

SGA Expands New Dean Appointed In Many Fields

Student Government Association has started the year with greater cooperation from the administration, commented Agnes Kettles, president.

The SGA-sponsored "Gripe-In" last year brought to light many of the problems that were the undercurrent of discontentment in the student body last year, Agnes remarked.

The open discussion which lasted for over three hours considered topics ranging from curfews to teacher evaluations.

Curfews have been changed and dress regulations are more reasonable for the student's convenience.

The campus problems routed through the dean of students office are now handled not only by the dean, but with the help of an assistant dean of students.

SGA hopes to see a year of progress that will give the individual members a greater opportunity to initiate programs for the student, Agnes said. This can be accomplished by giving committee chairmen more authority to act on a program although they will be required to report to SGA officers on all developments, Agnes reported.

This idea has already been effective with the religious affairs committee. Jo Ann Gwynn, chairman, commented that her committee, is working on a discussion program in which groups will meet informally to talk over problems they face every day.

Committees are working in every phase of campus interest; to improve the parking facilities in the dormitory area; to spark student interest in such programs as VISTA.

The service committee has titled its year program project Give, according to Maureen Redmond, treasurer to SGA. This program includes the United Fund drive and all other fund raising activities throughout the year, said Maureen.

Plans are underway for the Coronation Ball. The date of the Ball has been set for Nov. 1, according to Agnes Kettles.

SGA is inaugurating a public relations committee, that will work for better coordination between the SGA and the Student body, Agnes reported.

Agnes also stated that she hopes that this public relations committee will be able to dispel some of the apathy that exists on campus.

Sister Hellen Named as New Dean of Students

by Leila Davis

Formerly a full time instructor of chemistry at Barry, Sister Helen Duggan was designated dean of students in late May. The appointment was made by Mother Rosemary, Mother General, with the approval of Barry's president, Sister Dorothy.

Though Sister Helen was not specifically trained for her new position, she said that the appointment "was not entirely unexpected" before the official announcement.

Coming back to Barry last year after an absence of 14 years, Sister Helen found "twice as many students, and three times as many buildings." Her only complaint was that she was unable to know all the students personally.

Sister hopes to fulfill the "desire to contact more students" in her position.

Far from abandoning the academic aspect of the campus, Sister Helen continues to teach Chemistry 105 and 111. "Teaching helps to keep me in touch with the academic part of campus life," she commented.

Sister Helen receives the experience for her position from St. Dominic's College in St. Charles, Ill., where she was dean of women before returning to Barry.

All summer, while settling into her new office and responsibilities, Sister worked closely with Student Government. "I feel very strongly about SGA, and their cooperation between student and faculty. They have self-assurance, capability, and responsibility."

Sister continued to say that she is looking forward to "working with SGA for further clarification and possible extension of responsibility."

Formerly Sister Ann Charles, Sister Helen is very much in favor of the new curfew changes put into effect this year. "Young women of college age," she stated, "should have the opportunity to make mature judgements about their own lives."

A new attitude of student participation is now permeating the Barry campus, according to Sister Helen. She indicated that Sister Dorothy has asked for more complete student representation in many areas.

"In general," Sister remarked, "I am in favor of as much freedom and responsibility as the student can handle, to the good of the entire college community."

Sister Siena returns to teaching

Moving out of the Dean of Student's Office, Sister Marie Siena is returning to the department of education. Sister said that she had mixed emotions about the appointment. Any change is a shock, she commented, but it was easy to become acclimated to her new position. Sister Siena said "she gets more sleep" at night, but doesn't have as much student contact as she would like.

Sister holds the post of full time Assistant Professor of Education, which she held previous to her appointment as Dean of Students in 1966. Sister now teaches both graduate and undergraduate courses.

New Moderator Named To Paper

Miss Sandra Edelman follows Sister Bernard Michael in the post of moderator to the Angelicus. Sister announced her resignation the end of last semester.

Miss Edelman is presently working on her master degree in English as well as assisting Dr. J. P. Koreck, Jr. in an editorial capacity on the Barry Mark.

After receiving her Bachelor of Arts degree at Avila College, Kansas City, Mo., Miss Edelman held a four year position as alumni director at Avila. Among her qualifications for this new post, Miss Edelman had the experience as moderator to the Avila College newspaper, while she was assistant to the president of that college.

Miss Edelman has a strong attitude toward the purpose and operation of a college paper. She stated her views in these words:

A student newspaper should, in my opinion, be precisely that, co-operating with the administration of the college which is its source — but not editorially subordinate to it. For the Angelicus staff, this means maintaining that delicate balance between freedom of speech and journalistic responsibility. For the moderator, it means maintaining an equally delicate balance, one which skirts intrusion (in its worst form, censorship) but provides guidance when it is needed. Having met with Sister Dorothy and the editorial staff, I foresee no problems on either score.

Curfews for all resident students have been changed.

According to the student handbook, the hours which students should return to the residence house are as follows: for freshmen — Sunday through Thursday, 9:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday, without a male escort 12 a.m., with a male escort, 1 a.m.; sophomore curfew is 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and the same as freshmen for Friday and Saturday.

Junior curfew is 11 p.m. during the week and 12 a.m. without a male escort and 2 a.m. with a male escort.

Seniors must be back in the residence houses by 12 a.m. during the week and 2 a.m. both nights on the weekend.

Over night permissions require written permission from the parents and a written invitation from the hostess and must be approved by the dean of students office. Permissions can be obtained through the house mother on week-ends.

Dr. Lopez to Open The Carroll Lectures

Dr. Robert S. Lopez, a specialist in Italian and Byzantine history, will open the Coleman F. Carroll Lecture Series, October 12 in Monsignor William Barry Memorial Library.

The title of the lecture is The Three Ages of the Italian Renaissance.

Dr. Lopez was born in Genoa, Italy, son of Sabitino Lopez, a well-known playwright. A member of the Yale faculty since 1946, Dr. Lopez was named to the Durfee professorship, one of the most distinguished chairs in the Yale History Department, in 1961.

He received his Lt. D. degree from the University of Milan in 1932; his Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin in 1942; and an honorary H.L.D. in 1964 from the Hebrew Union College.

Dr. Lopez received a senior Fellowship of the National Foundation for the Humanities in 1967-68. He is a Fellow of the Medieval Academy of America and of several learned European societies.

He is the director of the international Yale Research Center for the study of medieval towns, and served as president of the Society for Italian Historical Studies from 1965-68. This year he was elected a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Full-Time Nurse Available on Campus

Barry now has a resident nurse. Miss Dorothy Bryan, R.N., a graduate of Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, Md.

Previous to coming to Barry, Miss Bryan worked in the outpatient clinic at Jackson Memorial Hospital, Miami.

Linda Fritts, senior nursing student who worked in the infirmary last year, will relieve Miss Bryan every other week-end plus one day a week.

The nurse will be open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m., 1:30 to 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Saturday and Sunday the clinic will be open 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Senior Directs 'Blithe Spirit'

The drama department will present Noel Coward's Blithe Spirit in the Little Theater Oct. 17-19.

The play will be directed by Monica Sullivan, senior drama major.

Blithe Spirit is a comedy dealing with spiritualism and the "world beyond". It involves a man who remarried after the death of his first wife, and is haunted by her ghost. His second wife becomes jealous. A plot to kill him results only in the death of his second wife and he has two ghost-wives in the house.

This is a musical comedy that should be of interest to women, said Sister Marie Carol, head of speech and drama.

The drama department is initiating a system by which a student can purchase a season ticket for $2. This will be a pass to all student productions in the school year. Individual tickets are 50 cents.

Frosh Are Not All From New York

by Mary Kollmeyer

So, you thought all the freshmen were from New York, huh? Well, a look at the "vital statistics" of the class of '73 say otherwise!

Actually, only 14% of the freshmen are from New York and New Jersey. According to Admissions office, from the 1289 in the entire student body, 185 freshman students are enrolled for the Fall semester at Barry. Of these, 117 are residents and 68 are day students.

Florida claims 101 of the freshmen. The rest are from various sections of the continent, including Dorothy Namatka from Hawaii and Susan Gartan from Mexico.

Among the 16 foreign students of the freshman class are 5 from

College Expands Faculty

Nearly every department has added new members to the faculty this year. Many teachers are here on loan from other area colleges in an attempt to cut down on rising college costs.

Language Department

Sister Bernadette Pelland is a new addition to the language department. A French instructor, Sister comes to Barry from Siena Heights College in Adrian, Mich. This past year, however, Sister Bernadette continued her graduate studies in French at the University of Montreal. Sister attended Barry as an undergraduate before entering the convent.

Mrs. Lourdes Cowgill is now a full time instructor in Spanish. Mrs. Cowgill received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Spanish at Barry, and was awarded a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for graduate study in Spanish. Mrs. Cowgill completed her Master's degree at Bryn Mawr College, as well as continuing her studies toward a Ph.D. at that college.

Mrs. Cowgill is presently preparing the text of her Doctorate for publication.

Mrs. Margaret Ortega, who was a part time instructor in Spanish a few years ago, returned to Barry to take over one section of the elementary program again.

Mlle. Rose Imar from Nice, France is a graduate assistant who is helping French students formally in the lower biennium courses with an emphasis on pronunciation and intonation. Informally, Mlle. Imar leads group conversations in French. This is done outside of class time. Meetings for this purpose are scheduled for 6:15 p.m. Monday and Tuesday in Weber Lounge.

Sociology

The Sociology department has borrowed Dr. Arthur J. Fochrenbach from the School of Social Work at Barry. Dr. Fachrenbach is presently teaching a course in Social Welfare as a social institution.

Puerto Rico, 3 from the Bahamas, B.W.I., and 3 from Panama. Maureen Fleming, a math major, comes to Barry from the Netherlands Antilles. Other foreign students are from the Dominican Republic and Jamaica.

Freshman girls on regional scholarships are Brizeida Boza, Barbara McCormick, Mary Anne Nelson, Margaret Romero, and Kathleen Young.

The most popular major with the class so far is Nursing with 32 girls, twenty-five registered with English as their majors. Seventeen students are majoring in biology and the same number in sociology.

The class of '73 is spoken of as "one of the biggest yet" among students. Though it is larger than last year's freshman enrollment of 155, it does not quite match the 225 girls who registered in 1964.

English

Dr. Frederick Seely is among the new members of the English department and is now teaching English literature and Shakespeare.

The English department also has two new graduate assistants in Mrs. Cynthia Clark and Miss Susan McCarthy.

Mrs. Clark received her BA at Barry in June and is conducting a course in introduction to literary forms.

Miss McCarthy completed her Bachelor of Arts in June at the University of Miami and is also teaching an introduction to literary forms.

History

Sister Ann Bernard Goeddeke is new to the history department. Sister received her Bachelor Degree from Catholic University in Puerto Rico, and taught summer courses at Barry this year.

Sister Ann Bernard has traveled in Europe and has taken courses at Oxford University in England. Sister was principal at Tampa Catholic high school and is a member of the history honor society, Phi Alpha Theta.

Dr. Chester Handleman who is teaching a course in political geography is on loan to Barry from Broward Junior College.

College Engages Campus Psychiatrist

Barry administrators have "recognized the fact that students come from varied backgrounds, . . . and college can be a frightening challenge to many of them."

This is how Dr. Arthur Stillman, resident psychiatrist to Barry, explained the reasons he was asked to be available for interviews with the students.

Dr. Stillman explained that self doubts and the demands of college can be overpowering to young people. What a psychiatrist attempts to do, said Dr. Stillman, is help the student understand what the basis of his problem really is. "Sometimes, just discussing a problem openly can help a person to see the possible solutions," Dr. Stillman stated.

Dr. Stillman commented that helping a student feel understood

Barry Organizes Club for Fathers

There is a new organization on campus. It is a little different than those that have already become familiar to the students. This organization is not made up of students, but of fathers.

An invitation has been extended to all male parents and male legal guardians to join the association.

The main objective of the group, according to Dr. J. P. Korcek, assistant to the president, is to "foster a closer relationship between the fathers and the faculty."

The organization also hopes to interest fathers in student scholastic, spiritual and social affairs, and to assure an education for the daughters whose parents are deceased. The group is attempting to give the member fathers a social bond as well as assist the college in maintaining the best possible education.

Dues are $15 per year. These dues include the tuition assurance plan, which guarantee the student payment of tuition costs should anything happen to the parent.

New officers for the organization are: Mr. James A. Brennan, president; Mr. George Coury, executive vice-president; Mr. John Lenihan, treasurer; and Mr. William O'Sullivan, Secretary.

can make him function better in the new situation of college.

This generation realize their problems are willing to accept expert help in facing them, and to work at finding solutions, said Dr. Stillman.

Dr. Stillman commented that he likes working with young adults, and finds their problems a fascinating challenge. Not that the problems are new, he said, but they are presented in the light of new consequences.

"We are living in an age of anxiety," said Dr. Stillman, "that makes demands on young people sooner than any other generation has to face them."

A college education gives a student the experience of interpersonal relationships, said Dr. Stillman. The new emphasis on a rounded education over that which was centered on booklearning has developed a generation better prepared to deal with life's problems, commented Dr. Stillman. "I feel that separation from family that forces you to manage yourself is very good," the doctor said.

Dr. Stillman will be available on campus for appointments Tuesday and Thursday mornings. Appointments can be made through the campus nurse.

Tennis Courts Nearing Completion

Five new tennis courts are under construction at the present time and should be completed by the first week of October, according to Mrs. Neil Miller, head of physical education.

Originally six courts were planned on the 103rd St. side of the campus. However, difficulties developed since one of the proposed courts would have been over two drainpipes that may later have to be torn up. The sixth court was therefore eliminated, said Mrs. Miller.

Tennis classes will be scheduled at the Miami Shores Tennis Club, 9701 Park Drive, until the courts on campus are ready for use.

Mrs. Miller also stated that she hopes to "get to work" on Barry Field after the tennis courts are completed.

New System For Sports Initiated

Intramural sports will be played under a new system this year, according to Mrs. Neil Miller, head of physical education.

A faculty advisor from the physical education department will be appointed to organize and coach the teams for the tournament.

Following the intramural competition, tryouts will be held to form an interscholastic team and games will be scheduled with other college teams, said Mrs. Miller.

Tournaments will be conducted in coordination with the Recreation Athletic Association and a student from the RAA will be in charge of coordination for each sport, according to Pat Amore, president of the RAA.

Volleyball Tournament

Practices for the volleyball tournament have already begun. These practices are called "Open Hours" and are planned to give students an opportunity to have fun as well as improve their skill, explained Mrs. Miller.

Luise Campana is the student in charge of the volleyball tournament and Mrs. Miller is the faculty advisor for the Sept. 23 and 25 event. The time of the tournament is set for 4 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 23 and Thursday, Sept. 25.

The RAA is also sponsoring an intramural swim meet that will be conducted on the same system. The meet is scheduled for Oct. 6. A swim team will meet Mondays and Wednesdays from 3-4 p.m. Meets will begin as soon as possible, said Mrs. Miller.

Sister Marie Carol of the drama department, talks casually with Ralph Renick of channel 4 news, at a reception for the Ramsey Lewis Trio in the Red Room.

Ramsey Lewis Trio

Audience Asks For Encore

A standing ovation from a standing room only audience resulted when the Ramsey Lewis Trio gave a concert presented by the Barry College Culture Series. Together with Cleveland Eaton, bassist, and Maurice White, drummer, the "Gentleman of Jazz" played his music — "sometimes blue, sometimes cool, but always swinging and straight from the heart," as one critic said.

The trio opened the concert with "Satin Doll," followed by their own interpretation of Michel Legrand's "Watch What Happens." In one number, the keyboard was just not long enough for Lewis who, carried away with the music, played up the side, over the top and down the outside of the piano to end the arpeggio.

The fast-tempoed pieces had the audience nodding their heads and clapping to the beat. When the trio performed slower numbers, they seemed to hold the audience spellbound. Lewis had command and took the people in any direction he wanted through the music.

Once in a while Lewis teased the audience as he seemed undecided as to which chord or note to play next, and had the people leaning forward at the time of the anticipated note.

In a beautiful medley from "West Side Story," the trio gave well-known songs a new interpretation. Under the master hand of Ramsey Lewis in his inimitable style, it was like hearing a new musical score, yet one warmly familiar.

Maurice White performed a rousing drum solo, accented by two numbers on the African thumb piano, which met with tremendous applause.

Other selections in the concert included "A Day in the Life of a Fool," "O Happy Day," and "By the Time I Get to Phoenix." The "In Crowd" was received with immediate applause.

After the standing ovation and the audience's insistent applause, the trio returned to perform their other big hit, "Wadin' in the Water."

Things have not always been so wonderful for Lewis though. "There have been several years of beans, bread, and crackers," Lewis said in an interview. "In 1963 things started getting better. Then in '65 there was "In Crowd," and it's been a beautiful life ever since."

Up to now, this internationally known piano stylist has four gold albums and four gold singles, and has been with White and Eaton for three years.

When asked where his particular genius lay, Lewis answered, "Me? A genius? An artist just does what he does. Other people evaluate what you do."

Has the Afro-American movement had any influence on the music of Ramsey Lewis? "Yes," he said, "for the last 35 years. The new emphasis on the black culture is only in the minds of the white people. The black people have known it all the time."

Angelicus reporter, Dancien Galazka, far right and Biscayne reporter, Charles Dabney, middle, interview Ramsey Lewis back stage during intermission.

President Speaks At Assembly

Sister M. Dorothy, president, delivered her first speech of the new semester, Wednesday, Sept. 4.

Sister recognized in her address a new, more conscientious generation of students, who realize the value of a college education.

Sister compared the modern student to the astronauts who landed on the moon this summer: "... they realized more and more their relationship and interdependence on one another and on all the people back home on earth." It is often at great sacrifice to home and family that a student attends college today, Sister stated.

Students in this century must look at life as a whole, Sister commented, and take a "clear look at tomorrow," realizing their "dependence on the past while keeping an ever steady hand for the future."

Motivation toward the final goals of a student, Sister stated, should be discovered by the individual student. "Measure your ability to the requirements of your course and pursue it to your fullest potential." Exploration should bring the student into a climate of learning that will help her to shape the values by which she will guide her life.

Governor Proclaims Independent College Month

Release: Publicity Office

Private Higher Education Month is being observed in September by proclamation of Governor Claude Kirk, Jr. The event is being sponsored by the 14 member institutions of Independent Colleges and Universities of Florida (ICUF).

The objective of the observance is to spotlight the importance to Florida taxpayers of the ICUF institutions which, this fall, will have a total enrollment of 34,055 full-time students, and operating budgets of more than $95 million.

With total assets of $283.6 million, and plant value of $207.3 million, the ICUF institutions constitute an irreplaceable asset to the state of Florida.

In the metropolitan Miami area there are four members of ICUF: Barry College, Biscayne College, Florida Memorial College, and the University of Miami.

There are a total of 2,327 full and part-time faculty in the ICUF organization. Regular volunteers, including clergy, number 5,424.

Mrs. Maryella Whipple of the Barry Publicity office has been asked to represent the ICUF during the month of September.

New Faces Seen on Campus

The new semester is already becoming routine. The library, canteen and TV lounges are familiar places, but there are many new faces on campus. Sister Helen Duggan is beginning her term as Dean of Students and Sister Linda Bevilacqua is the first Assistant Dean to Students. Almost every department has introduced new members to the faculty.

The Angelicus, with its new staff and moderator, is no different.

All of this adds up to one thing: a lot of confusion. There is only one answer to the problems that face the Barry campus in this new semester. That answer is cooperation. Hopefully, everything will run smoothly, but everyone must take her part.

Although many changes for the better have taken place this year, we still realize room for improvement.

The SGA has acted in a positive direction on the requests of the students to allow an opportunity to prove that they are adults, capable of meeting their responsibilities. The important thing here, however, is that the administration has acted on so many of the problems that the SGA has presented to them.

Suggestions made last semester by the students in the SGA sponsored "Gripe-In" have been acted upon.

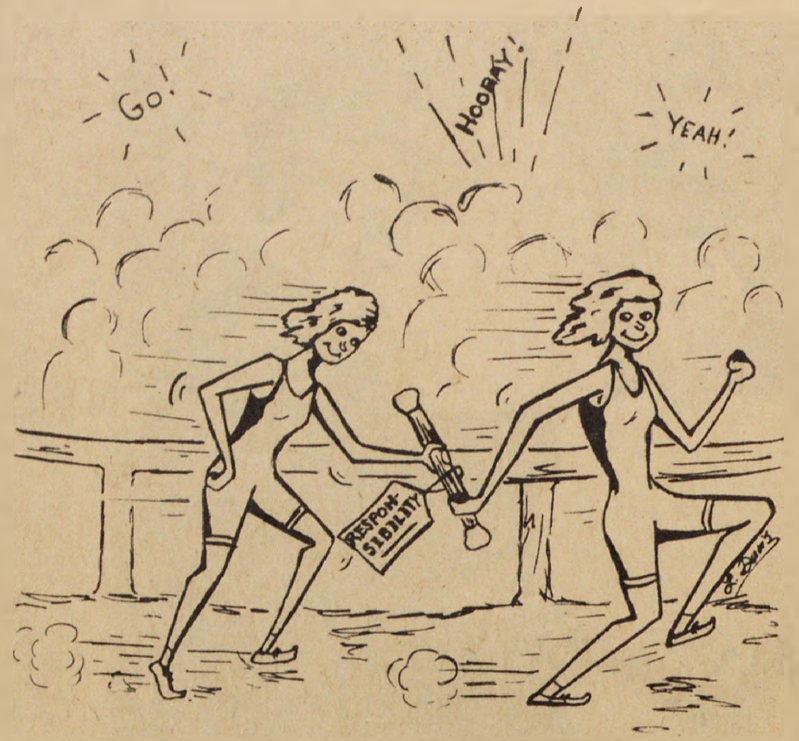

Dress regulations now permit resident students to wear shorts or slacks in the canteen and to meals on Saturday. Curfews have been changed for all classes, and the class officers have been given the choice of moderator.

SGA members have been given a vote in the Dean of Students Council.

All of these developments lead to one main goal, a harmony between a responsible student body and an understanding, responsive administration.

The Angelicus asks that students and administration remember this goal and vow to work toward it consistently.

If the Barry campus is to grow, we must not hesitate in our responsibilities.

... A race we must win.

Passing the Baton Of Responsibility

Many participants have entered the race that will bring Barry into the winners circle as a college that can effectively prepare women for the world of the future.

Relay runners have passed the baton of responsibility on to the next runner, each of whom stand ready to continue the race.

We have a new Dean of Students and for the first time in the history of the college, an Assistant Dean.

Last year's editorial board of The Angelicus has passed the baton to a new editor. Karla McGinnis, Joan Lenihan, and Margie Bettendorf will all graduate in December.

Sister Bernard Michael has passed her baton to a new moderator, Miss Sandra Edelman.

SGA has many new members this year and is working toward a responsible, enthusiastic student body. It too, in a sense is passing the baton to the students in the hope that they will do their best to carry on the efforts of their predecessors for the betterment of Barry.

It is the hope of the staff of The Angelicus that no one will fumble and drop the baton of responsibility. It might cost the race — one that we can not afford to lose.

PATRICIA PFEIFFER, Editor

Signs of Progress Open Letter From President

Signs of progress with a trend toward helping the student not only academically, but physically as well, are evident on campus this year.

We now have a full-time registered nurse available on campus. This is a definite improvement over the situation which existed last year in which several student nurses took time from classes and social life to help resident students with any kind of malady.

In addition to caring for the physical, the college has also recognized the need of treating emotional problems. A practicing psychiatrist, is now available for interviews on campus twice a week.

The college is building up all phases of campus life in the appreciation of the complications that college bring in an age that has put a man on the moon.

Dear Barry Students,

Though similar to former ones this year will naturally emerge with its own identity. The student body that gives the image will have new characteristics because of new situations and new components. Each person, the old student in the new times, the new student in new environment, each brings a unique vitality, a personality, a special being.

As one walks through Thompson Hall at change of classes or during the noon hour, you immediately wonder if there aren't lots more people around. Your suspicion is converted to fact by a report from the Registrar that enrollment is up nearly six percent. (This is in contrast to the 2.6% increase reported for college enrollments across the country.) No wonder these first weeks have been such busy ones, — orienting, registering, settling.

In spite of increased numbers and new people, there already appears a cohesiveness among you as you come together with common objectives but each with your own special desires and special needs. Students have every right to expect strength and support from the academic community as you enter into the experiences of living and learning. People, occasions and facilities are all here for your benefit. Many are involved in the total pattern that surrounds you. It is your responsibility to examine and respond as fits your personal needs.

Effort has been exerted to provide for your needs as well as could be interpreted, but this is a new year for us, too. Have we estimated rightly? Is there something missing? Our need is for your help to determine your individual needs so that we may partner with you toward fulfillment. No one can tell you what you need any more than another can tell you when you are hungry. The success of your year will be commensurate with the success of our partnership in forming a loving, living, learning community.

I know you need the completion of the Science-Language Center, the tennis courts, and added parking near Dunsbaugh. They are all behind schedule but coming. Somehow human planning can't foresee for human interferences, like strikes and things!

Have a wonderful year! Let me help when I can to make it so.

Yours faithfully,

Sister M. Dorothy Browne,
O. P.
President.

The ANGELICUS announces that due to rising costs we have agreed to limit the number of issues in the first semester to one a month.

We hope to return to our original schedule of an issue every other week beginning in January.

Accreditation Granted School of Social Work

Barry College school of social work received notification from the Council of Social Work Education for full accreditation June, 1969.

The school opened Sept. 8 with 24 first year students and 16 second year students.

Three of the students are June graduates of Barry: Diane Zlatin, Sandra Roker, and Judy Cornille.

They are the first Barry graduates to join the newly formed social work program.

The first year class is the fourth class since the school opened in 1966. Two classes have graduated with their Masters Degree in social work.

Students of the school attend classes two full days a week and work under instruction at various social agencies throughout Southern Florida.

Professor Saul Berstein, on leave from the Boston University school of social work, has been named Director of Curriculum for the academic year 1969-70.

Three prominent personalities in the field of social work are recent appointments to the Barry school of social work.

Associate Professor James F. Kennedy, DSW, is known to social workers in the South Florida area for his work as a psychiatric social worker at Jackson Memorial Institute.

Dr. Kennedy, a recent recipient of the Doctor of Social Degree from Smith College school of social work, was at one time instructor in psychiatric social work, University of Miami Medical School, field instructor, Florida State University and Assistant Professor of Case-work, Kent State University.

Professor Kennedy will teach in the Human Behavior and Methods sequences during the coming year.

Assistant Professor Michael P. Connolly, currently a DSW candidate at the University of Minnesota will assume teaching duties this year in social welfare, policy and services, and the community organization sequences.

Margaret Wishon Linn, research social worker for the Veteran's Administration Hospital, Miami, has been appointed adjunct associate professor of social work for the 1969-70 academic year, during which time she will teach in the research sequence.

Internship Reorganizes

by Pat Pfeiffer

The education department has initiated a system to reorganize the internship program.

Seniors intending to teach either on the elementary or secondary levels are working a strenuous five week internship which has been titled CORE by the education department.

The over 90 students participating in the program begin in the morning with methods courses and then at 10 a.m. they are themselves in the classroom. The transfers to Barry take a principles of testing and teaching course from 10 a.m. until noon, Mondays and Tuesdays. Other students take courses in vital forces or in curriculum, on Thursdays and Fridays.

The various groups meet between 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. and then continue to the area schools to begin tutoring on set days of the week.

The courses which extend from this semester into next semester are valued at six credit hours.

Sister Alice Joseph commented that she has not heard any complaints from the interning students who are now in their third week of tutoring.

Sister Thomas Catherine who was mainly responsible for this reorganization is presently in the hospital and Sister Alice Joseph has taken over the program until her return.

Navy Recruiters Coming On Campus In October

Promoting their branch of the service, recruiters from the United States Navy will be on campus, Oct. 2-3.

The recruiters will answer questions for all interested students in Thompson Hall. Their direct purpose, according to the Recruiting Division of the Bureau of Naval Personnel, is "to recruit the educated men and women needed to provide leadership in the Navy . . . the vast majority of educated people with the leadership potential needed for the officer programs are on campus."

They will be here to counsel and supply information about the opportunities available to students interested in military service.

The Navy recruiters do not recruit in the same manner as the commercial and industrial organizations do. To emphasize this difference, naval officers visiting campuses will shortly be called "Navy Information Teams."

Barry Host To AAUW

Barry will be host to the membership tea and workshop sponsored by the Miami branch of the American Association of University Women, Saturday, Sept. 20 at 2 p.m.

Sister Agnes Cecile, first vice president of the Miami branch AAUW, will direct the workshop, assisted by several faculty members who are also AAUW members. These are Sister Elizabeth Ann, history department; Mrs. Corinne Owens, biology department; and Mrs. Ruth Ajello, nursing department.

Several alumnae also hold membership in this voluntary service organization, commented Sister Agnes Cecile.

YR Dance Scheduled

The Barry Young Republicans are starting off the yearly activities Saturday, Sept. 27. A dance, featuring the Phlot, will be sponsored by the Y.R.'s to raise money for their treasury.

This year, the Y.R.'s hope to send some of their members to the Republican leadership training schools, and to attend the Young Republican conventions in Florida, according to Barbara Souza, Y.R. president.

November 3 and 4, the Y.R.'s are planning a mock primary election for the Florida governorship, and have a convention scheduled for later this month.

In addition, they hope to earn enough money for the activities planned during the year by holding bake sales every week.

Barbara Souza was elected to the office of state secretary during a convention held May 9 and 10 in St. Petersburg, Fla.

NTE Dates Announced

Release: Educational Testing Service

College seniors preparing to teach school may take the National Teacher Examinations on any of the four different test dates announced by Educational Testing Service, a non-profit, educational organization which prepares and administers this testing program.

New test dates are: November 8, 1969, and January 31, April 4, and July 19, 1970. The tests will be given at nearly 500 locations throughout the country, ETC said.

Results of the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers. Some colleges also require seniors preparing to teach to take the examination. Barry does not require this test for graduation, however.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice on which examinations to take and dates on which they should be taken.

Senior Class Holds Meeting

Senior class president Pam Marotta called a class get together, Thursday, Sept. 11.

Pam said the main idea of the meeting was to introduce the class moderator, Sister Francis Regis, to the girls and to introduce transfer students.

"This is a perfect opportunity for the girls to get together informally," said Pam. The time was set in the afternoon in the hopes of attracting as many day students as possible, Pam commented.

Pam stated that she hopes to have day students take an active part in the class sponsored functions.
