received so much. But, grant us your grace and your infinite aid, so that we need never reply, "I will, if I can," but "I can, if I will with God's help."

"You can take MOST of it with you."

Letter from the President

Dear Graduates,

Exam schedule is out, the dorm lights are on later each night, and the trunks are on the porches. These signs indicate that the academic year is drawing to a close and with it your fourth and final year at Barry.

If your minds can work back through a network of activities to an October assembly, you will recall that I summarized for you some very provocative papers I heard at the annual meeting of the American Council on Education. I told you at that time the year 1965-66 was slated to be tagged "the year of the student." Now as we reach the end of that year Father McNaspy in an article, "This Restless Generation" (America, May 12, 1966) assesses the year in agreement with the prediction. I think you'd enjoy and appreciate reading this article. I hope it will be read by the freshmen, sophomores, and juniors as well as by the administration and faculty. I thought of you as I read it and your readiness to face new issues.

Even though you have endeavored during the past year to bring a new view (and rightly so) to many of life's encounters, I think you'll allow that college presidents (and deans, and commencement speakers) are still expected to leave you "a few words of advice" in final messages. Mine to you concern the need for a depth of understanding.

If you don't understand the situation you are in, find out about it before you act. If you are restless and want to get into the solution of problems, first gain some understanding of the problem and of its possible solutions. Understand that others have different opinions and maybe you would do well to hear them out and maybe even change yours. Within your own student ranks there are some who are restless and impatient for change; others fearful of any decision to change the comfortable status quo, and still others, the largest group by far, come between the two extremes. Remember that older generations are likewise divided. All of these you must regard with understanding and with respect of the dignity of each and his right to his own position. Many adults — parents, teachers, pastors, leaders of all types — are struggling today with decisions of magnitude and complexity unheard of in previous years. Support them with your understanding; help them with your enthusiasm.

Like every class ahead of you, "Carry the torch forth," etc., etc. Good luck, do well what you do, and hurry back and see us all. God bless you always.

Sister M. Dorothy, O.P.
President

A Song of Joys

Excerpts From The Poem By Walt Whitman

O to make the most jubilant song!
Full of music — full of manhood, womanhood, infancy!
Full of common employments — full of grain and trees.
O the joy of my spirit — it is uncaged — it darts like lightning!

It is not enough to have this globe or a certain time,
I will have thousands of globes and all time.
O the joy of that vast elemental sympathy which only the human soul is capable of generating and emitting in steady and limitless floods.

O to realize space!
The plenteousness of all, that there are no bounds,
To emerge and be of the sky, of the sun and moon and flying clouds, as one with them.

Know'st thou the excellent joys of youth
Joys of the dear companions and of the merry word and laughing face?

Joy of the glad light-beaming day, joy of the wide-breadth'd games?
Joy of sweet music, joy of the lighted ball-room and the dancers?

Yet O my soul supreme!
Know'st thou the joys of pensive thought?
Joys of the free and lonesome heart, the tender, gloomy heart?
Joys of the solitary walk, the spirit bow'd yet proud, the suffering and the struggle?
The agnostic throes, the ecstasies, joys of the solemn musings day or night?

O while I live to be the ruler of life, not a slave,
To meet life as a powerful conqueror,
To these proud laws of the air, the water and the ground, proving my interior soul impregnable,
And nothing exterior shall ever take command of me.
O to have life henceforth a poem of new joys!

Editor's Mail Box . . .

Dear Editor:

As a member of the Student Council and a representative of a class in said assembly, I feel a personal responsibility to represent the members who elected me.

In no way am I attacking any member of the Student Council personally, but it seems to me a lesson should be learned from the vote taken on Monday, May 16, regarding a proposed amendment to the SC Constitution.

It was proposed to amend the constitution to provide that future candidates for SC President must have at least one year of previous experience as a member of the Council.

Whether or not the voting representatives of SC felt this should or should not be passed personally, their obligation was to cast their vote in accordance with the polls taken at their class meetings last month.

Any student, whether a member of the Council or not, who denies this fact is denying herself of one of America's basic rights — that of being fairly represented in an elected assembly — and she also has every right to receive this representation.

If we are to make the Student Council a functional body on campus and the heart of the students' voice, we must all remember that the word representative means just what it says — and we have every right to demand it.

SC Representative

(Editor's Note: It is obvious from the SC constitution that class representatives are the direct voice of the students they represent. This may be seen from the fact that the size of a class determines the number of representatives to which it is entitled. The matter of officers of classes is different. It would be well for the incoming council to work toward a clear definition of the duties of members, recalling the words of the SC pledge, "to faithfully represent my fellow students.")

The question may be asked: do class officers as members of SC, represent the office they hold or do they also represent the members of their class?

While working toward a definition of duties and powers, the analogy of the U.S. governmental system may be considered, comparing SC with Congress and the federal level and the four classes with the states. From this analogy it can be noted that governors of states (state treasurers, state Secretaries of State, etc.) do not sit in Congress, but rather senators and representatives.)

Orbit Arrives

Orbit, Barry's literary magazine, will make its appearance this week. The English department, the foreign language department, the art department, and the drama department have contributed to the production of the eighth volume of Orbit.

Winning entries in the Carrie Blaine Yeiser Poetry Contest, the Miami Poetry Festival, and the Jordan Davidson Poetry Contest were featured in this year's issue.

A special bonus in Orbit this year, also, is a short story and an original cover design by Barry alumna Lena Lueg, '64, who designed two previous covers for the magazine.

The Orbit staff, advised by Sr. Thomas Catherine, O.P., consists of co-editors Vivian Troilo and Kathleen Kraft, and art editor Devon Larkin.

Cassy First On "Top"

Sisters-Students Trade Jobs

Cassandra Gray, senior math major and Student Council Secretary-Treasurer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Gray of Miami, is the first Barryite to sign the Participation Form for the College's newly created Time-Out Program (TOP).

Edith Gonzalez, English major, graduate of the University of Miami, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Gonzalez of Key West, is the second.

Cassy and Edith will take time-out from their normal pursuits (and normal salary) so that two young Adrian Dominicans can take time-out from their present teaching duties to return to the classroom to complete degree requirements.

For as many Cassy's and Edith's as the program can encompass, there will be so many young Sisters returning to Barry for their degree.

The program, initiated by Sr. Robert Louise just one month ago, has aroused considerable interest among the present juniors and seniors. One student said of TOP, "I think it's a fine idea, not many of us can go to Extension or Vista or the Peace Corps; and a lot of us want to do something for the world; this looks good to me." Another commented, "I almost thought of this program myself — looking around for something I could do in return for all the blessings I have received."

Contributions that make the TOP program possible are four-fold: 1) the college will pay most of the bill and part of the teacher salary will be the salary that the Sister would have received; 2) the college will support the teacher and the Sister-student; the Sister-faculty has volunteered to help with this expense in ways which they are not telling; 3) the school receiving the Barry appointee (teacher) will provide supervisory direction and classroom assistance (noon-day lunch, also, incidentally); 4) the parish will assist in finding good housing and providing a religious and social environment. Considering these provisions, the Barry teacher will sacrifice, possibly $2,000, a generous sacrifice for which the reward also will be generous. The Sister-students will pray for the whole deal and "work like mad" to make their last college year one of the most fruitful.

The TOP program is under the direction of the Barry College Administration. Sr. Robert Louise will serve as campus promoter.

Senior Plans-A-Go-Go-Go!

by Wendy Goodridge

The Seniors are really graduating-a-go-go. Some are going to be married, some are going to travel, and some are going to school. But all have one thing in common: they will be going right from the word GO!

There are many who are planning to be married: Felicia Allocca and John Stanton, President of Biscayne College's Student Body, will be married on June 25. Felicia hopes to be a playground supervisor this summer and a first grade teacher in the fall. Joan Fox will be married in November and Judith Von Suskil on June 7.

Following their marriage on June 18, Alicia Barret and Michael Raftar will live in Puerto Rico. Donna McCarthy will also be married on June 18 and then move to Sarasota where she plans to teach. Paulette Boudrias will teach in Boise, Idaho, after her wedding in Ft. Pierce on July 9.

Tammy Giordano will teach elementary school in New Jersey, after her wedding on August 6. Nancy Dooling and her husband, after the wedding on June 4, will live in Oklahoma, where Nancy will be an Air Force wife. Kathleen Broe will be married on July 2, and Patricia Heston on December 26.

Grad School

There are many who are furthering their education and attending graduate school. Jill Lasser, going to summer school at the University of Miami, will do her graduate work in history there. Before entering the University of South Carolina on a fellowship in chemistry, Sue Watters will work this summer for the DuPont Company and travel to New Orleans, Norfolk, Virginia, and Wisconsin. Joyce LaPointe is traveling to Europe in July, with her parents, before beginning her graduate work in Biology.

Gail Hurley will relax this summer before attending the University of Dayton, Ohio, for graduate work in Philosophy on a fellowship. Mary Esther Carlin has been accepted at the University of Miami Medical School, one of 17 women in the class there.

Mrs. Evelyn McGraw is traveling with her two sons through the Appalachian area and will then pursue her studies in social work; Carole Hughes will attend the Catholic University and study to be an art librarian.

Mrs. Rita Chait will attend Barry next summer and in September will start teaching at Crestview Elementary in first grade; after summer school at the University of Miami, Joan Brinn hopes to study at New York University in their physical therapy program.

Margot Alexander will go to Marquette University in the Department of Physiology, after taking a summer math course at the University of Miami. Yvonne Daley will be working on her master's degree in Philosophy at the University of Dayton. This summer, Yvonne will be working at the Brattle Book Store (the oldest book store in the United States) in Cambridge, Mass. She will also be writing for Broadside Magazine of Boston.

Teach or Travel

Next year, Pat Dunn will be a physical education instructor in Wilbraham, Massachusetts, for Minnechary Regional High School. Before beginning her Peace Corps Training on June 25, Vee Casale will travel to Puerto Rico on June 12 to be in a friend's wedding.

Pat Stubbs will work here at Barry during the summer, and in the fall will teach in Dade County at Westview Junior High; Sherlyn Whitney will also be teaching, but at Parkway Elementary, where she will work with 8 and 9 year olds. Teaching also in Dade County are Carol Pechony and Bernadette Graziani; Bernadette is also teaching CCD this summer at Sts. Peter and Paul Parish and will get her B.S. degree in Elementary Education in the fall.

Cassandra Gray has a job for the summer at her parish rectory and also will work in the TOP program initiated by Sr. Robert Louise; Wendy Halambeck will begin instructing nursing this summer at Barry and Barbara Greytok, Arla Hecht, and Pat Phillippe will begin teaching for the Dade County School System in the fall. After spending two months of the summer in West Virginia, Lula Berg will also teach in the Dade County School System.

The sights of Washington, D.C., will be revisited this June by Judy Antinarella; Judy is also working on plans for a CCD summer school. While Betty Lynn Broome is spending her summer shelling on Sanibel Island, Nancy Vogelsang will be tutoring, and Judy Suttmiller will begin working at Miami Valley Hospital in Dayton, Ohio.

Sue Gaffney will teach home economics and general science at Thomas Jefferson High School in Miami. After traveling to Hendersonville, North Carolina this summer, Joan Branscome will begin working at Parkway Junior High in the fall.

On September 3, Edie Huff will enter the Dominican Order, after attending Barry's summer session. Ruth Naddeo will visit her family in Philadelphia this summer and then enter Burdine's Executive Development Program. Mary Turner is traveling this summer on the European Theatre Festival Tour with Sr. Marie Carol and Sr. Marie Carolyn.

Barbara Tanzola will be employed next year by the County Trust Company in Tenafly, New Jersey, and Lourdes Valdes-Cruz will study at Barry until January, help the Cubans learn English and then enter Burdine's Merchandising Department.

Missie Graham Places First In Annual Tennis Tournament

Wednesday, May 10, was the day of Barry's Second Annual Jubilee Invitational Tennis Tournament. For three hours, the girls on our tennis team, Kathy Dougherty, Sylvia Fernandez, Missie Graham, Bonnie Greene, Becky Kline, Mickey Lauth, Joanne Price, Peggy Rackstraw and Sue Sturtevant, played a fierce-but-fun play-off for the title, Miss Tennis of Barry College. Missie Graham now holds the title and Becky Kline is runner-up.

The Physical Education Department sponsors this activity to "culminate the season," according to Mrs. Zoble. The department has found this a successful venture, and is happy as Mrs. Zoble states, "for the keen interest within the school and the fine participation among the girls."

Missie, having been runner-up last year, and receiving the first place trophy this year, says she's "ready for more tennis." As runner-up this year, Becky was glad that she had "such a good match; I didn't expect to get this far."

Barry's Summer Session Offers Variety of Courses

As our thoughts turn to finals and three blessed months of summer, the administration is busy organizing the summer session here at Barry.

Registration for summer school will be on June 17 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for those who have pre-registered. Registration for unregistered students will be on June 18. Classes will be in session from June 20 through July 29, with graduation on that day at 7:30 p.m.

Several unique features characterize the session. Several excellent education courses such as Introduction to Kindergarten Education and Kindergarten Curriculum will lead toward certification in this field.

Four courses in library science are being offered; all being three unit courses. Also under the Education Department is a National Programming Institute, being offered in two parts: Program Construction, June 20 through July 8 and Program Writing Lab, July 11 through July 29. Both courses will be taught by Mr. Hartman.

A Music Fundamentals course is being offered and taught by Dr. Howard Doolin, Dade County Supervisor of Music in the Public School System.

Miss Sara Lee Stadelman will instruct interested students in a dance drama workshop.

of previous experience on the Council was defeated.

Vee Casale and Rosemary Rynne presented a report on the National Students' Association. The college administration, they reported, will not support further membership in NSA next year, however, if after a few years' waiting period it can be established that membership in NSA would be of definite benefit to Barry, then the matter may be reconsidered.

Vee and Rosemary also presented two folders containing the pro and con replies that they received from various sources consulted about NSA.

When the meeting was turned over to incoming President Carolyn Cardone, she first promised her Council that during the summer they would all receive some standard source on parliamentary procedure to study. Carolyn also made committee appointments at this time.
